An Act imposing emergency license fees and charges in addition to the present license fees and charges as provided in the act approved June 30, 1919, P. L. 678, entitled "An act relating to and regulating the use and operation of motor vehicles and vehicles propelled by, or trailing after, motor vehicles; requiring the registration of the same, and the licensing of all operators thereof; providing the fees therefor, and the disposition of such fees; prohibiting the unauthorized use of, and tampering with, motor vehicles; limiting and defining the powers of cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and counties, as to the regulation of the use and equipment of motor vehicles and the taxing registration, or licensing thereof; imposing certain duties on the State Highway Commissioner, and on proprietors of public garages; providing procedure and penalties for violations thereof, regulating the service of process and proceedings in actions for damages arising from the use of any motor vehicle," as amended, for the several purposes therein named.

The SPEAKER. Are there objections?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, I would just state that this is a bill which has been prepared in the Auditor General's Department and is being introduced by request, and it has been favorably considered by the sub-committee. We have been trying to devise ways and means to meet the deficit. This is to meet the deficit for the schools, which now exists By increasing the automobile licenses fifty per cent. The proposition has been discussed in the Ways and Means Committee and is now before them, and I again ask for unanimous consent.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Committee on Public Roads, permit me to say that we have in our Committee a bill introduced by the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blair, which would very easily be amended to carry out the suggestion of this bill, and if the amendments of the gentleman will be turned over to the Chairman of the Committee, I should be very glad to get the Committee together and submit the amendments in connection with Mr. Blair's Bill. Therefore, I renew my objections, hoping that the sponsor of the bill will furnish me with the amendments that can be added to the Blair bill, the committee will be called together promptly and the amendments considered and quick action will be given on the bill, favorably or unfavorably.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee will deliver to the Chairman of the Roads Committee the amendments to the said bill with the distinct understanding that action shall be promptly taken.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, in order to put myself right with the Chairman of the Committee on Public Roads, I wish him to fairly understand that there is no discourtesy shown to him. I introduced the bill, feeling that that was the proper method of bringing this matter before the House. Whether I shall be for the bill or not when it comes before the House remains to be seen.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 12, by striking out the words "as amended" and inserting in lieu thereof "

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 8, by striking out the words "which reads" and inserting in lieu thereof "is hereby amended to read"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 704, entitled:

An Act requiring the filing of plans and specifications for buildings, public works, highways or improvements undertaken by boroughs, townships, poor districts or school districts; in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions, and requiring copies to be furnished by the secretary, architect or engineer of the municipality to applicants therefor.

On the question,

Will the House agreed to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Earley, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EARLEY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Earley, I am not opposed to this bill at all but I want to know whether you have considered the question of whether in the event of the filing of these plans and the necessity for subsequently making a change in the manner and mode of construction that the contractor engaged in the work would not possibly have difficulty in obtaining compensation for extra work because he was bound absolutely by the plans and specifications, as filed?

Mr. EARLEY. I do not think so. Do you mean would he have difficulty in getting the plans back?

Mr. STONER. No. As I understand this act, after the plans and specifications are filed as provided under the act, they are not subject to any change whatever.

Mr. EARLEY. They are subject to change, but they are not supposed to be taken away from the Clerk of the Courts by any person signing for them.

Mr. STONER. What provision have you made in the act—maybe I have missed it—regarding any changes which might be made?

Mr. EARLEY. I am not familiar with that, but probably Mr. Ludlow will explain it to you.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I, myself, interrogated the sponsor of the bill last evening about certain provisions in it, but they did not have to do with this particular point, so that I cannot answer the question. The township of the first class code has a specific provision for this sort of thing, but what the rule is as to boroughs, I cannot tell, therefore I cannot answer the interrogation of the gentleman. It is not my bill, Mr. Speaker, and I am only interested in it as Mr. Stoner and other members of the House are.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I think the bill is a good bill, if properly conceived. I am apprehensive that in view of the fact that we all know that frequently plans have to be changed, that any contractor who makes a bid may be so absolutely bound by the filing of these plans that if subsequently requested to make changes, and having put his money into the changes, he won't be able to get it back again, and unless there is some provision in the act to take care of that, it seems to me that to that extent it would be objectionable.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, it might be fair to the sponsor of the bill if there is some such defect as Mr. Stoner has urged, to have it laid over until Tuesday so that the sponsor may consult those who asked him to introduce it, and see whether that point can be covered. The point has been well taken, at the same time the bill is meritorious and if the sponsor thinks well of it, a motion to postpone until next Tuesday would be the proper thing.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. EARLEY. Mr. Speaker, in order to answer the question of Mr. Stoner, I move that House Bill No. 704, be placed upon the postponed calendar until I can get that information for him.

Mr. HETRICK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. EDMONDS.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 531, entitled:

An Act providing for the abatement of nuisances caused by the improper grading or defective paving or encroaching fences in alleys in cities of the first class for the establishment of lines and grades for and the grading paving or repaving of said alleys and the grading of private alleys hereafter laid out and for apportioning the cost and for the filing of liens therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I say a word in reference to this bill? It relates to cities of the first class alone, and provides where there is a nuisance in the alleys it shall be certified to the department of Public Works, and then the Department of Public Works may proceed to correct the nuisance, and then the Board of Health is required to make repairs. In the city of Philadelphia our Board of Health has no engineering department, and hence there seems to be a better functioning than if the authority to correct the error is given to the Department of Public Works.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC ROADS DISCHARGED FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE No. 1118.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Public Roads Committee, Mr. Williams of Tioga.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, desires to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams.

Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. I will Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WONER. I suggest to the Chairman of the Public Roads Committee that he return to the Speaker, House Bill No. 1118, in order that it may be re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Is that meant as a suggestion or a request?

Mr. WONER. I make that as a request.

Mr. WILLIAMS. That request will be granted when a majority of the Committee on Public Roads shall so instruct.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Public Roads be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 1118, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections three, nine and twenty-four of an act approved the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L. 678), entitled "An act relating to and regulating the use and operation of motor vehicles and vehicles propelled by, or trailing after motor vehicles; requiring the registration of the same, and the licensing of all operators thereof; providing the fees therefor, and the disposition of such fees; prohibiting the unauthorized use of, and tampering with, motor vehicles; limiting and defining the powers of cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and counties, as to the regulation of the use and equipment of motor vehicles, and the taxing, registration, or licensing thereof; imposing certain duties on the State Highway Commissioner, and on proprietors of public garages; providing procedure and penalties for violations thereof, and the disposition of fines collected, and regulating the service of process and proceedings in actions for damages arising from the use of any motor vehicle," as amended; changing the fees upon trucks, limiting the weight of trucks and the number of trailers

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in making this motion I have in mind btaining possession for the Ways and Means Committee of a bill which we believe logically belongs to that Committee. This afternoon I made a courteous, kindly, personal request of the Chairman of the Public Roads Committee that that bill be turned over to us without any sort of a contest. I did that because it is logically a measure for the carrying out of certain plans which have been developed by the Ways and Means Committee. The Chairman of the Public Roads Committee being averse to such action advised me that a meeting would be held this afternoon. That meeting was held, I understand, and the committee considered the amendments which I asked should be given. Such amendments were rejected and the bill was not acted upon. I submit in all fairness, whether you are for or whether you are against any proposal that will be incorporated in this bill as we proposed to amend it. That is not the consideration. We believe that you will agree with us that this House has a right to obtain possession of this proposal, which proposal is for a 50 per cent increase in the license fees of all motor cars. I repeat that it is not a question which should be with the Roads Committee; it should not be with anyone as to whether you are for or against that. It is a question of fair play; it is a question of right. I suspect that the Chairman of the Roads Committee, desiring that he in his own committee might have opportunity to squelch the proposition because he has displyed towards it personal antagonism. He has had his opportunity, and now you shall have your opportunity to determine whether or not the Ways and Means Committee shall have the opportunity to wrestle with the problem of amending this bill, and then report for your action either for or against it.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, at the close of the afternoon session the question of reporting out Bill No. 1118, introduced by the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blair, was considered. I then stated that if the amendments offered by the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, were handed to me, as Chairman of the Public Roads Committee I would call a meeting of the committee at once and we would consider these amendments. As promptly as possible, I called the committee together at 7:30 o'clock and we went over the amendments, section by section, and by a unanimous vote the Committee decided not to accept the amendments The gentleman is clearly within his rights, under the rules of the House, in moving to discharge the Committee on Public Roads from further consideration of this bill, and if, in the judgment of the House, the Committee shall be discharged from further consideration of the bill, the bill will, in accordance with the action of the House, be returned to the House. The Speaker, in his wisdom, when this bill was introduced referred it to the Committee on Public Roads, and every bill suggesting an increase in the motor license law was referred to that Committee. There are two other bills in that Committee besides this one. Possibly the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, has overlooked that fact, and his resolution shoud be that the Public Roads Committee be discharged from consideration of all such bills that they may be turned over to the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to that suggestion, I wish to remind the House that the chairman of the Public Roads Committee has confessed to you that they have acted upon that bill in the way of having rejected the amendments. Therefore, in moving the discharge of that committee, I really move simply to get out a bill they have taken final action on, and there is no discourtesy whatever to that committee.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not a member of the Ways and Means Committee, but probably if the Speaker, in referring this measure had deliberated thoroughly upon the question, the bill would have been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, where it belonged. The mere fact that by reason of an indiscretion or by reason of an oversight, a bill of the importance of this bill was referred to a committee that it should not have been referred to, is no reason in the world why that Committee should not be discharged from further consideration of this bill, or if that fails why it should not be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means for consideration. It certainly is a proper request on the part of the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and I can see no reason why a reasonable request of the Chairman of Ways and Means should not be strictly adhered to in this particular instance, and the request of the gentleman from Butler complied with.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Butler says that the admission of the chairman of the Roads Committee that it acted this evening upon the amendments shows that it has no further use for the bill. That bill at the present time is in the hands of a sub-committee, with a dozen other bills, in conference with a sub-committee of the Senate to consider the general highway program, the general highway bill known as the Williams bill, No. 1179. There are increases in that general bill of some of the license fees just as there are in the bill that the gentleman from Butler would like to get, and it seems to me that the bill should remain in the Roads Committee until such time as the conference committee is through with it.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if I were asked to select one member of this House that I admire for his courage, his honesty, his sincerity, and absolute level-headedness and fairness, I would select the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams. I see several reasons why the bill referred to should have been referred to his committee, and I say that, with due respect to the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and the chairman of every other committee in this House, if I wanted a bill thoroughly discussed, honestly discussed, and seriously considered, I would be glad to refer that bill, no matter what the question might be, to that committee. There is another reason why the bill should be referred to that committee, and that is, that ordinarily the money collected from automobiles is used for the highway program, and in that committee is largely placed the policy of the highway program. The question now before us is not whether the bill should remain in one committee or not. We all know the history of tax-raising legislation during this session of the legislature, and I say again, with due respect to the Ways and Means Committee, that it is rather a late time to suddenly discover, after three months of so-called study, with the assistance of sub-committees, with the assistance from Washington, and with assistance from wherenot and whatnot, that they should suddenly conceive at this late day that only one bill of all the bills introduced in the House is the bill they must have to bring out. But there is, on the other hand, it seems to me, a very good reason why this bill should be referred, not to the Ways and Means Committee particularly, but back to this House. It would check much newspaper criticism and much comment from all sides which has been directed against the Legislature because we have raised money—for what? The only thing I have heard is the failure to raise money for school purposes; and I say, as I have said in other session, the fault in the delay is not in the legislative department, but in another department that tells us, "I ask for no further taxation; we have sufficient; we need no more money;" and we have been led to believe from time to time that no more was needed. Now, I like every school teacher in Pennsylvania. I would like Pennsylvania to have the finest educational system in the United States, and I am for it. I love everyone of the girls that comes here to look after the interests of the school program; but I say this, that I would refuse to vote one dolar of tax, if that money was not to be used for educational purposes. I shall refuse to vote on any tax measure unless I know it is for educational purposes. On the other hand, we have to take care, better care, more decent care, real care, of the hospitals and institution for those persons who are unable to take care of themselves. In order to solve this problem all of the bills that have been introduced looking toward raising money should be referred to the Ways and Means committee, the committee which is supposed to have those bills and digest them and find means of raising money. They say, "We have studied these bills for months and months; there is one which can be revised; one which can assist, and that is in the Public Roads Committee. There is one bill we can revive, resuscitate and breathe life into, and there we will find money for all purposes." Now, I say there is no disrespect to the Publc Roads Committee. There is no man in the House who could better handle the problem than the chairman of the Public Roads Committee, and I say this most sincerely; and my colleague knows that if I had myself a question which had to be solved by a single member of the House, I would be glad to put my entire faith and salvation in him. But if the committee on Ways and Means feels that it has so far solved the problem, and the only thing needed is this bill from the Ppulic Roads Committee, in order that we may get home some time, then I say let us take the entire bill and present it to the Speaker, and if the Speaker, in his wisdom, sees fit and decides that the turning over of the bill to the Committee, with assistance or without assistance, is going to give us a panacea for all our ills and for all our troubles, let us give it to him.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. BURNS. Mr. Speaker, I believe this measure is the only one that so far has been presented that provides for the future relief of the public in the matter of a coal supply.

The bill provides for the placing of coal on the same business par, as Water, Gas and Electric.

I am the last man that wants to interfere in any way with the business man, or the business interest of the State, as there are already to much legislation affecting the business interest of the Country.

The intent of this bill was not to interfere with the Owner, Operator, Miner, Railroad, Wholesale or Retail coal dealers.

My thought in framing bill, was to eliminate the man who has no money invested in the coal conditions.

When coal passes throught 14 or 15 brokers hands before it is sold to the Retailer, it is time they should be eliminated.

People have been educated to-day in business to know, that no business can show a profit, until the overhead, is added to the actual cost of production.

The bill provides that the Public Service Commission, will have jurisdiction of the coal from the time it leaves the mines to the Consumer.

The coal situation is a vital question, and I believe this bill provides for a step in the right direction.

That the coal people have gone too far this past winter in their treatment of the Public: they crowded it too closely into a corner; the people responsible for the high price of coal, have become so bold, that it is about time, the coal industry was subject to some regulation. Shipments, quality and price effected most everyone. I find that Boston dealers were advertising anthracite coal at $15.00 a ton. Considering the additional freight bill from the mines to Boston, it looks as if the Railroads carry coal for 300 miles free of cost.

There should have been no coal shortage last winter as the coal mined, was on the average for a number of years past as to tonnage, viz:—

1909— 81 Millions.
1911— 90 "
1912— 73 "
1913— 91 "
1914— 90 "

And so on up to 1922 of 90 Millions in the State of Pennsylvania.

A great deal has been said before this House, also printed in the newspapers, about the Dry Enforcements Act, also a Daylight Saving Bill, which comes before this House in the near future, these two bills perhaps satisfy a certain per centage of the Public. This bill provides 100 per cent for the Public and I can't see why it should not have the entire support of this House, as it does not injure any one except the non-producer

The Public are looking to this body to help relieve conditions if we don't do something we are depriving the homes of warmth, on account of the lack of supply and the excessive charges.

The United States Fuel Commission acknowledges that it is unable to cope with the present coal situation. Congress has appropriated in the last two sessions, $900,000 to investigate coal conditions. Another Commission, always Commission, with no results ever to the Public.

If any Commission would only start, and investigate all those connected with the Coal Industry from the Owners down, they would place their finger upon the people responsible for all past conditions.

As I have said before I did not want to interfere with any one'e business, had I, would have introduced a bill that the National Commission reported as follows, viz:

May and June 1917, Senate reported on Anthracite and the House on Bituminous, both houses recommended, That coal and coke be conducted through a pool in the hands of a Government Agency. That coal and coke by rail and water be conducted through a pool in the hands of a Government Agency.

The cause of the rise of coal and be placed at the door of the Owners, Operators, Railroads and Brokers.

Under a will left by a doner, by which the City of Philadelphia became Trustee of the Estate, for the care and education of poor and orphaned children, and free supply of coal for the winter; this same Trusteeship is enacting the highest royalties obtainable from the operators of the Collieries owned by such Trustees of said estate.

The price of coal mined, as to the cost of production has reached an alarming rate.

The greatest amount of coal was shipped to the West and Canade by water. It is generaly known that shipping by water is 20 times less than rail. This was one cause of the shortage of coal shipped to the East. What was deliverel to the East, was by rail.

In buying coal through some brokers, the Retailers were compelled to take what was shipped in many cases the consignment consists of 33 1/3 per cent. of unburnable stuff, Consignments such as above mentioned, was sold at a loss by the Retailer.

All the trouble in the past has been put up to the Miners, when conditions warranted and in all such cases, the miners have suffered due to the fact that the Coal Industries, and others, saw fit to place the Miners in the middle and put them up to stand the criticism of the general public for the lack of coal, and exorbitant charges for same.

I cannot see any reason why any one would oppose this bill as it is well known that the $900,000 mentioned for investigation by the Federal Government is almost wasted money and that this body is in a position to take a decided step towards the relief of conditions spoken of.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCURDY.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1335, entitled:

> An Act relating to certain county officers in counties of the fifth class providing for their salaries and the compensation of deputies and clerks in the respective county offices establishing a salary board and defining its powers and duties placing certain duties on the county commissioners county controllers and county auditors requiring the payment into the respective county treasury of the fees of such county officer and providing penalties for violation of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Haas,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. MOFFATT.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 654, entitled:

An Act providing that in all cases of prosecutions for any crime or misdemeanor where the defendant has been discharged by any justice of the peace alderman burgess mayor or other committing magistrate and in all cases of summary proceedings before said officers the county shall not be liable for the costs unless the same are approved by the county controller in counties having a county controller or by the county solicitor in counties not having a county controller

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. MOFFATT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MOFFATT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, lines 8, 9 and 10 by striking out the following: "or by the county solicitor in counties having no county controller or by the solicitor in counties not having a county controller."

Amend bill, sec. 1, page 2, lines 8, 9 and 10, by striking out the following: "or by the county solicitor in all counties where there is not a county controller"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. This amendment being a strike out the bill is before the House for consideration.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Moffatt, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOFFATT. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will the gentleman state the purpose of this bill.

Mr. MOFFATT. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to provide a method for the approval of costs in cases before justice of the peace and aldermen where those officers have discharged the defendant. In some cases, the costs are paid by the county. At present under the law, there is no method provided for the approval of the payment of these costs. This bill provides a method and the requirement that before the county shall pay those costs, they shall be approved by the county comptroller. As originally introduced this bill provided for the approval either by the county controller in counties where there was a controller, and where there was no comptroller, by the county solicitor. The amendment offered this evening struck out the part providing for the approval by the county solicitor, and the bill only applies to those counties having a county controller, and provides that before the commissioners shall pay the costs in these cases that those costs must be approved by the county controller.

Mr. ALEXANDER. At the preent time where the case is heard before a magistrate or a justice of the peace and the defendant is discharged, the county pays the cost, is that not true?

Mr. MOFFAT. Yes.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This provides that before the county shall pay the costs, they shall be approved by the county controller?

Mr. MOFFATT. Yes.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Not only of the amount but as to the right to receive?

Mr. MOFFATT. Yes.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This is certainly an unfair bill. Magistrates and constables and justices of the peace are public officers. A man or woman comes before them and tells them that something has happened. They give their tale of woe and they swear out a warrant. That magistrate has no way to tell whether the man or woman is telling the truth at that time, or not until after he has heard the case. The constable of the country districts is bound to serve that warrant. When he takes the warrant perhaps he must hire an automobile to go into the country four or five or ten miles to get the defendant and arrest him. Whatever service he has done, he has done it in good faith. He comes in and a hearing is had and the justice of the peace rightfully decides that the defendant should be discharged, that there is not a prima facie case made out against him, and the defendant is discharged. He has no right under the law to place the costs on the defendant, and he has no right to place them in the prosecutor and under this bill he has to go and submit his costs to the controller to see whether or not he shall be paid. If the controller happens to have a bad morning, if he ate too much breakfast and it didn't agree with him, he is liable to say, "You cannot have anything." And the constable who has properly served his summons and warrant is compelled to do that work for nothing. The purpose of this is to save costs, but what will be the result? When a man or woman is brought before the justice of the peace or magistrate and that justice of the peace or magistrate hears the case, and there is not a prima facie case, that magistrate or justice will say, "Well, the Legislature has said that I have to take my chance now with the controller to see whether or not I shall be paid. I will take no chance, but will bind you over in $500 for court." Then, you go to court and you go before the grand jury, and that cost will be twice as much as it was originally.

Very seldom we have a magistrate or justice of the peace who is not honest in the manner or the reason for discharging him, and the county is saved the costs. It is a big saving to the county, and the magistrates and justices of the peace are honest with us and therefore we should be honest with them.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker I know that the county of York is very much interested in the passage of this bill. The question in many counties of this Commonwealth has to do with the trumped up charges that constables, unscrupulous and aldermen bring for the sole purpose of securing the cost. It is very pronounced. The county of York pays out about $15,000 a year on these discharged cases. For many years not only York county but also many other counties have been looking for a solution to the problem of trumped up cases. In other words, there should be a relief somewhere. After a most thorough consideration of the question, the bill that Mr. Moffatt has presented was agreed upon. Several years ago we established county controllers in the county for the purpose of looking out for the county funds, for the purpose of seeing that money was not paid out of the county treasury that was unjust and unwarranted. Now we believe that of all officers in the county the county controller is the man who should investigate the question of discharged cases, and if the county controller is worth his salt, he will be able to discover whether cases are merely trumped up cases or whether they have merit. The power must be reposed somewhere and a great scandal must be overcome. Where and how can you correct this situation unless you repose the power upon the public officer who is elected for that very purpose. If the county controller abuses his authority then surely we should elect another county controller, but certainly the county should have some control over the method of payment for discharged cases to see that the matter of bringing prosecutions is not the basis of a public scandal, and that is all this bill does. It places the authority where the authority belongs, and I sincerely trust that the House will pass this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker there is an answer to the gentleman's problem from York. I am very sorry that they have such a corrupt county down there. Delaware county elects all honest men, and most counties throughout the State do the same. Down in Delaware county we elect magistrates and constables and other officials that are honest. When we find a man that isn't honest we put him out and put another man in. I do not think it is right for them to ask us to pass laws particular for York county in order to save that county $15,000 a year. But you gentlemen who have honest men want to protect them just the same as you want to save money. They have their remedy, they can elect honest men to these offices, the same as you and I do, and they won't have any trouble about having the money taken. I do not like to doubt the statement of the gentleman from York, but $15,000 is a good bit of money. I certainly think that they have the remedy for this. If the man is dishonest they can remove him. Let them act on that remedy and not come here and ask us to pass laws for the purpose of remedying a condition in York because of dishonest magistrates and constables. It in not right to ask us who have honest men in office who are honestly doing their duty to pass a law against them just to help York clean up its mess.

Mr. MOFFATT. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to hear of the kind of officials that they have in Delaware county, and if that is true, and I have no doubt it is, because Mr. Alexander says it is, they don't need to be afraid of this bill at all, it won't hurt them. This bill is intended to stop the abuse where officials are unscrupulous in bringing cases and receiving information without proper consideration, and then discharging them and collecting the costs. For instance, on an information for stealing a fountain pen worth one dollar there was a bill of cost of fourteen or fifteen dollars, as stated in a letter on my desk of a case occuring in one of the counties of this state. Thousands of dollars are taken every year illegally in the counties for this kind of business. There isn't any question of the abuse which this bill is intended to reach, and it must be reached in some way. The county commissioner's association have tried to reach it through this bill. The right of approval of these costs is put with the proper officer of the county, and if this bill is passed it won't hurt a single honest official or justice of the peace, or constable, but will prevent the abuse that has existed in Pennsylvania too long.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Moffatt, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOFFATT. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RHODES. You say that the controller or the solicitor is to determine whether or not the defendant is properly or improperly discharged?

Mr. MOFFATT. That is a question on which the controller would have to be a ministerial officer to some extent, but he could reach the abuse by acting to some extent in an arbitary manner.

Mr. RHODES. In order for the controller or solicitor to act intelligently, he would be obliged to hear the testimony before the justice of the peace or alderman.

Mr. MOFFATT. I do not believe he would, but if such a check was introduced he would not be required to pass on cases to any great extent. This would put a conscience into the justice of the peace to a large extent.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, it may be absolutely true that there are many unscrupulous aldermen and justices of the peace who return cases that should not be returned, in fact there are many men of that type who receive cases that never should be received, but there is more in this than just merely the fact of saving dollars for the counties. It seems to me that the defendants in these cases are to be considered more than the county's dollars. In my opinion more cases come into court at the present time than should ever reach the court, but if you eliminate the right of the alderman or justice of the peace to discharge these cases, you will have the courts clogged more than they are to-day, because these men will hesitate to discharge a prisoner and they wll bind the man over to court, and the defendant must go into court and defend himself. If he is acquitted, or in case the grand jury ignores the bill, the county has a bill for forty or fifty dollars instead of ten dollars. Therefore I would always oppose this kind of a bill.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Moffatt, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOFFATT. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Will you tell me of what use the justice of the peace is going to be if the controller is to have the say of whether or not the defendant is rightly discharged?

Mr. MOFFATT. Yes, I will tell you. He is to use his judgment in receiving cases, and he is to quit receiving cases or going out and getting the defendant in that case to bring a prosecution against the prosecutor in the other case and having cross suits so that he can get the costs in two cases. He is to exercise some degree of discretion in receiving cases and is to make some investigation of the case and see that the information is properly brought before he receives it.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Would you say it is proper for a justice of the peace to ask the controller whether or not it is proper to take a case?

Mr. MOFFATT. Absolutely not, he should use his judgment, and if he does that honestly and fairly the controller will treat him fairly.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Don't you know that under this act as you have it drawn, that the justice of the peace could mandamus the controller and compel him to pay the money, according to your bill?

Mr. MOFFATT. I am not sure of that.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. You read your act and you will see that it is so.

Vol. 7. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1923. No. 46.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1923.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. T. L. Eyre) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Acting Chaplain, Rev. Robert Bagnell, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most merciful God, unto whom all hearts are open and all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit that we may perfectly love Thee and worthily magnify Thy holy name. We thank Thee for Thy mercy and loving kindness; we thank Thee for the opportunity that is ours, that the men who lived and labored before have made possible our day. They have bequeathed to us great responsibilities, they have bequeathed great opportunities. We are weak and in our own strength are unable to measure up. Grant, O God, our Father, to help us to see things through the long perspective, help us to get the point of view of Calvary and Sinai, and help us to realize that God Almighty is profoundly interested in what we are undertaking to do. Bless this Legislative body, this body of men, bless the other House, bless our Governor, bless our State, help us to be a people whose God is the Lord. We ask in Jesus name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this is the pension bill. When the bill was drawn the error was committed of lining up the Judges with the janitors and the judges have now been deleted in the bill. The bill was drawn originally by a young man, Mr. Gordon, who is now serving a thirty days sentence in the Jefferson County jail for contempt of court, not on account of this bill but because he would not testify against his client. That is by the way, but rather interesting. Young Mr. Gordon was consulted for the actuary features of this bill and also the man who helped to draw the Teachers Retirement Bill, Mr. Paul Studenski. We have had also the thoughts of Mr. Baker, our distinguished Secretary of the Senate and Dr. Baish and Mr. Forster, the Actuary of the Insurance Department. Finally one judge was overlooked and was discovered day before yesterday by my distinguished colleague, Senator Norton, and therefore the judges are completely deleted in this bill. It is a pension bill on actuary principles, which I do not personally understand. I know there was a mistake made which would give a man more money if he retired at 52 or 62, but that has been corrected also. The cost to the state no one can tell. There are only seventy employees on the pension roll and there are only five thousand employees to be pensioned some day, and therefore I think certainly it would save money to the State.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, whether the bill includes members of the Legisature?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, unfortunately, it does not.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I did not under stand what the Senator said in connection with the judges. Did he say they were eliminated? What I would like to know is whether the bill as it is now written included the judges of the state, or whether it does not include the judges.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the judges are not included in this pension bill.

Mr. WEAVER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WEAVER. Mr. President, I cannot understand the Senator's reference to somebody who is in jail in connection with this bill; what has that to do with this bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it has nothing to do with the bill, but Mr. Gordon is a Yale friend of mine. I think he is in jail unjustly and I wanted to say so.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

RESOLUTION TO INVESTIGATE AFFAIRS OF STATE TREASURER UNDER ADMINISTRATION OF HARMON M. KEPHART.

Mr. RHODES offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, April 25, 1923.

Whereas, The administration of the public funds in the custody of Harmon M. Kephart, a former State Treasurer, has been subject to criticism, investigation and suspicion, which culminated in the prosecution of the former treasurer, and

Whereas, The said investigation instituted by the Auditor General was limited in its scope by act of assembly, and

Whereas, The publicity attending the said accusations and prosecution has awakened in the people of this Commonwealth a keen desire to know all the facts concerning the affairs of the State Treasury under the administration of the said Harmon M. Kephart, and

Whereas, The aforesaid prosecution of the former State treasurer has ended by a plea of nolle contendere on the part of the defendant, and in consequence thereof, the facts have not been disclosed to the public, and

Whereas, The former State Treasurer regardless of his pleas to the indictments has been retained in an important official position, now therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That a commission is hereby created, consisting of four Senators to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker thereof, to make a full investigation of the affairs of the State treasury under the administration of State treasurer, Harmon M. Kephart:

Resolved, That the commission shall organize by the election of a chairman and secretary. If any person shall refuse or neglect to obey such subpoena of the said court he or she shall be guilty of a contempt and shall be punished accordingly. The commission shall make a report from time to time to the Attorney General, and a full report of its findings to the General Assembly of 1925 and shall set forth its recommendations with regard to any action that it suggests be taken; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this resolution.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, before any ruling is made on this resolution I desire to raise a point of order. A resolution was adopted by this House that no bill be introduced after a certain date, that date having already passed. This resolution carrying an appropriation is in its very nature the same as a bill; it would necessarily have to be referred to the Appropriation Committee. I therefore, raise the point of order that this resolution cannot be introduced without unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the resolution adopted by this House was intended to cover bills, and joint resolutions which take the course of a bill, the Chair rules, therefore, that he point of order is not well taken.

Whereupon a division was called for, and 52 members having voted in the affirmative, and 75 in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the amendments are concurred in.

Ordered, that the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SPECIAL ORDER.

THE SPEAKER. The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, the Speaker lays before the House the special order of the day at this time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1141, (Senate Bill No. 217), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the thirteenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (Pamphlet Laws twenty-one) entitled "An act for the establishment of a uniform standard of time throughout the Commonwealth" prohibiting the adoption of other standards of time

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is no question in my mind but that the provisions, as set forth in the bill under consideration are thoroughly understood by all of us, therefore to my mind there can be no reason why debate should be carried on to any great length. However, I feel that some explanation is due the House, but personally I shall be brief.

I believe we all understand the meaning of, and the reasons for what we know as Standard Time. If we should set aside all considerations of the effect of daylight saving on agriculture and the economic results that in the end are sure to be detrimental to the consumer of food products, we must agree that to be workable in the truest sense of the word, daylight saving should be national in its scope. It should be the result of an act of Congress. It would then apply equally on all railway systems, to all financial institutions, postal service, etc. But the history of daylight saving shows that after being tried as a national proposition it was given up. As a war measure, it first appeared in this country in 1918. It became effective by President Wilson's signature on the congressional bill on March 31st of that year, It again became operative in 1919, upon a general order issued by the Director General of the Railroads. In this same year an act for its repeal was passed by both Houses and vetoed by the President, but was promptly passed over his veto. This ended the federal government's connection with this question.

To continue to put into operation the so-called daylight saving practise very decidedly hampers the greatest and most important industry in our state and nation—agriculture— an occupation that (generally speaking) does not yield high profits, and that is not only necessary but indispensable to the welfare of our people. The farmers of Pennsylvania are an intelligent, industrious class of people engaged in the production of the food supply for the people of all other occupations, and to press this daylight saving fad will add to the thousands of abandoned farms in Pennsylvania and with the shortage of farm labor (now above 20% of that required for normal operations of farms) will certainly add to the economic problem confronting agriculture and will make the full dinner pail and the family table more costly than will be comfortable to bear.

There is no question but that the proposed advancing of the clock one hour is particularly disadvantageous to the health of children. Traveling men, railroad workers, street car workers, and especially those classes who actually toil such as Iron and Steel Mill workers, are generally opposed to it. The adoption of daylight saving in the larger cities is a distinct disadvantage to the smaller cities and suburban towns, unless they, too, adopt the plan. This is especially noticeable under the present banking system. Transportation also enters into the question here.

We have no fault to find with the establishments who can well adopt summer schedules for opening and closing business hours, doing so. We have no objections to record against the time people arise, when they start to work, or when they quit, but we firmly believe that personal convenience for any particular class should not enter into a matter that is detrimental to the welfare of the people as a whole. Therefore, I ask you members of the House to see to it that the lawful time for Pennsylvania shall be the United States Standard Time.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, there is much that my friend from Bucks has said with which personally, I can agree, and I can certainly assent to his opening statement that this question is clearly understood by every member of the House, and therefore, long speeches ought not to be made. There is, however, a change in the attitude of the proponents of this bill, as compared with their attitude two years ago, to which I want to call your attention.

Two years ago, at the request of the American Philosophical Society, I introduced a bill establishing State-wide daylight saving. It is debated and argued most earnestly in this House and was defeated by a two to one vote, and the majority who defeated it at that time said that the vice of that bill was that it forced upon people who didn't want daylight saving,, it forced it upon them by State law. Now, they have completely reversed their decision and they have proposed for your consideration a bill that takes away daylight saving from those that want daylight saving. Now, I submit ladies and gentlemen of the House, is that a fair course for legislation to take? We have an act of Assembly that establishes standard time; we have various localities that have made adjustments with reference to standard time, particularly in the summer season. We have now, a bill which has in it this proviso: "Provided that no county, city, borough, town, township or other municipal sub-division of the Commonwealth shall, by ordinance, resolution or rule adopt a different standard of time for any year or any portion of a year." That means that by adopting this bill we are taking away from the localities the right to settle this question for themselves. Now, I submit that in this session of the House we have had a great deal of discussion on municipal home rule. At the last election the people in this State passed a municipal home rule bill, amending the Constitution and various legislation has been introduced at this session tending to make it effective, the whole idea being that on local questions the people of these localities shall be given a chance to decide. Now, we have this bill coming along. It relates to a question that doesn't concern itself with the legal organization of the State at all. It concerns itself with the habits and the customs of people in a locality. It is fair for one part of the State to say to another part of tthe State, "you sha'n't do this thing you want to do." Now, I put my argument simply and solely upon that ground, because it seems to me that this proposed legislation is vicious from that point of view. It interferes with local freedom; it interferes with municipal home rule, and it takes the argument that was used against daylight saving two years ago, and now makes use of that argument as a weapon to enforce upon people in the localities certain things that they don't like. I submit that from that point of view this bill ought to be defeated.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, in reply to the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia as to home rule, I wish to say that this is no more a question for home rule than is the question of prohibition for home rule. The gentleman from Philadelphia would not stand up here today and say that if the people of Philadelphia don't want prohibition, they should not be obliged to accept it, and I submit to you that the only kind of daylight saving, if there is any justification for daylight saving whatever, then the only kind of daylight saving justifiable is national daylight saving. One hundred years ago our industrial and economic life was such that we in the rural districts were practically separate and apart from the life of the people in the big cities. But we all know that during the last one hundred years our industrial and economic life has become such that it has become impossible to separate the rural sections from the big municipality. We are so interwoven at the present time that we cannot have one kind of time for the rural districts and another kind for the cities, unless we want a great amount of confusion. Now, when this proposition was first brought up it was a national proposition, it was one of the fads that came to us during the war. During the war the people submitted to it out of patriotic motives, but as soon as the war was over this proposition was repealed by our National Congress. By the very fact that the proponents of daylight saving went into the halls of Congress and asked for this legislation, they admitted that it was a proper subject and a proper proposition for federal legislation. But once they were defeated in the federal halls of congress, they said, "No, it is no longer a federal proposition, we are going to make it a state-wide proposition." And they came here two years ago, into this Legislature, and said, "We want state-wide daylight saving." Now between the two of them, state-wide daylight saving was much worse than national daylight saving, because of the condition I explained a few moments ago, because it is simply impossible, under the present complicated and complex condition of our industrial and economic life to separate the two, but after all, it was defeated here in this House two years ago by a two to one vote, but after the proponents of this measure on daylight saving were defeated here, they again played the game in the same way, and they said, "No, it is not a state-wide proposition, it ought to be a local proposition." Now, I submit to you that of the three forms of daylight saving, national, state-wide and local, by far the worst is local daylight saving because of the natural confusion which follows local legislation of this character. Now I believe, as much as any man in this House, in home rule. I believe in local legislation whenever and wherever such local legislation does not interfere with the people beyond the confines of that particular locality that demands home rule and that demands local legislation, but what has been the effect of your local daylight saving? I remember two years ago, I was one of a committee of the Berks County Grange that appeared before the City Council of Reading to protest against the passage of daylight saving. The Council being from the city, said, "Well, we must listen to the sentiment in the city," and they did; and they passed the daylight saving ordinance. But last fall, at the November elections, a referendum was held in Berks County and the result of that referendum was that in the rural districts the vote was about five to one against daylight saving. And even in the city of Reading, where they claim that there was such a strong, overwhelming demand for daylight saving, why, the referendum was two thousand against it, and I submit to you, don't fool yourself. If a referendum were held today in Philadelphia, or if a referendum were held in Pittsburgh, I believe that the results would be somewhat similar to the results in the city of Reading. It so happened that that particular class that wanted daylight saving made themselves felt; they made their influence felt in the halls of the city council, and our city council were deluded into the idea that there was a general and an overwhelming demand for this sort of legislation. But when the question was really enacted and actually submitted by a referendum to the people of that city, the working men and the working women in the city of Reading came to the polls and defeated it by a majority of two thousand agaist it, in spite of the belief of our city fathers that they actually wanted it. Now, why were they against it? I have spoken to a good many of them; I worked under daylight saving last summer; I was an inspector in one of the foundries, inspecting castings, and I, myself, worked under daylight saving; and I worked with hundred of men who, also, were working, the same as I, under daylight saving. And this is the effect of it: They are not in favor of it and they are hot in favor of it for this reason: Nearly ninety out of one hundred will not go to bed any earlier than they will under standard time, but they have to get up earlier in the morning, and the result it that they lose a good hour's sleep. Now, you come here from cities and you say this is a welfare measure, we want to look after the health and the welfare of our children and the welfare of our workers, but I submit to you that if your workers and if your children and if your people in the congested sections of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh need anything, why they need their good night's sleep and their good night's rest. Now, what is the effect of it down at Reading? When they should have gone to bed their room was hot, they couldn't sleep—it doesn't cool off much before midnight in the summer time in the large cities, naturally; the brick walls of the buildings are heated up in the day time and they can't sleep much before midnight. Now, amid the wee hours of the morning, the time when they get their real rest, and the time when they recuperate for the next day's work, why, that is just the time that they have to get out of bed.

Now, how does it affect the farmer? I represent a big dairy section. The East Penn Valley, which I have the honor to represent, is one of the biggest dairy sections in Eastern Pennsylvania. The effect of this daylight saving legislation has been this: While we have not had it in Berks County, just as soon as Philadelphia adopted daylight saving the railroad companies changed their time tables. They gave no consideration to the rural sections. They took their time tables and in blended form they advanced them just one hour. Now, how does that work out? In the rural districts, at the present time, the milk trains, which also carry the commuters, pass through my dairy section at six o'clock in the morning. You all know that farm help is scarce, that the farmer cannot get the help that he should have, and that he needs. Now, then, that means that he must get up at four o'clock in the morning, because the days are from an hour to an hour and a half longer, and that alone, to look after his dairy herd and to get his milk ready for market, and by the time he gets to the station he will have to get up at four o'clock in the morning. Now, if you fail to pass this bill against local daylight saving, if you again advance the time of the trains one hour it will mean that our farmers will have to get up at three o'clock in the morning Now I submit to you I would like to see the gentlemen from Philadelphia Mr. Edmonds take a pail in the morning get up at three o'clock in the morning and enter the cow stable and tramp around there in the cow stable and then let the gentleman from Philadelphia—I can imagine in my mind's eye the gentleman from Philadelphia getting up at three o'clock in the morning and putting on his milking apron and taking his pail and going out and rousing up the old cow I can see him milk there for one hour or an hour and a half and then I see him do that day after day for two months and at the end of two months he will be ready and willing to come back here into the hall of the House here in Harrisburg and say "away with daylight saving we will have no more of it" Now friends there is a very serious proposition connected with this We all know that here in Pennsylvania we have for years and years catered to the big manufacturing interests and to the big business interests I think there is no general denial of that statement The result is that the manufacturers and the business men can pay wages today that are up and above and way beyond anything that the farmer can afford to pay when he is getting $1.00 or $1.25 a bushel for his wheat. Now the result is that our help is draining away from the farm and it is draining to the large cities Now you pass daylight saving legislation in Philadelphia and you are creating a condition where it is almost impossible to retain any hired help on the farm Where is the young man today or where is the young women in Pennsylvania that is willing to go on the farm and get up at three o'clock in the morning every morning and enter into the barn into the milk stable when he or she can get employment in the big city at wages that are twice as high and when he or she can get working conditions of eight nine or ten hours a day where on the farm they are compelled to work ten twelve thirteen and fourteen hours a day during the summer months The result is that if you pass this kind of legislation you are still further going to hamper the farmer and you are going to drive away the hired help You have already crippled the farm situation to some extent that today more than four thousand farms in this great Commonwealth have been deserted How are you going to keep that situation How are you going to keep that class of legislation until you have taken the last farmer off the farm and into the confines of your big cities I submit to you ladies and gentlemen of this House that there is a serious aspect about this matter We must try as we have preached—our best men in the cities have preached our college professors down at the University of Pennsylvania and at the University of Pittsburgh and everywhere else have been preaching to us for years "back to the farm." They are urging "back to the farm" movements and while they are preaching "back to the farm" you come here and you pass legislation year after year that is just the very opposite of what you are preaching and what the college professors are preaching to us from the cities Now I submit to you ladies and gentlemen that this is a proposition where somebody must yield I realize that there are some people in the city of Philadelphia a good many of them and there are a good many in the city of Pittsburg and in other cities that would like to have this daylight saving but I submit to you that we must have one or the other If you have local daylight saving that means that Philadelphia and Pittsburg are going to dictate to the entire State what the time shall be There is no getting away from it if you pass this local daylight saving legislation the railroad companies will again advance their time tables and we from the rural districts will have to whether we want to or not And for that reason I say it is not a fit and proper subject for local legislation I again say to you as before that this is a question for national legislation It is not a local question and it cannot and should not be made a local question because of the confusion which has resulted from it And then I also submit for your serious consideration that the time is here when we have to quit passing legislation here in this House and in the Senate that still further hampers and cripples the agricultural interests of Pennsylvania Before you cast your vote on this measure today I want you to think of the warning which several hundred yars ago Oliver Goldsmith gave to the wealth class of England when he said

> Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
> Where wealth accumulates and men decay,
> Princes and lords may flourish, or fade,
> A breath can make them, as a breath has made;
> But if old peasantry, the country's pride
> Be once destroyed, can never be supplied.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can readily see our friend from Philadelphia walking out with his milk pail and looking to the east and saying, "Here comes the King of Day and rejoicing in its coming." I can appreciate that not one word I can say will change one vote because I also appreciate that every member of this House has convictions so far as his or her, constituents are concerned and I know that you members will vote according to your convictions but like Abraham Lincoln once said, I may not win, I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed but I am bound to serve in the light that God has given. I will stand with a friend so long as he stands right, but I will part with him when he goes wrong. May I ask the members of this House to go one step further than Lincoln. Do not part from your friend when he goes wrong, but steer him right when he goes wrong. There are only two questions here, inconvenience on one side and humanity on the other side. Those are the only two questions. Far be it from me not to have the highest regard for our farmers, but this is a question of inconvenience on one side, and on the other side our men and women, boys and girls, on the other side humanity, one of the greatest shadows of our God in this wicked earth, that is what humanity is. I stood on the floor of this House and introduced four bills, all humanity bills. When this bill cames up I wrote a letter to every department store in Pittsburg, to the Carnegie Steel Company, the Pennsylvania Chocolate Company to take a straw vote of the employes on the question of daylight saving. Ninety-eight percent of them over 40,000 employes wanted daylight saving. Why do they want it? Every one of these men and women, girls and boys, in department stores work under artificial light. You go into one of these stores and you buy a suit of clothes, but you don't know what it looks like. What do you do? You take it over to the window and you look at it to get the right color. They work there from 8:30 to 5:30. Just think what that hour means, now, that is, from the humanitarian standpoint. And, as Mr. Woner said yesterday, light is a purifier to the soul. It is better to get up early in the morning. In the winter time, it is hard to get up, and you don't like to get up, but in the summer time, don't you get awake earlier. In the morning, when the old king of day comes around? Yes, you do, and you like to get up. You don't mind getting up. Now, from the financial standpoint: New York has daylight saving. You go into your bank at five minutes after two to send a draft to New York for $100,000. What is the reply? "Can't do it; it is closed." Am I right? Am I right? Now members of the House, I don't want you men and women to vote contrary to your statements, but if you do, can't you give them an answer? You come in from Butler or Beaver or any other county, into the city of Pittsburgh—and it has been said here in the committee at the public hearing, "Why, we can change our time and they can open up whenever they please." suppose you come in from Beaver and you go in to Kauffman's and you want to buy five hundred dollars worth of goods, and you give your check, and Kauffmans open at 7:30 and the banks don't open until 9:00, you will have to wait until 9:00 o'clock to take your goods with you, because they will want to telephone your bank to see whether it is good or not. Men and women, I say to you right here that if you could go into those department stores and see those young girls and young boys in that artificial light, working there all day long, you would allow them to start work one hour earlier in the morning and let them out one hour earlier in the evening. There are two periods of time during the day, two hours, between 12:00 to 1:00 and between 4:00 to 5:00—am I right or not?—that are the hottest of the day. Men and members, I ask you to vote this bill down.

Mr. SCHOENER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, last evening I had the pleasure of visiting one of our country's greatest economists from Philadelphia. He divided the people of this country into three parts, one-third are those who follow after cultural pursuits and one-third of the people are engaged in industrial pursuits, and the other one-third he said are people who follow some sort of business and are exploiters of society. Now, it often happens that the one-third who exploit society have made an attempt to dictate what the other two-thirds are to do. I feel that we have no right to do that. In my county alone, which is an agricultural county and has very little forest land, this year there are going to be seven thousand acres of formerly cultivated land idle. In other words, it means that there are over one hundred farms, and good farms, are going to remain idle and not be worked this year. Now, we know it takes quite some time to develop a good farmer, It takes from two to four years to develop a tradesman. But it takes many years to develop, from practical experience, to develop a good farmer. Last year, over four hundred practical farmers in Berks County quit their jobs and went into some industrial work. Now, that means a great deal and I feel that we should pass no legislation or that we should allow no legislation to be passed that would hamper this group of faithful men, upon whose industry the welfare of the country largely depends. Now, it has been said that the industrial people wanted it. But my colleague, Mr. Sarig, told you that in the city of Reading a poll was taken last fall and it was overwhelmingly defeated, which goes to show that it seems the city people, even the laboring families in the city don't want it. Now, the city of Reading is similar to most of the cities of Pennsylvania. It contains over 100,000 people.

Now, as to the milk trains that have been mentioned, I wish to add this, that when those men have to get up and when they have to put their hired men on the job so early in the morning, it means that they will have to pass two or three hours where they have no real work for those men to do afterwards. You know, there is dew on the ground, and you can't send those men out to put away the crop until the dew has evaporated. Now, then, in the late afternoon, when the whistles begin to blow in the nearby towns and we have this daylight saving and the men begin to quit work there, you have your hired man becoming dissatisfied and he will either quit or his morale will be so impared that he will not render his employer the proper efficiency. I feel, ladies and gentlemen of the House, that we should not take advantage of those men who are tillers of the soil and those men who are engaged in industrial pursuits, the other two-thirds of our country just in order to suit ourselves.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would indeed be a poor sponsor for home rule if I did not get up at this time and say a few words. I would also be a very poor representative of the greatest industrial district represented in this body if I should not say something. I also represent a town where, in the days of long ago, the courts sat and dispensed justice to the common people, and I appear before you now, asking only justice to the workers of our great industries in this State. I want to say in reply to something said by one of the distinguished gentlemen from Berks that, long before the war, the foreign countries had daylight saving. I also wqant to say that one of the gentlemen from Berks spoke about my colleague from Philadelphia getting up, or not getting up at three o'clock in the morning. I want to say in that connection that for many years I got up at three o'clock in the morning and I made from sixteen to eighteen hours a day, but I was a good deal like the farmer, I made that only in six months of the year. When I was listening to one of the two distinguished gentlemen from Berks, both of whom are, or were teachers, it took me back to my high school days, when one of my teachers in the high school said that I should believe nothing that I heard and only half of what I saw. In regard to this daylight saving, the desire of communities to have daylight saving is merely an attempt to give to the city worker and the suburban dweller in rural communities the same vacation by giving him a chance to enjoy the twilight amusements out of doors that the farmer has for six months in the year. In other words, the present daylight saving system may be called tre workers sumer vacation bill; because, by giving him two to three hours of sunlight after his work is done, it enables him to get out of doors for those two or three hours and get a chance to enjoy God's fresh air in the open and in that way, get rested from the daily grind which he is forced to undergo. This same vacation the farmer gets for six months in the year. After the fall crops are harvested the farmer hasn't much to do. He hunts, enjoys himself, and if any of you have been to Florida, you know as well as I do that down there there are a great number of farmers who are enjoying the southern sunshine while the oldest boy or the son-in-law is home tending to the chores. The farmer would resent any attempt of any city dweller to take from him his hours for hunting or other amusements which nature and his work have afforded him during the winter months. Therefore, the city worker and the people who dwell in the cities and suburbs have the right to resent the attempt of the farmers to interfere with the hours of leisure which the increased sunlight gives them. This act is an attempt to upset the doctrine of home rule, because it is a cardinal principle of home rule that cities should have the right to make all laws touching the immediate government of their inhabitants, without interference of any general legislative body. It necessarily follows that, as the chief reason for city government is for the betterment of the health conditions of our municipalities, cities should not be interfered with in passing health legislation. Nothing in recent years has so increased the general health of municipalities throughout this land as daylight saving, which gets you out into the open during the day. Furthermore, to pass this act would deny the right of the man who lives in the suburbs to have a garden, and thus in his small way cut down the high cost of living. This bill is an attempt to further place on the community the restrictions on their rights and normal desires to have pleasure, which is the answer to all sumptuary legislation; and it is, therefore, sumptuary legislation in its worst form, because all such legislation, up to the present time, has been passed in an attempt to curb the vicious and intemperate habits of the community. Yet this sumptuary legislation is an act to curb and deny the desires, aims, and ambitions of the people of the great municipalities of this State to enjoy health, and thus it defeats the very purpose of municipal government, that is, to increase the health and well being of the community.

And now, just one word to the hundred and seven members who did not agree with me some few weeks ago. You all know that the saloon has been going out of style for a very, very long while. You all know that in the days of long ago, and not so awfully long ago at that, the saloon was the social club, if you please, of the toiler and of the worker. He went there to spend his evenings, and maybe he spent more money than he should of, but he went there to hear the news of the neighborhood and to pass the evening. The saloon has gone; where is the worker to go? What is he to do now for amusement? In the cities we have the ball club on all the sandlots and the workers, the toilers, can go there if we have daylight saving, see his boy or some relation of his playing ball and enjoying the outdoors; or, if he has saved his money, as a good many of them are doing now, he can buy a flivver, and go out and enjoy some of the wonderful country which our dear friends on the other side spoke so much about. Therefore, as this bill is ante-home rule and ante-health legislation, I ask you to vote it down.

Miss GRIMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am in favor of this bill because of the fact that it does two things. One of the reasons I am in favor of it is that I am opposed to anything that assails established institutions, and this I believe it does. In 1887, the scientists from all over the world met in Washington and established a national and international time on the meridian of Washington and on the meridian of Greenwich. This is one of the early instances of standardizing things resulting in the facilitating of business, steamship travel and railway travel, and brought us into closer contact with the entire world. I believe that any attempt, such as daylight saving, to break down the standardization of an international thing as time leads to disorder and disregard for law and is an aid to the prevalent feeling and disposition to disregard law everywhere. So that is one of the reasons why I believe daylight saving is a bad thing. On its economic side I believe that I am opposed to anything that places upon the farmer an additional burden because we people in the city owe our daily bread, the bread we eat every day, to the farmer. The attitude of the city in insisting that what the cities do does not concern the people out in the country is a narrow and selfish attitude, because the people out on the farms feed the people in the city. Where did you get the milk that you drank this morning? I suppose you think it came out of the milk bottle, which it did, of course, but the miracle of the distribution of milk from the cow to your doorstep every day in the year is one of the miracles of modern efficiency, scientific management and co-operation between the distributor in the city and the farmer out on the farm. Everything that imposes any additional burden upon the farmer in getting his commodities to the city has a bad effect on the people in the city and the farmer as well. Congestion in the cities is one of our major national problems, the trend of the people from the farms into the cities. How to get people back on the farms, is a question that has disturbed sociologists and economists all over the world. We people in the cities, and I live in a city district, should recognize that the problem of the farm is the problem of the city, if the people on the farms keep on coming into the cities we are all going to starve to death. Scientists today claim that is the reason for the fall of the Roman Empire, the crowding of the people into the cities was the reason for the Roman fall, and we surely ought to take a lesson from that great catastrophe of history. Linked up with the problem of the cities is the tenantry of farms. The farmer boy will not stay upon the farm. A large proportion of our farming districts in this country are being taken over by tenants. Not very long ago in a meeting in Pittsburgh, a man, a farmer, got up in the meeting and said, "I cannot keep my boys on the farm. I had three sons, they were all good farmers. I thought I could keep the last boy there, and I made all kinds of rules and all kinds of arrangements for his advantage, but he has left me and gone to the city. I am old, and I am going to have to give over my farm to a tenant and I will have to go into the city and live in the city." For every farmer who goes into the city there is one more person to feed, and one less out on the farm to produce. I claim that we people who live in the city are selfish and narrow and wicked if we fly in the face of our meal ticket, and it is what we are doing if we insist on something which makes it hard for the farmers. The mothers in my district complain about this daylight saving because of the trouble they have in getting their children to go to bed in the evening. In my town we have a curfew, but we do not ring the curfew in the summer, it is disregarded, because the children simply will not go in. The mothers throughout the state, I think, are opposed to daylight saving. Many of the people who work in the mills are not in favor of this. They get up an hour earlier in the morning, and they gain no advantage particularly because the hour they lose in the morning is not made up in the afternoon. However, I am very much in favor of this extra hour for myself. I love daylight for tennis and tramps and I expect to have a front seat in many a boxing bout this summer, if my friend Mr. McBride gives me a pass to these boxing bouts. Personally, I like daylight saving, but what is a pleasure to me I am willing to forego if it means hardship to the people who furnish me with my daily bread.

Mrs. PITTS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I regret very much that I cannot agree with my colleague, Miss Grimes of Allegheny, but in voicing my opposition to the bill under discussion, may I just say a few words in answer to the allegation that has been made, that this bill if not passed and daylight saving is put into effect, that it will affect the sleep of the babies and children and for that reason the women of the State are in favor of the bill.

I represent a district of over a hundred thousand assessed voters and I can fairly say that as far as the women of my district are concerned that no such objection has been made by them but that they are instead opposed to this bill.

They know from experience daylight saving would give the children a longer day to enjoy the sunshine and play, which elements are only conducive to good health and in no way effect the health of the children, as the proponents of this bill would have us believe.

For that reason I am opposed to the passage of this bill and in so doing feel that I sense the desire and wishes of the majority of the women of my district.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I am inclined to differ a little with both the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Haines, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds. They tell you that they believe the House thoroughly understands the bill. I am going to say to you that I don't believe they do. If they did there would be no necessity for this bill being here. Now members of the House, I want to say to you that it is not a pleasure for me to stand here and oppose anything that Philadelphia or any of the other cities may think they want, and I recognize the fact that where the opportunity offers for our people that do not rise early in the morning it extends a greater opportunity to them to have pleasure; but what are we going to do with the man or woman who goes to work at seven o'clock in the morning and works ten hours in the day? Now, as a great majority of the people are people engaged in that walk of life, I believe we should try to legislate to do the greatest good for the greatest number of people. It has been rumored through the columns of the papers that there is some sort of a farm bloc here to prevent daylight saving. As a farmer I want to assure you that there is nothing of the kind. I want to say to you frankly and I am not here to deceive you that no one can afford to vote for daylight saving better than the farmer

But I want to say to you, when he does it, he does it from a selfish standpoint. He does it for dollars and not for the good of the people. True, under daylight saving, you will decrease production. True under daylight saving, you will encourage labor to leave the farm. You will not only encourage labor to leave the farm, but you will take our boys and girls from us as well. I assure you so far as daylight saving is concerned, personally, I would be glad to favor it; but I am in a position, I believe, to know, and I recognize that at this present time the granaries of our country are not overflowing. I also note that there is not surplus of meats on our markets and I know that the responsibility to feed your cities and your people in general reverts itself back to your rural districts. Unfortunately, after the war farm products were the first to be hit, and hit hard. Prices dropped and thousands of farmers have gone out of business. In this great Commonwealth of ours today, thousands of our farms are producing nothing. I can take you to farms today, close to where I live, worth anywhere from $50,000 to $75,000, and they are not growing enough to feed the family. Now, it is this proposition that you are going to be brought into contact with. I want you to consider this not from the standpoint of pleasure, but from the standpoint of what our people can afford to have. My father taught me when a boy that my first duty was to my work and my second to my pleasure; but war conditions, through the great upheaval, and the disturbance of the minds of the people and the great prosperity which this war has brought about, has brought about a disposition for pleasure rather than work, and I am going to say to you frankly, with the great prosperity of our industries, they are coming out into rural districts, as they did only last month, and bid fifty cents an hour for common labor, I want to say to you that no man in agriculture can contend and bid for that labor. The result of it is, you will drain our farms of labor, you will decrease production, and the consumer will pay the hight cost of living, if he gets it at all. Now, while you people in your cities believe you want this, while you may think it is a grand thing for you, I want to say to you, "beware of the danger". The production this year will be far less than it has been for many years. Labor is at least forty per cent less, they are at least three weeks late with their work, and I want to say to you that the farm products will be affected so very extensively that, perhaps, it may put you in the same position that you have found yourself in with coal last winter. I would be the last—I would be the last man in this House, while a farmer to oppose daylight saving if I believed that the products of this country at the present time carried a surplus; but when I recognize the fact that the production of this country is limited, when I see your labor drawing from your districts to your cities, becoming consumers instead of producers, then, gentlemen and members of the House, danger stares you in the face. And I would be unfair to you as a farmer if I did not come here to you and stand up and explain this matter as I recognize that you people, living in your cities, are unfamiliar with your rural districts, and ask you to put your confidence in men that will stand for your rights and explain these conditions to you, as justly should be done. I was somewhat surprised here a few moments ago to hear my colleague, a gentleman whom I have the highest regard for, tell you that great industrial city the city of Chester. The gentleman told you correctly; it is, and it is going to be still a greater, but what astonishes me is that a young man living so close to the rural districts didn't know that that country girl, with her tan cheeks and faded gingham pulled his door-bell while he slumbered and served him fresh vegetables for his breakfast. Now, members, I am not goin to take any more of your time, but I want to say to you that the remarks that I have made here to you I felt it my duty to make, because of my experience, my training and my knowledge of conditions in the rural districts, as well as your cities, which I believe qualifies me to speak, and I say to you that, in the interests, not of the farmers, no, but of all the people, I am goin to ask you to vote "aye" on this very bill in order that the rural districts of your country can feed your consumers. I thank you.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if this bill is passed we are going to change the number of our greetings. When I meet you tomorrow, if we pass this bill today and it is signed by the Governor, I am going to say, "Good morning, Mr. So-and-So, I hope you had a fine standard time yesterday;" or I may say, "I trust you have been having a mean siderial time." It may be, under this thing, that the children in this country or in this city are going to go to the dogs if we don't pass this bill. Had you thought what is happening to the children up in Norway and Sweden, where the sun doesn't go down until ten o'clock in the evening, and oh, what poor, emaciated little waifs they are. This business is awfully disconcerting to most of us. I have a great deal of respect for the farmer. I once had an alarm clock in the earlier days, and it was a curious clock. If this clock was to be set for six o'clock in the morming, I had to set it forward to ten, because it gained so many hours that I had to know the combination. If I wanted to get up at six I would set the time hand at eight and I would set the alarm hand about four hours ahead. I knew—I used a table of trigonometry to work it out. One night a friend of mine, boarding at the same place, who didn't know the mechanism of the clock, borrowed the clock without my permission. He wanted to go to Lancaster and he set the clock as he should set it, for the time he wanted to arise, four o'clock, and at four o'clock face time, not standard time or daylight saving time, but at four o'clock face time, the alarm went off and he got up and dressed and went down to West Philadelphia station and he sat around and he didn't think to look at the clock there, and finally he wandered why there wasn't somebody there to catch that same early train out to Lancaster; and he looked at the clock and he found it was just one o'clock in the morning. He hadn't the combination, and I don't think we have the combination to this question. You can't legislate, you can't set these folks down in the big cities and up here in some of the less populous places because—and they are perfectly right, on the farm there is inconvenience—but these people in the city, and it is there only chance, should have that chance. I remember when Theodore Roosevelt came to Philadelphia at the time that they were building a new central high school. And the very first thing out of the box, the very first thing he said was, you have got a fine building, but you haven't got the time for the boys to play; you have only thought of the time when they work. And by this bill, if you pass it, you are only thinking of the time when you work. Now, there has been a great deal said, and I know properly said, about the times and the hard times and the long days that the farmers have. They do have long days from the time they begin in the spring until the harvests are over in the fall. I have been out on the farm at night by moonlight when they were taking in their wheat for fear of a storm. I know what they go through and I know what it means to their milk schedules, but how about these men and these women in the mills, in the cities and the smaller places who get up early every morning in the year, who have got to work whether the sun gets up later and sets later or sets earlier. It is immaterial to them; they have got to do it. It is a question of give and take. It have had some very interesting times in trying to work out this question of time. You look it up and you find that time is eternal; time is infinite; you can define infinity. One of my friends from Perry County submitted to me some observation about time. He said, "what is standard time, anyhow?" He said, "standard time is sun time. When the sun is on the seventy-fifth meridian, it is noon." Did you ever hear that, at two periods of the year, the sun was fifteen minutes ahead, and then, again, fifteen minutes behind the clock, or mean time. Now, he says he understands that every time you go fifteen degrees west you set your clock ahead an hour. Now get this observation.

"Now," he said, "if you can imagine yourself near the North Pole and could travel around the earth in a westerly direction so that you could run into yesterday, would you ever get any older?" That is an observation that, when you start studying these things, you have got to consider when the standard time starts and when it stops. How about the people out here in Pittsburgh, not withstanding the argument to the contrary you take the standard time, and you have got to set the clock forward an hour. What do the farmers do? They realize they have got a condition that they have got to meet. It is an inconvenience, but how about those traveling salesmen? You cannot always consult your own convenience. You have got to go out and get your customers if you want customers, and some of us are the people that sell. I don't have to be reminded on the first of the month the amount of milk they are buying at my house, but I am only a stock-holder in the farmer. I am quite mindful of their problems. I am quite mindful of the people down in the steel mills in my own district and the children in my own district and the mothers don't say at night..I suppose if this bill passes that the mothers will ask their children to close their little legislative eyes and sing them into their little legislative sleep. You can't do it that way. When the sun goes down it is almost self-evident it is dark, and when it is dark it is time for youngsters to go to bed, and in the summer time, we have a short night and a long day.

Now, you talk about your influx of the farmers to the city. Of course we have had that influx of farmers to the city, but they have had it for years. It has been a problem on the farm for a quarter of a century. It has been acute for the last ten years. It was acute long before we had daylight saving. It was a saving, it was economy in times of war. Why shouldn't we have the economy in times of peace? Those are the kind of things we have got to consider here today. Just a week ago it was my pleasure to attend an anniversary of the battle of Concord and Lexington, and we spoke as we should have spoken of the embattled farmers up there at Concord. We spoke of the shot that was heard round the world. That was done by the farmers, The Minute Men. But I want to tell you that the highest form of civilized life today is a case of give and take. I have got to concede something for you and you have got to concede something for me. The workers down in the mills and in my neighborhood are conceding to the farmers when they work early in the winter time and late in the winter time, which is the farmer's easiest season. When the summer comes, isn't it fair that we should put the reverse on the thing and say we know it is inconvenient, we sympathize with you, but don't take away from us the chance to relieve that very congestion of which the lady from Allegheny spoke. You can talk all you want, you can theorize all you want, you can have all the social you want, but unless you put the earlier part of the day and the later part of the day together, you can philosophize, but you don't help the man in the mill or the girl in the shop, it seems to me. I am not in the big city; I am in a metropolitan district adjacent to a big city. People in my town want this thing if the city near them wants this thing. It throws us into horrible confusion if we have one thing and they the other. It seems to me that this home rule proposition should be let just stay where it is, and let Philadelphia and let Erie and Allegheny and the rest of them assign their problems to themselves, and then lets meet the farmer in the spirit of proper give and take. I think this bill ought to be defeated. It seems to me it is socially, it is economically unfair, and just in conclusion, let me say that you can see just what these figures are. Under the census of 1920 the Urban population in Pennsylvania, and the United States statistician included all places over 2500, the Urban population of Pennsylvania is 65%. Now, there is no reason why, in passing our bills, with all due respect to the folks on the other side, we should allow the tail to wag the dog. I thing this bill ought to be defeated.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker there is to my mind one phase of this question which has not been fully explained. This bill is a measure in the interest of law observance, of law enforcement. It seeks to prohibits the violation of a law which fixes the standard time for the state and nation, and on that ground it for no other it should receive the unanimous support of the members of this House. We are not seeking to interfere with the right or privilege of any man to rise an hour earlier or to quit an hour sooner. We simply content that he shall not thereby virtually compel everybody else in the state of Pennsylvania to arise when he arises and to quit work when he quits. We are seeking to prevent him from disarranging the time and the schedule of every business interest in the state of Pennsylvania simply because he wants to suit himself and his own convenience in the changing of his watch. Now standard time is stable time it is stable because it is the time of the sun. It was fixed by the all wise Creator Himself, when he established the heavens and the earth and set the sun to rule by day and the moon and stars to rule by night. Our statues have been made and wisely made in conformity with that law. We cannot change the law of the universe, and we should not seek to set our clocks in violation of the law but should set them according to that time. I sympathize very deeply with those who are housed up in offices and factories; I sympathize with them in their desire to have an extra hour for recreation and diversion, they deserve it and they should have it especially if they want it, but they should have it by agreement and common understanding between themselves and their employers. I am speaking now in the interest of the Bath Agricultural interest, especially in the interest of agricultural Pennsylvania particularly the central and southern portion. We are asking no concession, we are urging no changes, we have no desire to interfere with the right and privilege of any man, but we do have important appointments to keep. We have pressing business engagements to fulfill, we have important work to do which can be done only in its season, and we have multitudinous business activities to prosecute which can be accomplished only under a uniform standard time. We ask only one thing and that is that the time be allowed to remain truely standard and that we let the clocks alone.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a vertification of the roll.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 148, as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That cities boroughs and incorporated towns are hereby authorized to require and permit sanitary sewers and sewer pipes to be laid and constructed outside the cartway and the curblines thereof in any street or highway

Section 2 The said sewers shall be for the service and use of the property abutting thereon on the side of the street or highway in which they are laid

Section 3 The costs and expenses of any sewer laid and constructed as aforesaid may be assessed against the abutting property in front of which the same is laid and such costs and expenses when so assessed shall be assessed and collected in the way and manner as the costs and expenses of other sewers are assessed and collected in the respective city borough and incorporated town in which the same are laid

Section 4 This act shall not affect the laying and construction of sewers under other acts of Assembly

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives, numbered and entitled as follows:

An Act to amend Article X of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and ninety-seven) entitled "An act to establish a Bureau of Forest Protection within the Department of Forestry designating the officers who shall constitute the Bureau their duties and salaries prescribing penalties for the violation thereof and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that may be inconsistent with or supplied by this act" by adding thereto section one thousand and eight regulating civil actions by and on behalf of persons and the Commonwealth suffering damage from forest fires and making an appropriation.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 3, line 8, by striking out, after the word "caused" the following: "In an action to recover damage or the cost of extinction it shall not be necessary to prove that the setting or causing of the fire was negligently done."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. George W. Williams, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will you give us your idea of what the meaning of that clause is at the present time?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. In reply to the gentleman from Delaware, I will say to him that I introduced these bills at the request of the Forestry Commissioner and the amendments made in the Senate were submitted to the Forestry Commissioner, and he is satisfied with them and so am I.

Mr. ALEXANDER. That does not answer my question. Does this mean now, as it stands, that if a fire is caused by someone, without any negligence on his part, that the man who caused the fire will have to pay the damages?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. I will not attempt to answer that, Mr. Alexander. I would refer you to the Forestry Commissioner to get his thought on it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Then, at the present time, I move you that this House non-concur in the amendments of the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 756, file folio 4179, entitled:

> An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy) entitled "An act for the Suppression of Fortune Telling and similar purposes" was defeated on final passage on Tuesday, April 17th, be reconsidered.

Mr. MATHAY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think it would not be wise for us to reconsider that vote. I think it would be a travesty on our intelligence. I think that we decided this question sufficiently positive by our vote a week ago. That is all I have to say just now.

Mr. DUNN Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is not often that I get up to talk on legislation of this kind. We remember when the Pilgrims landed in this country, they came away from oppression, and for civil and religious liberty. The man who worships in his own home according to the dictates of his conscience has just as much right to be considered if he is doing right as the man who worships in the temple. I think that these people are worthy of some consideration by this House. They are attached to a law of 1854 which takes in fortune tellers, charltans and fakirs, and all they ask is to be relieved from the penalties imposed upon them by that law so that they can worship according to the dictates of their conscience. That is all they ask and we as free people in a free country, where people have come for freedom, as I said, and for religious liberty, we should not question any man's right, or any woman's right to think and worship according to the dictates of their own conscience. These people are worthy of some consideration. Under the law of 1854 they can be prosecuted. The officers of the law have gone into their churches and their places of worship, and arrested them and have taken them before the courts as fakirs or charletans. Let us grant to them the same privilege that we have accorded to the religions that we believe in, according to the teaching which we follow according to the dictates of our own conscience. I did not think so much of this law when it was before us, but accidentally, I met one of those people who believed in this faith in the city of Philadelphia, on Monday morning. I never talked to one before, or I have never been in any one of their places of worship teaching this tenet or creed, but I found that this woman was an educated woman. I found that if she was permitted to come before this House and explain to you what is in her mind and the right that she has tried to do to uphold the faith that she believes in, we would, every one of us, who is not prejudiced against someone who is trying to teach what we do not believe in, would believe that she is right and prevent persecution, I ask the members of this House to give them a chance.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not interested in spiritualism, but I am interested in seeing that these people shall receive fair play. I have looked over this bill very carefully, and I, for the life of me cannot see what objection our good friend, the minister from Luzerne, has to this bill. If he can point out to me one sound reasonable objection I will accept his views upon this subject. This bill merely is an amendment to the act of 1861. It takes a highly respectable sect out of the criminal law. When the act of 1861 was passed spiritualism, as I understand it, was probably not thought of so far as the layman wes concerned, but since that time spiritualists, so I am informed, have been very much harrassed and very much annoyed, and very much persecuted in some instances by ignorant officers of the law who have arrested them, believing that they violated the act of 1861, which is the so-called fortune teller's act. Now, they are as far from fortune teller as the North pole is from the South pole. The ignorant officers apparently have confused their calling or their religion with organizations which come under the act of 1861. If the Unitarians, or if the Christian Scientists, asked for this same thing that the spiritualists are asking for I don't believe that the members of this House would hesitate to grant that reasonable favor. This House and the Senate passed this bill in 1921 and it was vetoed, not because the bill lacked merit, by Governor Sproul, but because it confused one section with the section in the Act of 1861 which would have been embarrassing to the ministers of other sects, Now, they have amended this bill so today that it does not conflict with anybody. It takes a perfectly respectable organization, a law abiding sect, out of the criminal statute, and how any body of reasonable men or tolerant men can be opposed to a measure of this character I should like to know.

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we are not attempting by our action at this time to deny anyone the right to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience. I am heartily sorry that the religious element has entered into this matter in regard to the separation which our friends the spiritualists desire. I think that that separation will be brought about when they release themselves from the practices of necromancy, wizardy and witchcraft, such as they are today doing. We take from the papers of today, sir, and we read just this, if you please, the answer that was given to one who submitted a question at the seance last night; this is the answer: "M. C. S. Your farther is well. He was a man who regretted his lack of schooling, and he liked his glass of beer, and he says he would not want to come back to this place of foolish prohibition."

Mr. Speaker, these folks who call themselves spiritualists are conducting their business today in the city of Harrisburg, and expressly and particularly in the Penn Harris hotel. They are conducting their business in a wrongful way. They are posing as leaders of religious truth, but until they can change their ways and change their name, I will go down dying with my opposition to such a nefarious cult as that. I stand before you at this time, Mr. Speaker, as one who will safeguard the integrity of the Christian Church, and the church founded upon the faith of the pioneer christians, the primitive christian, for our leader, our commander, and the captain of our faith said, "Upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it." And the faith once committed to the saints has become the ruling passion of my life, and I would be untrue to the fondest sentiment and the fondest emotion of countless thousands of believing ones were I to deny this faith in the face of the spurious opposition that has been engendered here within the last week. We know something about the practice of the members, and we know how our faith has been shattered in man, and we know some of the tactics which have been employed to swing the men of this House for this measure. We have not been asleep. We have even been approached ourself, and that in itself is an evidence to me that they are not measuring up to their own expectations regarding this thing, because when one proves himself to be just so sufficient a fool as to come to me and ask for a change of sentiment on this question, he has already established his standard, which does not measure up to the stature of a man.

Now, we are taking no shot at anything that is worthy of the name of religion. We know why our fathers came to our rock bound shore of New England. We know what they endeavored to get away from in Holland and England; we know all about that, and we know something else. We know it was because those men were true to the faith that had been committed to them that we have such a thing as a church in America today—whether that church be, of the Jewish faith, or whether it be of the Roman Catholic, or whether it be that of any of the various branches of protestantism.

I take from my pocket, gentlemen, a circular that has been put around here by certain people, in which we are given to understand that there are so many churches represented in this convention down here. These people have no business to talk about their organization as being a church, if they don't know that there is only one church. Talk about worship! What do they say about worship? You will observe that it is not with the idea of worshipping God, worshipping the Almighty, it is just to worship we know not what, as we see people today worshipping the sun, and the moon and the stars, and then to have them come before us and have them say that they are a church is the worst piece of foolishness that has ever been given to a people to consider. What do I know about this business? I know that my own community has been shattered, and I know that families and homes in my own neighborhood have been torn asunder, and I know that the very mediums who are working their seances among our people, and that I could not locate them when I was burying the other part of their families. Do you think I do not know what I am talking about? Sure I do, and it is the truth, even as the God is in his heaven, it is the truth, and they are not worthy of the consideration of a Christian communion, and we know that none of the others would have them.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to overlook the little remark which was made by my friend in the enthusiasm of his talk. I defer to no one, to no member in this House in my right to worship as I see fit; that is not my profession, that is my personal obligation and a duty, and a joyful one, but I believe that I am broad minded enough to read my federal constitution and my state constitution, and to let the other fellow vote as he or she honestly thinks he or she should. I will agree with my friend from Luzerne, I did not want to be drawn into this but I don't agree with these folks at all. What business is it of mine whether I agree with them or not? If you will look at your federal constitution, the very first article of the amendments put in, as you recall, immediately after the constitution was adopted, because they had forgotten that bill of rights; "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." Do you see the word church there? I go to church and I think I am a good member of the church and I am not going to attack the other fellow about what he does. The Pennsylvania constitution in article 1, section 3, says: "No human authority can in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience and no preference shall ever be given by a law to any religious establishments or modes of worship." Now, I think really the discussion that is going on is beside the point as to whether it is a church or is not a church. These people were chartered by the court in the state of Pennsylvania, one of our courts, and as I said before I don't agree with the tenets of their faith at all, but I believe in my constitution and no gentleman of the cloth, however sincere he may be, can make me believe that I have to vote for a bill which characterizes somebody who does not believe as I do, as what shall I say, living here contrary to the principles of our religion and our constitution. I think that is all beside the point. I do not regard his remarks as personal and I don't want mine to be regarded as personal. I stand on the rock of these two constitutions.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has been pretty fully discussed so far as the principles are concerned. There is just one thought that I have, I believe that a great many members when this bill was before us before misunderstood the bill and believed that it permitted fortune telling. A re-reading of the bill will show you that it is absolutely the opposite. Now, I don't propose to discuss the creed of this church or the principles of the measure, they are already in an argument amongst themselves. The church is split. They argue this creed and the other creed against themselves, and I don't believe any christian church has the right to argue against the other man's belief. We are getting too near to soviet Russia when we do so. We know soviet Russia who believes that its religion is the only religion, persecuting today the Catholic priest who is endeavoring to hold up the same church that my friend from Lycoming is. I think these people have a perfect right to do as they are doing and I am the last one to oppose it.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to answer briefly the argument made by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Ludlow. It is true that the Constitution of the United States has that provision in it, and it is a very wise provision, but it is also true that the government of the United States independently of that constitutional provision permits no worship in the United States that infringes upon the penal code of the United States, This country was very much agitated and torn up when Joseph Smith got a communication from Almighty God in an old tree stump up in New York state, some years ago, and he went west into Illinois and violated and outraged christian sentiment in that community by the practice of polygamy. He was driven from there into the wilderness, and he built up the state of Utah. They posed as a great religious body but the United States refused to recognize them as such and said, "You cannot come into the federal union practising plurality of marriage. That is a violation against the public moral sentiment, and it is a violation against the law of Moses and against the law of Jesus Christ. Until you concur with the penal statutes of the United States you cannot have admission." Under such circumstances as these, what was necessary? Another revelation had to be had by the Mormons from Christ after Uncle Sam had spoken in the way he had, and then they were convinced that the first message they had received that the Almighty God was in favor of plurality of wives in this day and generation, was a mistake, and that they must now confine themselves to the taking of a single wife and so the law under the dictates of the Mormon church was so amended and they abolished polygamy, and came into the federal union with that obliterated from their law.

Mr. Speaker, how idle it is to speak about this society as a Christian church. It does not pretend to be a Christian church. Listen, "The provisions of this section shall not apply to certified or licensed ministers, missionaries, or mediums of any denomination or association which is incorporated in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for promoting mutual aid and co-operation in benevolent, charitable, educational, literary, musical, scientific, religious and missionary purposes and enterprises." The world today, as we look at it, has but the one religion, as stated by the gentleman from Luzerne, and that is the Christian religion of which God is God, and Jesus Christ is his son. The church which was organized on the day of Pentecost was not organized as a literary society. Jesus Christ did not come to the world to teach men the art of music, or to teach literature, but to teach them that he was the Son of God, and all we have to do is abide by the Ten Commandments, by the Sermon on the Mount, and by that great sermon preached by the Apostle Peter on the day the church was organized.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point or order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point or order.

Mr. DUNN. The gentleman is not talking on the question before the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine himself to the motion before the House.

Mr. OGLE. Yes, I am doing so, and the gentleman from Philadelphia gets up here and advocates all the features that anybody pleases to bring to Harrisburg.

Now, gentlemen, we are plain American citizens; don't let us dethrone the Almighty, and don't let us tear down the Cross, the Cross of protestantism and catholicism alike. This bill, as we had the illustration read by the gentleman from Luzerne, is for the advancement of the spirits who were called up here the other night and showed themselves to be against the administration because they are not prohibitionists, and for that reason, gentlemen, I am opposed to the measure. I can't conscientiously vote for it because I don't feel that in voting for it I would be according anybody the right to worship within the constitutional provision, read there, according to the dictates of conscience. There is no conscience in it. You have got to tear up your conscience. You have got to tear up your religion. You have got to destroy the foundations of this government and this country if you want to foster and promote such a cult as is embraced in this measure.

Mr. STOFFLET. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have here a copy of the Harrisburg Telegraph with this inspiring item in it: "Spirit Fond of Beer is Glad he has Passed on". I don't blame him. "No desire to be back on account of foolish prohibition, medium transmits. One got wrong pills. But Slater announces she is happy; predicts voices of dead over radio. A 'spirit' who 'liked his glass of beer' assured some 800 persons in the Penn Harris ball room last night that he 'wouldn't want to be back on account of this foolish prohibition'.

"Whether prohibition is in effect in his present habitation he neglected to mention, but the inference left with the audience was that it is not.

"The 'spirit' did not stalk into the ball room, make a bow and deliver his message. Such, it seems, is not the manner in which 'spirits' work. The anti-Volstead declaration was one of a score of other 'messages' from the 'spirit world' transmitted through John Slater, internationally famed medium."

This bill before this House, should it pass, I honestly believe that the benefits of it are rather more far reaching than any of us at this minute imagine, because if we could by some persuasion get this man Slater to come to this House he might establish spiritual communication between members of this House and the departed Bois Penrose, Matt Quay and Dave Martin who might throw some light on our tenacious taxation problems. The only thing that I do regret is that this bill did not come up before this House before the dry bill came up. We might have consulted some of those old time political warhorses and have gotten some real inspiration as to how to act on that bill. But since it came up a little later, an answer to our tax problems would be greatly appreciated.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Spangler in discussing the motion yesterday to discharge the Committee on Public Roads from the custody of House Bill No. 1118, the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler, said:

"I am not a member of the Ways and Means Committee, but probably if the Speaker in referring this measure had deliberated thoroughly upon the question the bill would have been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, where it belonged. The mere fact that by reason of an indiscretion, or by reason of an oversight, a bill of the importance of this bill was referred to a committee that it should not have been referred to."

In fairness to you, Mr. Speaker, and in justification for your action in referring this bill to the Committee on Public Roads, I desire to say that in this action you pursued the course followed by the gentleman from York, our honored Speaker in the 1919 and 1921 sessions, who in his judgment referred to the Committee on Public Roads, of which he had designated me the chairman, numerous bills affecting the motor traffic of the State; among them in 1919 was the Department bill introduced by Mr. Dithrich, increasing the fees on automobiles and trucks, and the North bill increasing the license fee of the trucks; and in the 1921 session, the Department measure introduced by Mr. Woodruff increasing motor vehicle fees and a bill of similar provision introduced by Mr. Henderson. So I feel, Mr. Speaker, that your reference of the Blair bill to the Committee on Public Roads was entirely proper and in line with the precedent established by your predecessor, Speaker Spangler.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I do not deny the accusation of my distinguished friend and colleague, Mr. Williams, but in explanation of what the gentleman so kindly referred to I will say that the Legislature of 1921 had no compunction at all about spending money nor did they have any taxation problem to worry the brains of the House. As Mr. Edmonds has said, nor did they hesitate to discharge a committee and the Speaker.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. STOFFLET offered a resolution which was read as follows:

PROHIBITING THE SALE OF BUTTERMILK.

In the House of Representatives, April 15, 1923.

Whereas, it has been testified on the floor of the House that alcohol is often present in quantity in that harmless product known as buttermilk; and,

Whereas, this evidence comes as a surprise to that portion of the membership of this House which believes in temperance and sobriety; and,

Whereas, it is important that temptation be removed as far as possible from the youth of this sovereign Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—those smiling-faced youths year by year approaching nearer the goal of manhood; and,

Whereas, no restrictions can be deemed harsh which will safeguard the paths of our citizenry; therefore

Be It Resolved, that it is the sense of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the public sale of buttermilk be prohibited; that the Superintendent of State Police be directed to search all milk wagons for this nefarious, death-dealing fluid; that the cows which give buttermilk be shot; that the dairy business be declared a menance to the well-being of Pennsylvania; and that all acts or parts of acts in conflict with this resolution be and the same are hereby repealed.

The SPEAKER. This resolution is referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 428, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-first day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and sixty-eight) entitled "An act relating to police pension funds in cities of the third class and directing such cities to appropriate certain moneys thereto"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the twenty-first day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and sixty-eight) entitled "An act relating to police pension funds in cities of the third class and directing such cities to appropriate certain moneys thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted et cetera That there shall be paid annually to the organization or association constituting and having in charge the distribution of police pension funds in every city of the third class a sum of money not less than one-half of one per centum nor more one per centum of all city taxes collected by the city other than taxes levied to pay interest on or extinguish the debt of the municipality or any part thereof

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Bidelspacher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Yes, sir.

Mr. STEEDLE. At the present time in third class cities do they have a pension fund, a police pension fund?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say that in some cities of the third class there is an organization that has in charge the pension fund. This bill is so drawn that there will be no payment required of cities of the third class unless such an organization is in existence to which the police contribute regularly.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1306, entitled

An Act to amend section seven of an act, entitled "An act to establish a Department of Mines, in Pennsylvania; defining its purposes and authority; providing for the appointment of a chief of said Department, and assistants, and fixing their salaries and expenses;" approved the fourteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and eighty); increasing fees paid by applicants for certificates of qualification as mine foremen and assistant mine foremen in the anthracite mines; providing for the disposition of fees received, and providing for copies of lost or destroyed certificates.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, I have been requested to explain briefly the provisions of this bill. This bill relates only to applicants for certificates of qualification as mine foremen or assistant mine foremen in the anthracite mines. It amends the existing act which was passed in 1903 only in this particular, it increases slightly the fees of the applicant for examination as mine foreman or assistant mine foreman shall pay. Secondly, it makes clear that the fee which is paid by an applicant shall be put in the State Treasury And in the third place, it makes a provision that when the certificate has been issued to the successful applicant, it makes a provision for the issuing of a new certificate, and that is all there is to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 992, entitled

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section thirty-five

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stoner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of the bill to explain it to the House.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, this bill seeks an amendment to the Constitution to enable what is called neighborhood assessment for benefiits to property. Under the present law it is not possible to assess any property for a public improvement unless that property abuts upon the line of the improvement. To illustrate the effect of this act, although it is not introduced to take care of any particular case, I can probably explain it better by calling attention to a case new in Pittsburgh where we are building a tunnel under what is known as the "South Hills," and from that tunnel a viaduct runs to the court house. At the present time to get to the property which is being opened up is a matter of seven miles. By means of the tuunel and viaduct the distance is lessened to less than three-quarters of a mile. The result of that is, that that property is brought right into the market, and property now worth two or three hundred dollars an acre will be worth two to five thousand dollars an acre and yet not one foot of that property can be assessed in order to contribute to the payment of this work, which is costing somewhere around five millions of dollars. I want to say that all the western states, I think without exception, have adopted this plan, and I think three or four of the eastern states, and al lof them say this is the fairest method of assessment. Of course the details must subsequently be worked out if the people approve of the amendment to the Constitution, and the actual workings will have to be devised by the Legislature and the people must be safeguarded against any abuses. But anyone who has thought upon this subject seems to believe that the board of Viewers can take care of this amended plan just as they do now with the resricted plan of assessment, and of course you will all agree that the Legislature can be trusted to safeguard the people against abuse. This plan has been found workable in other states, and in the State of Pennsylvania where the topography of the different cities is so varied, it is particularly needed and I hope you will support it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. STONER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I notice in this section it provides for the assessment against property, for the assessment of benefits.

Mr. STONER. Yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Under the present law, damages cannot be assessed against a municipality unless the property abuts on the improvement, can it?

Mr. STONER. I do not understand your question.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Damages cannot be assessed unless the property damages abuts on the improvement.

Mr. STONER. You say damages cannot be assessed against a municipality?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes.

Mr. STONER. I think I see what you mean. When a change of grade is made in a street or a street is open or closed, damages cannot be assessed against a municipality unless the property abuts on the improvement.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Shouldn't damages against a municipality be included here now?

Mr. STONER. I think that is a question for the Legislature. This opens the door so that the Legislature can take care of the question when it arises.

Mr. ALEXANDER. But should not that be a part of this amendment?

Mr. STONER. I think it is broad enough to cover it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This only provides for the assessment of benefits. Why not also provide for the assessment of damages? There is another thing, is it possible for them to properly arrive at the proper benefits if they cannot take into consideration the amount of damages?

Mr. STONER. Mr. McVICAR has just called to my mind a fact that I have been trying to review in my mind. He says that under the present law damages may be assessed on all cases of abutting property, and if that be true, and I believe it is, on reflection, then it is fully covered by this constitutional amendment. It was our conclusion when we prepared this bill that it was broad enough to cover the very question which you raise.

Mr. ALEXANDER. If you are not correct in that then we can look at it later on when it goes to the other side.

Mr. STONER. Yes, sir.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stoner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated,

Mr. STONER. I will.

Mr. OGLE. Do I understand by this bill that if this becomes a part of the constitution that when improvements are made by the government of Pennsylvania, like the widening of Third Street, for instance, that properties across the way might be assessed and will have to pay for the improvement.

Mr. STONER. Undoubtedly, provided the Legislature should pass a law with such a provision.

Mr. OGLE. Are we to understand that when a schoolhouse is built in a borough that properties not adjacent to the school may be assessed for benefits alleged to have accrued to their properties by reason of their being in that community or close to it,

Mr. STONER. I know of no law that provides for an assessment of benefits by reason of the building of a schoolhouse.

Mr. OGLE. You say here that laws may be enacted authorizing assessment against properties which are specially and particularly benefited by public improvements made by the State government or by a municipality, whether or not such properties abut upon such public improvements. The word public improvement is not definite, we do not know whether it is the construction of highways by the Highway Department or borough or township or whether it is a schoolhouse or enginehouse or other structure that you could mention.

Mr. STONER. Public improvements for which an assessment can be made do not include such things as a schoolhouse, enginehouse. or other public building or that sort, but it does include such public improvement as streets and sewers which are a direct benefit to the property in that neighborhood.

Mr. OGLE. My experience with this sort of thing is simply this, that when you go before a jury on assessment cases of this kind, many an innocent property-holder is mulct for an improvement that he did not receive.

Mr. STONER. You cannot rise superior to the laws or the jury. We tried to get a jury bill through here the other day that might have taken care of what you suggest, but we did not succeed.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion the bill is unnecessary and it engenders litigation and community trouble, I think the less said the soonest mended, and I am against this constitutional amendment.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1315, as follows:

An Act to amend chapter six article seventeen of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and twelve) entitled "An Act providing a system of government for borough and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That chapter six article seventeen of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and twelve) entitled "An act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" is hereby amended by adding thereto the following section

Section 51 No person firm or corporation shall introduce electric current for light heat or power purposes without the consent of the borough authorities into the limits of any borough in this Commonwealth which is furnishing electric current to the inhabitants of such borough

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Whiteman, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will the gentleman explain the purpose of this bill?

Mr. WHITEMAN. The intent of the bill is set forth in the section on page 2, which provides that no person, firm or corporation shall introduce electric current for light, heat or power purposes without the consent of the borough authorities into the limits of any borough in this Commowealth which is furnishing electric current to the inhabitants of such borough. Under the present rule of the Public Service Commission, I will say, Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman from Deleware, that a municipal light corporation, or any public service corporation is protected in its franchise, subject to the rules of the Public Service Commission. In other words, if a borough owns its municipal light plant, no other company can come in to compete with that plant, and there is nothing in the law at present, or nothing in the ruling of the Public Service Commission which would prevent a private consumer, a larg consumer within the borough limits from running a private line out into the township where there is a competing public service commission and finding his power outside and taking it in over his own line to his plant. The sole purpose of the bill is to protect the municipality which is furnishing the service, and which is protected as far as the borough limits themselves are concerned by the Public Service Commission.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill, 1105, which is now before the House for final passage, is, I think, one of the smallest changes that has ever been proposed in the law. It changes two words on page seven, the two words being "or more". The point of it is this: That under the primary election law the county commissioners count the vote but when the county commissioners are all candidates for reelection the present law says that the judges of the county of common pleas shall appoint two judges of the county court. Now it happens at the next election, at the primary election we will have something like seventy-five hundred different divisions, and the names have all got to be certified to the Secretary of the Commonwealth within a very short time, about fourteen days, and the judges who will make up that election board have requested that the words, "or more" be added after the number two, so that instead of saying two, it may be two or more, so that the work may be distributed in that way. I assure my colleagues from Philadelphia, that there is no sinster purpose in this bill. I introduced it at the request of Judge Shoemaker and it is briefly to enable the election returns to be counted in due time.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2.

Goehring,
Colville,

The majority required by the Constiuttion having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1219, entitled:

An Act making it a misdemeanor in office for any magistrate alderman or justice of the peace to refuse to admit to bail a person charged with a bailable offense.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I do not like to attack anybody's bill, and especially that of my colleague from Delaware county, and my roommate, but I want to call your attention to this bill. I think this has been put over on him by some friend of ours in Delaware, who have a little spite against the justice of the peace. A justice of the peace is a judge. He is bound under the law to do certain things. One of the things he is bound to do is to see that a defendant is properly bound over for court, that his bail shall be sufficient, and his security shall be sufficient. Now, we have an instance here of where a man comes along and says, "I offer so and so as my bondsman." He examines his bondsman and he concludes by reason of certain mortgage that he has against his property that he has not sufficient property. Now mind you the law provides that he is responsible, he is the judge and must decide as to the responsibility of that bondsman, Now as far as damages are concerned or malfeasance, if it is negligence, and some one brings a suit against him, they can proceed against him in a civil action, but this provides that if by reason of his mistaken judgment, in saying that a man's bond is not good, why, he is liable to be committed on a crime, a justice of the peace, mind you, a member of the lower judiciary, is to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and to be fined not less than one hundred dollars or more than one thousand dollars or undergo imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or both, in the discretion of the court. Now mind you, a member of the lower judiciary whom you elect to hear cases, and yet for a mistake of his judgment, he is to be taken before a jury, and there if that jury happens to find that he should have taken this fellow's bond, notwithstanding that he was right in his judgment, he is liable to a fine or imprisonment for making a mistake in judgment. Now crimes, gentlemen, never rise to that point Criminal law is not for the purpose of getting square with somebody. In most of our crimes there should be a malice in that crime before he should be convicted of a crime,—it makes no difference who it is, let alone a member of the lower judiciary, they should have to show malice, a wrongful intent. Why, there is nothing in this act that shows they have to show any malice at all, all they have to show is that he refuses to take a man's security and that in judgment of the jury they believe that that security was sufficient when he is a man that is obliged to pass upon it in the first instance. Now just think of it. Work it along in the other instance. Why, the justice of the peace may say, "I suppose before I decide on this man's bail case I better have a jury summoned and let them pass on whether or not this bail is sufficient, if I don't it may be that I should have held him, I better say all right." If he does take the bond and it is not sufficient he gets it from the court and the district attorney gets after him for not taking sufficient bail. Here is the fellow is between two fires, and if he makes a mistake he is guilty of a misdemeanor. It is not fair to put any justice of the peace or magistrate in that kind of position.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I am surprised at my friend Mr. Alexander, I thought he was too good a lawyer to speak against a bill of this kind. This bill is broad enough in its way. There are certain acts of assembly on crimes you might say that an alderman cannot take bail. The alderman cannot take bail, this says in bailable cases.

and off times an alderman may make a mistake and hold a man for court and say, "Here you go to court and get your bail." Suppose you have a hearing at 1:00 o'clock or 12:00 o'clock Saturday, and you are held for court the alderman won't take bail, although he could take bail, but he won't—do you know where you are going? You are going to jail until Monday morning, that is where you go, it does not make a bit of difference how innocent you are. Why? Because the district's office closes Saturday at noon and you cannot get out. Now, I think this is a very fair bill. If it had stated that it applied in all cases, then I would oppose the bill, but it very clearly says there, bailable offenses, and I would ask you to vote for this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goehring.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goehring, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, with pleasure.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Suppose a man is arrested and taken before you as sitting magistrate, and you hold him under a bailable case, understand, because I don't suppose anybody would be foolhearty enough to pass a law compelling him to take bail in an unbailable case. We will take the bailable case as you say, as he comes before you, you hold him in $1,000 bail. The next question you ask him, "What property have you?" that is I mean the bondsman, The bondswill say, "I own a piece of real estate." "What is the value of it," is the next question. "Well, it is worth $3,000." "What is against it?" "There is $2,000 against it." "When did you buy it?" "Well, I bought it about six months ago." "Where is it located," and you know that property and you beleive that that property is not worth over $2800.00, and his bail is $1,000 and you refuse to take it under this act of assembly, what is to become of you?

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the first plase the alderman would not take his real estate bond without seeing the deed. The deed would set forth the consideration. The bondsman must take an affidavit that he owns that property, and what encumbrances are against it. If he swears to a lie he is guilty of perjury, and the magistrate has a right to say, "Your bond is not sufficient." He has a right to say that and turn down the bond. He has got to use good judgment. Make it a cash bond of $1,000, what is your answer.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Am I interrogating you, or are you interrogating me?

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen will confine themselves to the interrogation and not to a conversation.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Have you ever known of deeds being presented for properties worth considerable money where the consideration therein was given as $1.00?

Mr. GOEHRING. I have.

Mr. ALEXANDER. What would be the use of presenting a deed with the consideration of one dollar $1.00, to the alderman.

Mr. GOEHRING. The alderman has the right to ask you what the property is worth, what he paid for it, what was the true value of the property, or what it is assessed at. I can tell him that, and the alderman can go one step further than that. If it is Saturday afternoon and the court house is closed, the alderman can say, "You have a tax receipt. Bring that down." And the tax receipt very clearly states the assessed value of the property.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Suppose he would make an honest mistake under this act of assembly he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Mr. GOEHRING. I would say not.

Mr. METCALF. Mr. Speaker, my good colleague the orator from Delaware county, has been seen fit to attack this bill because we happen to have certain conditions in Delaware county conditions that apply particularly all over the state, that is, questions of people being brought before the justice of the peace on bailable charges, and the justice of the peace refuses to grant them bail. We had a case of that kind not very long ago down in Chester, my good colleague knows all about it. The justice of the peace saw fit to send eight or nine of Chester's leading business men over to the county jail, he refused to accept bail. The judge of the court, when the warden of the jail refused to put them in a cell, the judge called them in the court room and discharged them,, and since that time the justice of the peace has himself been arrested on a charge. What we are trying to do is to get away from this condition. If you are brought before the justice of the peace at any time of the day or night and they are taking bail, and the justice of the peace refused to accept it, what happens? Now, this bill is perfectly clear, in the fact that it allows the justice of the peace to be the absolute judge whether the bail is adequate or not. It also only provides for the granting of bail on bailable charges and I urge you to vote for this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker my friend is a little mistaken on the facts of the case he speaks about. In order that that may be cleared up, the facts are these, and the gentleman that I think foisted this bill on my friend, was one of the actors in the case. A number of them had been arrested and taken before the magistrate, and when the magistrate made his decision and fined them, the lawyer in the case advised them to go home and they started and went home. They walked out of his office and ignored him entirely and went home. The next time they came down there without any bail at all, or offering any bail, but offered a lot of other things besides bail, they insulted the magistrate, and he sent them to the lockup. When they got to the lockup, I dont know what happened to them up there, but that magistrate was not arrested for that, he was arrested for assualt and battery but not for a misdemeanor of this kind or a mistake of judgment. He held them in bail and they have sued him as I say, in a civil action. They have the right to do that at the present time.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, as to whether that is the same Delaware county, that on last night we were told had such good magistrates?

Mr. ALEXANDER. I might add there, yes, and it is those magistrates that I am trying to protect against the insults by members of the bar who don't know how to treat magistrates or justices of the peace when they go before them, and when they get their just deserts before them, come into the legislature and introduce such a bill as this. I have no time for anyone, I don't care who he is who cannot treat a magistrate or justice of the peace civilly when he goes before him, and when he fails to respect the dignity of the office, and if he is locked up, or gets put out of the office, or anything of the kind it is his fault if he does not know how to treat the magistrate. The magistrate is all right, it is the lawyer that is causing the trouble.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I am very much amazed and surprised after hearing of the paragons of virtue and ability that were represented in the minor judiciary of Delaware county, to find all of this time being taken up before the House in a dispute as to the judicial merits and equanimity of that splendid minor judiciary of Delaware county, and I think it certainly becomes the gentleman to explain the inconsistency that appears this evening in regard to this statements of last evening.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus, will state his point of order.

Mr. MARCUS. The gentleman is not talking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I would like to say just a word or two with reference to House Bill No. 204. There is a slight history back of that bill. At the last session of the legislature it was felt by a great many members of the House, that at the opening of the session there should be a complete financial report of the condition of the Commonwealth presented to the members of the general assembly. In consultation with the gentleman who was then the Governor of Pennsylvania, Governor Sproul, he agreed with the point of view that there ought to be somebody appointed for the purpose of drafting and preparing and submitting a budget of the finances of the state. There was a budget bill prepared which passed the last House unanimously which was the last week of the session and there was no time for favorable action in the Senate. Then the State Chamber of Commerce took hold of the question and for two years the State Chamber of Commerce has been working on the question of budget with the idea of preparing a bill which would embody a practical plan for Pennsylvania. This bill, 204, is the bill that was prepared and recommended by the State Chamber of Commerce. Now, the idea is as follows: That each year the Governor shall be called upon for estimates of income and expenditure, a statement of which is to be submitted to the legislature by the first of March, a compelte statement on the subject together with such appropriation as he recommends and such revenue sources as he recommends, so that the whole of the physical data would be given by the executive to the legislature at the end of the first two months of the session. I feel sure that if we had had the data prepared two years ago, it would have saved a great many distressing scenes in the last legislature, and I feel sure that if we had had this kind of legislation provided for by law at this session, we perhaps would have saved some time in getting along with our deliberations. Now, it is the plan of the act to provide for a budget director, who is to be appointed by the Governor, and, if he is a new official, at a salary of $7500.00 but he may also appoint a man from among the appointive offices of the Commonwealth, in which case his services is to be rendered without receiving a salary. I make this explanation because I think it is only fair to the State Chamber of Commerce, because they spent a great deal of money in comparing the various budget systems of many states, and they have in this draft practically all of the features of the budgets in other states which can be applicable to this Commonwealth.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am heartily in favor of a budget. I am in favor of a budget because I think it is a step toward economy, I am not, however, in favor of a budget that is going to have surrounding it a lot of machinery that is going to cost the state a lot of money. I can see no reason why one of the fiscal agents of the Commonwealth, especially the Auditor

General, cannot furnish all the data that is intended in this act of assembly that the budgeteer shall furnish. This provides, I am referring now to page 3 of the bill, that, "The budget director shall receive an annual, salary of $7,500. The Governor may, instead of appointing a budget director, designate any existing state officer as the budget director in which case no additional salary shall be paid to such officer." Then why give the Governor the right to appoint someone that is going to get $7,500, and give that same man the right to appoint his assistants that are necessary and fix their salaries. Now, this reorganization that we speak about is a reorganization, or should be a reorganization, toward economy and efficiency, but no reorganization is a proper reorganization that does not tend toward efficiency and economy. Why, there are hundred of kinds of reorganizations. You can take this department out of this, and put it over there, and another out of there and put it somewhere else, but that is not the purpose of reorganization. Every great enterprise that we know of take the Standard Oil Company, for instance, when they reorganize, what did they do? They reorganize for the purpose of cutting down overhead expenses. Just assume here, with the appointment of a budget director, and it admitted in this bill by the very words of the bill, that he may appoint someone, it provides for an appointive officer, and there be no objection to that, but why not appoint the Auditor General who is elected by the people of Pennsylvania and who has every bit of data in his office that is necessary to make up a budget. It seems to me, therefore, that while we are reorganizing, and I ask the gentleman, who is the sponsor of this bill, in order that we may perhaps defeat the whole object of a budget, I don't want to defeat the whole object of a budget, but if there is nothing to be gained in the end except that of putting up a lot more machinery that is going to cost the taxpayers money, when that can be accomplished just as easy without it, then I say we might as well defeat the budget first and last. If they want to amend it so that that same purpose that same object can be arrived at without the extra machinery, and the extra expense, and as I said before, and I repeat it, to emphasize it, that the fact that they say in here that the Governor may appoint an appointive officer in which instance he received no salary, now is the time to do it.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I am very glad of the informing discussion that there has been upon this bill. I am absolutely glad to hear the criticisms of my friend from Delaware county, if he has quarreled with his roommate, I don't wonder that he quarrels with me. Now, the fact of the matter is that the office of budget director in this Commonwealth is a big office, and it is money saved to the Commonwealth if it can get the right kind of man. You won't waste money by creating a $10,000 position for a $10,000 man and putting a $10,000 man in the job, but you do waste money by creating a $12,000 position for a $4,000 and putting an $8,000 man on the job. In the first place it is gain, and in the second place it is waste. It gives you the highest kind of ability, which is gain to the people and which is the kind of ability that you need in a budget of this kind. Now, my friend says why cannot the Auditor General do it. The Auditor General can make a report upon the receipts and expenditures for the past two years, and the present Auditor General has submitted to this legislature a most excellent and informing report of that kind. The Auditor General can give you an estimate of revenue from existing taxes for the next two years, because he has got experience with it and the present Auditor General has given estimates along precisely that line, but these things are not the only function of a budget. You lose sight of the primary importance of a budget if you confine it to bringing in what the estimated income of the State is. What is equally important is to put down the estimated cost of the program of the state. Someone has got to go through the state departments and find out what it costs to do the work of the departments correctly and then put an estimate of that cost down there, and that is the reason why in all of the states of the union, with I think two or three exceptions, the tendency is strong now towards what is called an executive budget, because it is only only executive in charge of these various branches of the states work, it is only the executive who can do that, who can work out a proper budget along these lines. Now, that is the reason why it seems to me that a budget is a good thing. My feeling is that this is not a thing to be regarded as part of any other legislative program. It should stand by itself, either as a meritorious or a non-meritorious piece of legislation. Its antecedents I have explained to you. If it can be put through it affords a method whereby future legislatures may receive all the information that they should have. If it cannot be put over, why then, of course, the bill falls.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman form Philadelphia, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. How much money approximately will it take to render the efficiency that your bill provides for?

Mr. EDMONDS. It would seem to me that it would be necessary to establish an office which would have in the first place a director. He must be a man of some experience in accounts and in state affairs, and in the second place a certain number, two, three or four subordinates for the purpose of attending to the definite work. I understand that the Governor's estimate for that Department of Accounts, was, I think, $35,000 a year, but in that department I have in mind there was a good deal more than would fall in the line of the director. My feeling would be, making the comparison with some of the other states where I have seen the figures, it would run perhaps from eighteen to twenty-five thousand dollars a year.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Where are you going to get the money?

Mr. EDMONDS. For this?

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Yes.

Mr. EDMONDS. The money itself is not appropriated by this bill. The bill requires an appropriation to make it active, that is to say, it would have to be provided for specifically in some appropriation bill. I don't know the way in which the money will be appropriated, but I am inclined to think that in the next two or three weeks the money which is necessary for the state to function will be there. I am absolutely convinced that the state of Pennsylvania is going on and that the money will be provided that will enable it to do its duty.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in view of the fact that we have been facing the problem since the beginning of this session of how we are to raise additional revenue, it would strike me that the conservative men and women of this House would surely not be a part of a program, which the Governor has outlined, that we have been on a joy-ride and therefore we must economize. If we are going to economize and permit bills of this nature to pass, it strikes me that we will be in this House until November of 1923. I believe it would be the sane policy of the members of this House to vote down measures of this kind regardless of how meritorious they may be, how efficient they may be, and how productive of results they may be. We are past that stage, we are down to business. Whether we are going to adopt some of the measures the Ways and Means Committee has presented to us is a weighty problem. The time has come for us to get down to business and to pass bills like this up for the present. Therefore, I think it would be wise at this time to vote this bill down.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. EDMONDS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DUNN. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia what is the cost of the budget prepared by the Mayor of Philadelphia under the new charter?

Mr. EDMONDS. I am not able to pass upon the costs, I have only got newspaper knowledge of it. I was not, as a matter of fact, in any official position which required me to examine it, and outside of in a general way saying that I know it provided for a certain number of millions of dollars, I have no knowledge as to the nature of it.

Mr. DUNN. Is it your opinion that it is working satisfactorily?

Mr. EDMONDS. I could not even answer that. I have not heard very much creticism. It may be that there is ground for it, but I have not heard it.

Mr. DUNN. Looking at this portion in regard to the appropriation of $7,500 for a budget director, further on in that section it says, "may appoint necessary assistants and fix their salaries." There is no limit to that then. Now, under the budget prepared by the Mayor of Philadelphia, under the charter, it provides for an expenditure of money greater than the state expends in a year, over $56,000,000 for current expenses, and no doubt there is an enormous amount of work in preparing that and it don't cost the city of Philadelphia one penny.

Mr. GILDER. May I beg your indulgence for just a moment, because there is another angle to this bill that has not been covered. I agree with Mr. Edmonds that the state will raise the money needed, but I will go a step further and say that if we have to raise it we should have something to say about spending it. In this bill the Governor would submit to the legislature, as was done to the present legislature, his ideas as to what the legislature should do. I call your attention particularly to this bill on page 8, file folio 5356, in which the following language appears: "The Governor may in the case of state, semi-state and private institutions classify the same and submit bills making lump sum appropriations to classes of institutions, with a schedule thereto attached showing the amount to be appropriated to each institution in accurate and direct proportion to the service it renders." It occurs to me that we have gone to the other end which many of us have been facing, that if we are going to raise the revenue, we will use our own judgment, accepting any assistance we can get, as to how that money is to be appropriated. I don't think any of us are entirely satisfied that the lump sum idea works out to the best satisfaction. There is another thought that occurs to me in considering this bill, and that is this: That the legislature will appropriate a certain amount of money to be used by the legislative branch of the state government, but that money cannot be expended until the governor approved it because on page 2 of this bill, it is stated that the words, "spending agency," shall include the legislative branches of the state government, so that the legislative branch of the state government which means the House and Senate is the spending agency, and then you turn over to the last page of the bill, page 10, and it states, "that no appropriations shall become available for the expenditure by any spending agency until such agency shall submit to the governor quarterly estimates of the amount required for each activity." Wouldn't that be a fine condition? We sit here as a legislative body and we have an Appropriation Committee, and we decide that the legislature shall have for the next two years a certain amount of money and we come here and we pass it, and the Senate passes it, but before we can spend the money which we have appropriated for our own use, we have got to ask the Governor for permission to do so, because for every quarterly period we have got to submit to the governor that for the next four months or six months we are going to spend so much and say, "Won't you please let us do it."

What a travesty it would be for us to appropriate money for our work. So it occurs to be for these two reasons, among other reasons submitted by the gentlemen who have spoken in opposition to this bill, the bill should be voted down.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I feel heartily appreciative to the gentlemen who have criticized this bill for the very helpful and honest suggestions which they have made. I don't think that the colors which they have used in their painting have been in any way under-emphasized. For instance, at the present time, we appropriate money for the legislature, and as an appropriation it has to be approved by the governor. There is no doubt whatever about that. The fact to my mind is clear that in order to regulate expenditures we have got to bring them under some unit fiscal control. I order to regulate expenditures, you have got to have some uniformity of method to bring them all together and the budget is that method. If the governor recommends appropriation bills, the legislature still has its freedom either to increase or decrease or introduce new bills. Now, suppose there is no limitation along that line. All that this bill attempts to do is to gather and get the information at the beginning of the session which a legislature needs in order to act intelligently. That is the object of any budget bill, and that is the object of the budget bills that are prepared by all corporations of this size. Now, as a business corporation we have a method presented to us whereby we can get the financial information that we need. It may not perhaps be a perfect bill, although no amendments have been suggested to it, but is it not at any rate better than nothing, which it what we have now.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not prepared to say whether this is a meritorious bill or not, but I am certain that it is not workable in a great many counties because of the character and structure of the jails. I wish especially to call the attention of the sponsor to a few things in the bill, which I think should be corrected before the bill is enacted into law, if it ever is, on page 1, line 4, prisons are designated as jails. On page 1, lines 9 and 10, it refers to jails and prisons. On page 2, sections 3, lines 18 and 19, there is reference to county jails or workhouses. Now a workhouse is not a jail in the ordinary acceptance of the term. I think the bill should be so worded as to give rise to no uncertainty of the meaning of it, if it is enacted into law.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. John G. Marshall, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARIG. Where is the word "workhouse" which you speak of?

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. On page 2, section 3, line 19, you will find the words "county jail and workhouse."

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, insofar as the typographical changes which have just been suggested are concerned, I am perfectly willing to have those changes made as requested by the gentleman from Beaver, but I feel that this bill at this time in the session, should not be held up here just for that purpose. I feel that those changes can be made by the Senate committee, and thus the matter may be expedited. This bill does two things in the first place, it broadens the field somewhat in which prisoners may be employed. So far as the objections to that is concerned, I think they have already been removed. The labor representatives in the House who objected to it, suggested certain things, and I agreed to have it amended, so that objections from that source have been removed. The second thing it does is to provide for a system of compensation. I have believed for years, and there are many other people down in my county and they have believed for years, that these prisoners might be put to work and that the county or prison authorities might pay them a small sum for their work, so that when they leave institutions they will not be cast out on society without having anything to start with. I understand the Penal Reform Society has looked this bill over and that they consider it a good measure, although it did not originate from that source. This bill was originated by myself as well as by other people in my county, but the Penal Reform Society considers it a good bill. I believe it is a humane measure. I see very little objection to it, I would like to have the principle established more than anything else. I do not have any objections to having the bill amended as suggested, but I would like to have this principle established so that in these county jails where the living is not ideal, and we all know the saying, "An idle brain is the Devil's workshop," this principle can be put into effect. I believe a bill of this kind would redound to the benefit of the prisoners themselves and at the same time for the welfare of everybody concerned. I do not think this bill should be held up at this time in the session, and I am perfectly willing to have the changes made in the Senate which have been suggested by the gentleman from Beaver.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McVICAR Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend page 2, lines 23, 24, 25 and 26 by striking out "at least one hundred and not more than five hundred copies of said statement shall be printed at the expense of the borough and shall be placed in the hands of the borough secretary for general distribution" and inserting in lieu thereof "Such statement shall be published in the manner required by law for auditors statements and audits"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. VICKERMAN

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 671, entitled

An Act to amend sections one and three of the act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred ninety-three) entitled "An act providing for assistance to certain mothers providing for the appointment of boards of trustees for the several counties of the Commonwealth and for the appointment of a State supervisor and assistants and fixing the salaries of such State supervisor and assistants defining the powers and duties of boards of trustees including the power of appointing assistants and investigators and the distribution of funds at their disposal providing for the apportionment of the State appropriation among the several counties and requiring counties coming under the provisions of the act to appropriate certain moneys and providing penalties"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the postponed calendar for quite a long time. It is the Mothers' Assistance Act, and makes two changes in the present law. The reason for the bill being on the calendar so long is that there was some objection to some parts of the bill. I desire to ask unanimous consent to eliminate that part of the bill and have it go over for printing. Therefore, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 25, by striking out the word "all" and inserting in lieu thereof "All"

Amend sec. 2, page 4, line 12, by striking out the words "and to attain this end she" and eliminating them from the bill.

Amend sec. 2, page 4, lines 13 to 18 by striking out all the words contained in lines 13 to 18 both inclusive, and eliminating them from the bill and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "she shall visit at least twice each year the boards of trustees of each county accepting the provisions of this act."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar

The House resumed the consideratin on third reading of House Bill No. 469, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of an act, approved the twelfth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred nineteen), entitled "An act regulating certain political parties; providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices, the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions, and of certain officers, including State committeemen; a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States; and the payment by the several counties, and their reimbursement by the State, of the expenses of the same; authorizing the State committee of a political party to make, and to alter, amend, and revoke rules; and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein; and repealing inconsistent legislation," as amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill was prepared by Mr. Thorn in the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office, who has had charge for many years of the election matters in Harrisburg, and who is, perhaps, the most expert man in the State on election questions, and election procedure. This bill makes a change in the primary day of the Spring primaries, the contention being that they did not have sufficient time under the present law to determine the delegates to the national convention. It changes the present Spring primary from the present date in May to the fourth Tuesday of April, and I would ask the approval of the bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 963, is an amendment to the Sales Act recommeded by the Commission on Uniform State Legislation. As I have had occasion to say before in the House, and as the members of the House well know, these commissioners are Judge Hargest, Walter George Smith and Judge Stockley. This commission meets from time to time annually to recommend changes in the business laws, and they are recommended to all states at the same time, to make the business practice uniform. The amendment in this bill has to do with the Sales document and the sales title which may have been fraudulently negotiated by an owner. The idea is to make such a document when one has given value for it innocently to make that title valid in the hands of the holder, just as it was in the warehouse receipt case which you passed a week ago. The idea it to take the warehouse receipts and the sales receipts and to give them something of the characteristics of a negotiable instrument. This amendment was recommended by these commissioners, and I hope the members of the House will vote for it.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1408, (Senate Bill No. 511), entitled:

An Act making it a misdemeanor to forge or to make or manufacture any object with intent of representing or of permitting the same to be represented as an archaeological specimen or to sell or exchange or to possess for the purpose of selling or exchanging as such any object so unlawfully forged made or manufactured and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have some member of the House explain the reason or the purpose of this bill. Is there any person present that can give an explanation? As there does not seem to be any person here able to give any information on the bill, I wish to call the attention of the members to it. I read over the bill rather hastily, and it provides that nobody is permitted to manufacture any imitation or copy of an archaeological statue or mummy or object. What the purpose of such a bill as this would be, I cannot imagine, but it might result in inconvenience to certain shop keepers who are now manufacturing various trinkets and articles of the old king of Egypt who has just been discovered. Whether it is wise to manufacture articles of that kind or whether it is not, I do not think that is a question for legislative enactment. Therefore, in the absence of any good reason why this bill should pass, it seems to me that a bill of this character should be defeated.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I wonder whether the gentleman from York is not mistaken in his idea of the bill, because I had the same question in mind when I first read the bill. According to the phraseology in lines 6 and 7, it does not prevent or make unlawful the manufacture or reproduction of any archaeological object unless it be with intent to represent it to be an original. In other words, you can make any number of copies, but in line 7, it says, "not with intent to represent such an object to be an original or a genuine archaeological specimen, with the intent to deceive. I think, in view of that question, the objection of the gentleman from York might be withdrawn.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Montgomery, in line 3, starting at line 3, it says, "that it is unlawful to make or manufacture a reproduction, copy or forgery of any archaeological object," and then it goes on to say, "to make or manufacture any object, whether copied or not, with the intent to represent such object to be an original." Under the provisions of that act, any person who would manufacture any reproduction or copy or forgery of an archaelogical object would be guilty of a crime and subject to a penalty therefor. I think the bill is rather a dangerous bill, and might be very fretful to many people.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I haven't any interest in the bill at all, but as a matter of courtesy to the senator who introduced it, in order to give him a chance to have it explained, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1406, (Senate Bill No. 489), entitled:

O Lord, Thou God of heaven and earth, we come to Thee this morning hour, as we take up the duties of another day, realizing that we are not sufficent for the tasks without Thy divine aid and Thy divine blessing resting upon us. We, therefore, pray this morning that Thou wouldst endue each one with the necessary wisdom and knowledge and grace to discharge the duties and obligations that rest upon us. Help us to realize the seriousness of life and the tremendous responsibility with which it is fraught. Enable us to invest our talents, that we may glorify Thee and hear from Thine own lips Thy divine benediction when life's work is ended. We ask it in the name of Christ. Amen.

Dear Sir: At a meeting of the Judges of the Courts of Oyer and Terminer, General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, held April 23, 1923, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved that it is the belief of the Judges of the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, that the passage of Bill No. 986 (Session of 1923), now pending before the General Assembly, by which provision is made for the establishment of a State Industrial Farm, will go far to improve conditions at the Eastern Penitentiary, now over-crowded to a most undesirable degree, and also provide an opportunity by practical experiment to work out a proper solution of the important problem of the reclamation and reformation of those convicted of crime; and Resolved that this resolution of the said Judges be laid before the General Assembly in a suitable memorial under the seal of said courts."

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE CHANGES IN SENATE BILL NO. 586.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I am directed by the Committee appointed to make investigation of the changes made in Senate Bill No. 586, to present the following report.

Your Committee by virtue of a resolution passed April 23 1923 to investigate what amendments had been made to Senate Bill 586 and the manner in which said amendments had been made, repectfully reports:

That a meeting of said Committee was held on Tuesday April 24, 1923, at which meeting the testimony of witnesses was taken. From the testimony so taken, your Committee finds the following facts:

That in the printing of the additional 2500 copies of Senate Bill 586 as authorized by resolution of the Senate, more than 150 amendments have been made.

That some of these amendments consist of the correction of typographical errors but that many of them consist of the addition of entirely new matter and in the elimination of words, clauses and phrases appearing in the original Bill.

That many of the clauses of said Bill have been substantially rewritten and the meaning thereof changed.

That these amendments were inserted in the Bill by direction of the Superintendent of Public Printing and Binding who did so at the express direction of William H. Schnader, a Special Deputy Attorney General of this Commonwealth.

That said William H. Schnader admitted to the Committee, and the Committee finds it as a fact, that both the subject matter of the amendments and the method of having them inserted in the Bill by the State Printer, without action by the Senate or any Committee thereof, were submitted to and approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Attorney General, Commissioner of Forestry and the Governor himself.

That Section 11 of Article 4 of the Constitution provides as follows: "He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly information of the state of the Commonwealth and recommend to their consideration such measures as he may judge expedient."

That this constitutional provision is the only authority the Executive Department or any of its officers have for even suggesting legislation to the General Assembly and confers no authority whatever upon the Executive Department for the amendment of Bills pending before the Senate.

That William H. Schnader., Special Deputy Attorney General, had no authority, either express or implied, from the Senate or any Committee thereof, for the insertion of these amendments.

That these amendments so made to Senate Bill 586 was an unwarranted assumption of legislative prerogatives by the Executive Department and constitutes an infringement upon legislative authority.

That such action tends to bring acts of the General Assembly into disrepute and lends doubt to the authenticity of Bills pending before the Senate and is in general an infringement upon the powers and prerogatives given to the General Assembly by the Constitution of the Commonwealth, which it will be observed by reading of the Constitution is placed first in importance.

In view of these findings of fact, the Committee recommends to the Senate the adoption of the following

RESOLUTION.

"Resolved that William H. Schnader,, a Special Deputy Attorney General of this Commonwealth, be and is hereby publicly censured for an unjustified and unwarranted intrusion upon the prerogatives of the Senate, and be further Resolved that the Governor of this Commonwealth be advised that it is the judgment of the Senate that the said William H. Schnader, by his contemptuous disregard of the rules of the Senate and his admitted lack of knowledge of the laws and rules regulating the procedure of the Senate, has shown his unfitness for holding his present position, and that he should immediately be dismissed from the public service.

W. D. CRAIG
HORACE W. SCHANTZ
C. W. SONES

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, it seems to me that the resolution is a rather severe criticism of a member of the executive branch of the government, and rather unnecessarily severe it seems to me, in view of all circumstances. It has been the custom of this Senate, so far as I have been able to ascertain, to deal rather generously with members in the public service, particularly those members whose experience has been newly undertaken, and whose own personal sincerity in their work is known to be undoubted. Now it is quite possible that the Deputy Attorney General, acting in a matter of haste to secure the presentation of an important measure of this kind to the Senate, acted without that care and consideration which he would have exercised if he had given the matter more serious thought, but certainly I can say from a long personal acquaintance with the Deputy Attorney General that he is a thoroughly high-minded young man, a member of the Philadelphia Bar, who bears a reputation second to none, who is an admitted expert in the preparation of bills, and who has earned the respect and commendation of his associates in the courts of that county. I should regret exceedingly to see the Senate of Pennsylvania, with its reputation for fairness and generosity, go on record in terms of severe condemnation of a young man, newly entered in the public service, whose bearing, whose manner, and whose sincerity is undoubted in his desire to do his full duty. It seems to me that the finer and more decent thing for this Senate to do would be to refer this resolution to the Committee on Resolutions and have it considered more earnestly and more carefully by that Committee, and I am hoping that the Senator who moved the immediate consideration of this resolution, and the Senator from Lehigh who seconded it, will be willing that I should introduce a motion to have this resolution considered in more detail and more carefully by the Committee on Resolutions of this body. I should like to so move if the Senator from Beaver and the Senator from Lehigh will accept such motion.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I would like to join in the request of the Senator from Montgomery, that this matter be not hastily passed upon, as I have had some acquaintance with Mr. Schnader. He has impressed me in just the same way that the Senator from Montgomery has described it. I know that he is a young man who is very earnest in anything that he does, and whatever was done here, any slight violation, or whatever you call it, was not done intentionally on his part, but was done for the purpose of giving to the general public some information which they were entitled to have. As I understand, the original bill had a great many errors in it and there were a few changes made, but it was made in connection with the 2500 editions of the bill which were to be sent out for the information of the public, and certainly it was to the advantage of the public that that bill that was sent out would correspond with the bill that was actually going to be considered. The fact that the bill, when it was originally introduced,—I presume is in the hands of the Chairman yet, and the copy of it I presume at the printer was not the original bill at all, but there were errors which were corrected and some few changes which I understand were made and they were changes which were going to be considered by the Committee and, it seems to me, to pass hastily a resolution of this kind censuring a young man who bears an excellent reputation, who is a member of the Bar of Philadelphia, as has been stated, an attorney like a great many of us here are attorneys, it would be very harsh and quick action taken upon a matter which may not be so serious to us here, we can readily vote on this and pass this resolution, but it does mean very much to that young man perhaps in his future, and certainly this Senate does not want to go on record so hastily, blasting perhaps a young man's future, and that might happen in the passage of this resolution. Certainly there is enough willingness on the part of the Senators here to consider this matter very carefully before you act upon this resolution and I think the request of the Senator from Montgomery is very proper and decent and not an unreasonable one, and I certainly hope that the Senator who offered the resolution will permit the motion of the Senator from Montgomery to be made.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am a friend of Mr. Schnader's and I cannot, therefore, vote for this resolution. I think the error that was committed against the dignity of the Senate was entirely innocent on his part, and I am sorry that the resolution goes so far as it does. I cannot, therefore, support it.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I feel that I would be unjust to the party against whom this resolution is directed, as well as cowardly, if I did not rise to say that I think a misunderstanding has crept into this whole situation. I want to say that Mr. Schnader called on me as the sponsor of the bill and said to me that there were a number of typographical errors and some slight changes that were desirable to be made in the pink bill and asked me whether I had any objection to their being made. I told him I had not and as the bill was simply the pink bill, which is not an official bill of this legislature, but simply a bill which was printed to give to the general public a knowledge of what the proposed legislation means. I feel that this resolution is going too far against the young man who stands well at the Philadelphia Bar, who is a member of one of the leading law firms of the City of Philadelphia, and for whom I have a personal regard through the contact with which I have had with him in consultation on this bill. I do not believe that the young man had any intention to deceive anybody. If it was a mistake it was one of the head and not of the heart, but an honest desire to save money to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania in the 2500 bills that were ordered to be printed, in order that as many people as might desire it should have a full knowledge of the proposed legislation known as the Administration Code, and I am very hopeful, because I know that both my colleagues, the Senator from Beaver and the Senator from Lehigh, at heart are absolutely honest and well meaning, and I hope that before any drastic action as is proposed to be taken by this resolution is voted on that they, as well as the other members of this Senate, may have time for reflection as to just what this means. Once you write this on the record of the Senate of Pennsylvania it is there, not for tonight or for this week, but for all time, and I do not feel that the action of the young Deputy of the Attorney General's Department deserves condemnation for life upon an act that has so little significance as this. Mr. President, in conclusion I sincerely hope that my colleagues, who have moved and seconded the adoption of this resolution will reconsider their determination, at least give us time for more mature reflection upon a resolution so far reaching.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, it is a well known principle of criminal law that ignorance of the law excuses no one. If the Senate of Pennsylvania wanted a whitewashing committee this time it got hold of the wrong bunch. I want to say that so far as I am concerned I am not asking for any snapjudgment, or anything of the kind. If my colleagues on this committee are agreeable, I do not understand Senator Stites' motion, but so far as I am concerned I am not asking for any snapjudgment and if the other two members of the Committee are agreeable to have the final action on this resolution postponed I have no objection to that, but so far as the report is concerned, the committee stands on its ground. We were appointed to investigate this matter and we investigated it honestly and we brought in a report based upon the facts, warranted by testimony, and the committee has done its duty, As I said before, it did not undertake these duties with any intention or effort to do anybody any injustice, injury or harm, but just as little to whitewash anybody, and what the Senate of Pennsylvania is going to do with this resolution rests entirely within the sound judgment and discretion of this body.

I disagree with my friend from Chester that this was not an official bill. The Constitution of Pennsylvania says that no bill shall be considered until referred to a committee, returned therefrom and printed for the use of the members. That is the first step essential, the constitutional step. When a bill comes into this body the presiding officer, the President, refers it to a committee, and it must be printed constitutionally, the bill introduced, and no other bill, and for anybody, and I do not care who did it, or who does it, to try to alter a bill in committee without the sanction or the authority of the committee, is a gross usurpation of the functions of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. All legislative authority is vested in us and nobody else. The legislative power of this Commonwealth shall be vested in the General Assembly, which shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, not of the Governor nor of the Attorney General nor of anybody else the Senate and the House, and as I said before, I do not know what the sentiment is of my colleagues. I will have more to say on this matter when it comes up for final adoption and if the other members of the committee want to have the report go over for further deliberation or consideration, I have no serious objection, but the committee has performed its duty and the report is here. I have seen in criminal court many men sentenced whom I pitied, and for whom my heart bled, and I pity this young man. Certainly I do pity every person who through some inference of the law or misfortune, or for any reason, must face the bar of justice, and I am not seeking the destruction of this man's reputation, but we are simply doing our duty as Senators of this body and have so reported our findings.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I am disposed to insist upon the consideration of this resolution, because, as a Senator I should be ashamed of myself were I to do anything else. Mr. President, I know that in criminal court evidence of previous good character is substantive evidence and I am willing, Mr. President, to have the members of this Senate in making up their minds, whether they are going to vote for this resolution of censure or not, to consider that previously this young man bore a good reputation.

I want to say to you, gentlemen, what the testimony at this hearing developed: The State Printer testified that after this bill had been introduced, referred to committee, printed and was placed on our files, Mr. Schnader called him on the telephone and asked him to insert these more than 150 amendments, that he very properly, I wish to say for him, refused to do so, and that later Mr. Schnader brought the amendments to him. Now, what he brought, the testimony shows, was the printed copy which was on our files, Senate Bill No. 586, and on that printed copy were interlineations showing the amendments that he wished made and induced the State Printer to insert them.

Mr. Schnader testified that not only was the subject matter of these amendments, but the manner of inserting them in the bill, submitted to and approved by the Commissioner of Forestry, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Attorney General and the Governor himself; not only the subject matter of the amendments but the manner of having them inserted in the bill.

That is what you are face to face with, gentlemen, and I want to discuss this without heat, if I can. This young man is a lawyer, a member of the bar of the State. He is more than that, he is a Deputy Attorney General of Pennsylvania, and he cannot get away from his official capacity in this business. He is a member of the Attorney General's force and speaks for the Attorney General's Department, and if you members of this Senate are willing to surrender your rights and your duties to your constituents to the Attorney General's Department of the Commonwealth, I am not, and that is why I am going to insist that this resolution be voted upon. If you want to vote it down and say to your people back home that you are not Senators, that it does not make any difference, you are willing to have the Attorney General's Department of this Commonwealth change your bills, go to it. I would be ashamed to go back home and tell my people that I was willing to do that.

Now what are these amendments? I am not going to take up your time and tell you what they are, there are more than one hundred and fifty of them, inserts, how many additions God only knows, because not only was matter put in but matter was taken out and the copy that was placed on our desks does not show what was striken out. This was not merely the correction of typographical errors, gentlemen. I say to you that even if it had been nothing but that it was a most reprehensible thing to do, but it was more than that. There appears in this reprint of the bill matter that was not even in the bill introduced by Senator Eyre. Mr. Schnader did not have his bill properly written and he said to the committee that after he had made a more mature study of the legislation, he discovered that there were things that ought to have been in that were not in and things that ought to come out that were in and he rewrote the bill, that is what he did, changed it to suit himself, and took it down to the state printer, and had the changes inserted. And I say further to you that that bill with those changes in it was on my desk and on yours. I believe the testimony will fairly show, before he even mentioned the matter to Senator Eyre.

Now let us look at this thing, gentlemen. It is a serious matter. Either we are making the laws or we are not. I do not want to do any harm to Mr. Schnader. If he is only ignorant, he ought to resign. He is a member of the Attorney General's Department and we do not want ignorant men in there. This is the department that passes upon the constitutionality of your bills. This is the department that seeks in the Administrative Code to write your bills. This is the department that is responsible for the amendments to this bill. Why, Mr. Schnader took the position before the committee that a bill was not a bill until it had been referred to a Committee and the Committee had taken action on it. He did not know that the bill became a bill when it was read in place and presented to the chair. That is the abysmal depth of his ignorance, and he is a member of the Attorney General's Department and passes upon the constitutionality of your measures. I have no personal interest in this matter, gentlemen, but I am jealous of my prerogatives as a Senator. The Constitution of Pennsylvania very carefully seeks to avoid infringements upon legislative powers by the Executive. If you are willing to refuse to pass the resolution censuring this thing, and I tell you it strikes at the very foundation of your enactment of legislation, if you are willing to go back home and say I do not care how many changes the Attorney General's Department makes in my bills, I am willing to surrender my rights as a Senator to the rights of the Attorney General's Department to amend it as he sees fit, if you are willing to go back home and say that is the way I represent you, then vote against this resolution. But if you think anything of yourself as a Senator, if you are at all impressed with the manner in which laws are required to be made by the Constitution, if you care anything for your place in this Senate Chamber and for the sanctity of the laws that you make, you ought to vote for this resolution. I say to you, that it is not half severe enough when you consider the enormity of the offence committed, and to plead that he was ignorant of what he was doing is no excuse. Now that is the thing that is at issue. That is why I must insist upon the consideration of this resolution. I am not urging you to vote for it, if you think so little of the powers and rights and duties of a member of this body to admit that the Attorney General's Department may at the direction of the Executive, amend your legislation, vote against the resolution, but let us stand up and be counted and show whether we are submissive to whatever they may choose to hand us or whether we are standing on our rights to enact legislation ourselves, without interference from any other department. But let us vote upon it and show where we stand. This is the time for a test as to whether our titles here in this legislative hall mean anything to us or not. And this is a much deeper question, gentlemen, than whether Mr. Schnader made a mistake or whether he did not. The question is not Schnader, he happens to be the man in front of the gun, the question is whether we are making the laws or whether they are being made in the other end of this Capitol building, and that is what you are to decide by your vote. Someone has whispered to me, agree to a postponement of this resolution and you will get it later. No, I will not agree. If we are men we will pass it, if you do not care, vote it down. But let us know where we stand, let us say to the Governor, here, we do not care how much you amend our legislation or let us say to him, we are making the laws as the Constitution says we must.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I too am jealous of my prerogatives as a Senator. I believe that this young man made a mistake but from all that has been said I am saitisfied that he had no intention of setting at naught the Constitution of this State. The fact that he spoke to the sponsor of this bill, convinces me that he was desirous of making corrections. He should not have done it, that is true, but I cannot consider the young man, under all the circumstances, as a criminal. Mr. President and members of the Senate, let us at this time temper justice with mercy and I trust this motion will not prevail.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, may I ask that the resolution be read the second time. The Resolution was read as follows:

> Resolved that William H. Schnader, a Special Deputy Attorney General of this Commonwealth, be and is hereby publicly censured for an unjustified and warranted intrusion upon the prerogatives of the Senate, and be it further Resolved that the Governor of this Commonwealth be advised that it is the judgment of the Senate that the said William H. Schnader, by his contemptuous disregard of the rules of the Senate and his admitted lack of knowledge of the laws and rules regulating the procedure of the Senate, has shown his unfitness for holding his present position, and that he should immediately be dismissed from the public service."

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President and fellow Senators: Perhaps I ought not to say anything at this time, but for the remarks of the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Craig, that this is a question of manhood, and inasmuch as I propose to vote against the resolution, I desire to say that I think I have just as much manhood as any other Senator in this body. I cannot from the experience that I have had in the office of District Attorney for six years, come to a realization that this is any quarter sessions court. If I had charge of any indictments such as this particularly against a member of the bar, our profession that we honor, that we want the public to honor, I would ask the court for permission to nol pros the case. But it has been shown by the report which has been submitted here that this was not done with the idea of perpetrating anything upon this Senate in the way of a criminal act, but if you take the bill as reprinted and all the changes are italicized, is that the job of a criminal? I do not believe that this Senate should go into such small matters as to arraign this administration and put the burden, if there is any burden to be placed, upon the Deputy Attorney General. Why do you not go all the way along the line? You mentioned the Governor, you mentioned the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth; why do you not indict all of them instead of taking a subordinate and attempting to indict a young man before this bar? I have the manhood to vote against the resolution This recommendation should not have been made. This committee had no power to make this recommendation. They were appointed to investigate and lay the facts before this Senate. They have laid the facts before this Senate but not with the idea that they should make a recommendation in the way of the resolution being placed before we have time to give it a thought and to give it the thought and dispassionate judgment wihch it ought to receive, and we as members of this body, dignified as we are, slow-moving, in the exterme courtesy we extend to each other, is it fair to a member of this official family to be paraded before the public in this manner. I will not stand for it and I think there is just as much red blood in me as the other Senators and I trust that they will not sustain this resolution. It is unfair and not in acordance with the facts. Senator Eyre has already spoken and he believes that it was a misunderstanding and why indict this young man before the bar of the Senate?

Mr. CHRISTLEY. Mr. President, I may not see this thing in its proper proportion, but it strikes me as a tempest in a tea pot. I cannot see it as this committee sees it, and no man in this Senate has a higher regard for the intelligence and integrity of this committee than I have. I never met Mr. Schnader until within a week I do not know his record, I know nothing about it. He is a pleasing young man to me and he is a man that impressed me as a gentleman and a man of entire honesty and integrity.

Now to brand such a young man, starting in life with ambitions as loftly as the stars, to blacken his career through life with the resolutions that we are asked to adopt here tonight, is unspeakable to me. I cannot vote for it, and I cannot see how any man who has gone through life, making mistakes as we all have, can vote for it. "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone." This is preposterous to me, to single out this young man, brand him as a criminal, because if he is to resign, as this recommendation is and he is thrown out of his position, and goes home to his people, discredited at Harrisburg, he is a criminal; at least we have said we think he is, and I do not believe he is a criminal. His face does not indicate it, as I have discerned it in the last three days that I have known him. Now let us see what it is. Is there any deception? If there is I do not see it. The corrections made in the bill were printed in italics. If they were intended to deceive anybody they would have been printed in the script of the text of the bill. There was no intention to deceive. I would not argue that it was proper, I do not argue that it was the right thing to do, but the malice or intention to do wrong never entered that young man's mind, if I have discerned properly, and that is true it would be a crime for us members of the Senate, of mature years, knowing how easy it is for any of us to make a mistep, to vote to brand that young man as a criminal and send him home to his people discredited. I cannot vote for this resolution.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I do not desire to say anything more upon the subject matter of this resolution. I wish to correct a statement made, I am sure without any intention to misquote, by my good friend Senator MacDade, and I wish to read the last paragraph of the resolution which appointed this committee: "The Committee is hereby directed to make report of its findings to the Senate and such report shall set forth its recommendations with regard to any action that it suggests be taken by the Senate."

Just one thing in reply to Senator Christley. Mr. President, matter has been cut out of this reprinted bill, and the matter deleted is not shown on the reprint.

Mr. SCHANTZ. I just wanted to state what Senator Craig just said, that while it is true that the amendments inserted are printed in italics, it is shown in the bill that matters eliminated are not indicated and shows what Senator Christley said is partly true and partly not true.

I would like to know how any member of this Senate, who did not hear the testimony, who did not have an opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witnesses and all that, the things which are taken into consideration by a Court and a jury where the witnesses are upon the stand to ascertain whether the witness is credible, whether he is speaking the truth or not, that such Senator who missed and did not have all these opportunities, should now try to tell the Senate what the intent and the ideas and the purposes were, and also at this late day, when we have done our duty fearlessly and bring in a report instead, of adopting the resolution, censure the Committee for doing its duty. We did exactly what we were directed to do in the resolution, and for doing that I think the Committee is now going to be censured. We are not making a criminal out of this young man. If the resolution is not broad enough, if it ought to include higher ups, we are willing to take in more. If that is the criticism,—that the resolution ought not to be adopted because it is too narrow, and that others ought to be embraced in it, any member of this body has the opportunity of offering amendments, but because not everybody gets caught it does not follow that one who is caught should not receive his just dues. Two wrongs never make a right, and and I certainly cannot agree with the proposition that because somebody else should also be censured those that are to be censured be excused.

I say that I second everything that was said by the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Craig, that if the Senate feels like censuring the Committee instead of adopting the resolution, that is all within its province, it will have no effect upon our constitutional prerogatives and duties. I say what Senator Craig has said, the resolution is not nearly severe enough. Such usurpation and infringement should be halted and the sooner the better. My sympathies are with every young man who makes a misstep, always have been, and I believe in tempering justice with mercy, but here is mercy galore. The sentence is too light. Here is mercy in full measure and justice, and I hope that the Senate of Pennsylvania will not stulify itself by any spread-eagle and sympathetic speeches. That is the kind of a plea that you make to an ignorant jury, that is not the kind of a plea that you make to the Senate of Pennsylvania. You judge the question on its merits and you pass upon it without anything else, without the consideration of the individual, without the consideration of the personality, but on the testimony and nothing else. When you have an ignorant jury you take out your handkerchief and you begin to shed tears and all that sort of thing, but you do not do that before any intelligent body like the Senate of Pennsylvania, and I say the resolution ought to be adopted unanimously, gentlemen. Moreover, if you want to vote it down and censure us, do not pity us in doing it.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, when I rose from my seat a few moments ago it was with the idea that the day of which Tennyson spoke when he referred to the larger heart and the kindlier hand was still in contemplation by the Senate of Pennsylvania. I have very reluctantly come to the conclusion that that spirit has departed from this body. We are forced to vote upon a resolution which in our calmer moments and our temperate judgment we never in the world would force this body to put itself on record with reference to it.

The suggestion has just been made by the Senator from Lehigh that if we fail to vote for this resolution we censure the committee. I do not so understand the function of the Senate of Pennsylvania in voting upon the report of any committee. What higher Court of this Commonwealth would vote upon the action of the lower court without the notes of testimony taken in a proceeding before it? None, I take it. We have not before us the notes of testimony that were taken in this case and yet the gentleman who offers this resolution insists upon it that we shall vote now without a moment's consideration upon a statement of what happened at that hearing. I have too high a regard to the fine traditions of the bar of Pennsylvania to censure any member of it upon a hearing at which I was not present and where I have not the notes of testimony before me. In my judgment this Senate tries always to do its honest, fair, and consistent duty toward everybody. The Senator from Lehigh says that the sentence of this young man, proposed by this resolution, is not severe enough. Well let us see. The resolution says "contemptuous disregard of the prerogatives of the Senate." Rather a strong sounding action

It goes farther and asks the Senate of Pennsylvania to recommend the dismissal of this fine young servant from the work of this Commonwealth. He shall go back to his home with the condemnation of fifty members of the great Commonwealth of almost nine millions of people upon what? Upon the testimony before it? Not at all. But upon the statement of what took place at the hearing. Now the Senator from Lehigh said that that sentence is not severe enough. What would he do? Does he mean that the young man should be hanged, drawn and quartered and his body suspended from the flagstaff at the top of the capitol? To my mind I think the sentence is very severe and never in the world would I vote to condemn any man unless I knew the testimony taken at that hearing. On the other side the the President Pro Tempore of this body, in whose word everyone of us has the utmost confidence, and he says that the young man in question came to him, consulted him at length with regard to these proposed amendments.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, will state his point of order.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, my point of order is that I have been misquoted. I did not make the statement that I was consulted at length relative to the amendment, for I never saw any of the amendments until I saw them in the bill. I simply make that correction.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I am very glad to receive the detailed statement of the Senator from Chester. I had no idea of misquoting him. I did desire, however, to say that the intention of Mr. Schnader was entirely innocent because before he had taken the action that he did he took the matter up with the Senator from Chester, who at the time was the sponsor of the bill.

Now the suggestion has further been made that the Governor of this Commonwealth approved of the manner of inserting these amendments. Does anybody believe for a minute that that high-minded splendid gentleman who sits at the other end of this building has any intention of deceiving the Senate with regard to any measure that comes before it? I do not think so and I do not believe any member of the Senate thinks so. We are about to vote on this resolution and I want to go on record now as saying that I tried to avoid the vote that is about to be taken by a suggestion along the line of Senatorial courtesy and along the line of what I believe to be fair and decent and right on the part of the members of this body, but since the vote is about to be taken let us take it and let us record whether or not the Senate of Pennsylvania believes that the young man who made perhaps an innocent mistake ought to go home condemned by the censure of a body of intelligent men who have not before them the testimony upon which this committee proposes that he be censured.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Craig and Mr. Stites, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—11.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 390, as follows:

An Act creating the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" Appropriating a Portion of the State Tax on anthracite coal to the use of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine

Cave Commission and Imposing Duties upon the State Treasurer and Auditor General

Whereas subsidences of the surface commonly called mine caves resulting from the mining and removal of anthracite coal have created in the anthracite region a menace to community life and to the continued existence of Municipalities forming an integral part of the Commonwealth of such proportions as to clothe with a public interest the destruction of private as well as of public property tending to jeopardize the health safety and welfare of the citizens of the Commonwealth residing in that region and

Whereas the conditions aforesaid may be greatly ameliorated and the public health safety and welfare promoted by the proper functioning of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission which has heretofore been without funds for the performance of its duties Now Therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That there is hereby created a fund to be known as the "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" to be kept by the State Treasurer separate and apart from the general revenues of the Commonwealth Said fund shall consist of a sum equal to twelve and one-half per centum of the moneys to be hereafter derived during the years one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four from the State Tax on anthracite coal less whatever moneys shall be paid into another special fund to be known as the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund provided said last mentioned fund shall be established During each year after one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four the percentage aforesaid shall be increased by a sum equal to an additional twelve and one-half per centum of said moneys until said fund shall consist of a sum equal to fifty per centum of said moneys each year less whatever moneys shall be paid from year to year if any into said "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" Said State Tax on anthracite coal herein referred to is the tax levied by virtue of the act approved May eleventh one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one entitled "An act imposing a State tax on Anthracite Coal providing for the assessment and collection thereof and providing penalties for the violation of this act"

Section 2 Said moneys so dedicated and apportioned shall by the State Treasurer be placed in a special fund to be known as the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" separate and apart from the general revenues of the Commonwealth and shall be available for the use of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission upon the requisitions of said commission from time to time and all such moneys hereafter paid into the State Treasury and placed in such special fund are hereby specifically appropriated to the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission in lieu of funds derived from other sources for the purposes described in the act creating said Commission approved May twenty-seven one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one entitled "An Act affecting anthracite coal mines and operations establishing the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission defining its jurisdiction and powers imposing duties upon owners and operators of anthracite coal mines and imposing penalties"

Section 3 Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to affect the aforesaid Act of May eleven one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one Pamphlet Laws page four hundred and seventy-nine or change the amount of tax levied thereunder and in case this Act shall be Judicially determined to be unconstitutional and ineffective the moneys hereby appropriated shall revert to such other fund as may by law be established for that purpose and in default of such fund to the general revenues of the Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, Senate Bills 390 and 391 are intended as companion bills, harmonizing with each other and forming together what is really one single piece of legislation. Owing to the necessity of meeting constitutional objections and the possiblity that one bill alone might be declared invalid, and thus denying the people living in the mine cave areas any relief whatever, it has seemed highly desirable to have the two separate bills, each forming a part of the whole plan. Two years ago this body passed a mine cave bill forbidding anthracite operators to cause the collapse of dwellings and other structures occupied by human beings. This would have put a stop to the practice of dropping the homes, churches and streets of Scranton and other anthracite cities into the mines. Many eminent lawyers, including all but one of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, believed that Act to be constitutional, but the Supreme Court of the United States has reversed this decision and now tells us that it violates the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States by taking the coal company's property without due process of law. Some other means for the relief of the dwellers in the anthracite region must be secured and every precaution must be taken to defend against attacks on constitutional grounds. That is the reason for having the two bills instead of one.

At the session of 1913, and again in 1915, the legislature passed anthracite tax laws providing in both cases that half of the tax should be returned to the anthracite communities to help them bear their peculiar burden due to the excessive damage done by their chief industry. Both of these bills were knocked out by the courts. The present bills were drafted with particular reference to overcoming the courts' objections.

In 1913 and 1915 this body recognized the right of the anthracite communities to 50 per cent. of the anthracite tax. That right is just as good today but, owing to the financial needs of the Commonwealth, the bills propose to postpone a return of so large a portion of the tax for a period of years, and at the present time ask only a total of ⅛ of the tax. The other ⅞ goes into the State Treasury.

This 1/8 is divided into two funds, known as the "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" and the "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund." Each fund is to receive 1/16 or 6-1/4 per cent. of the total tax. But for fear that the Mine Cave Fund might be invalidated by the courts, it is so arranged that in such case its 1/16 shall go to the Municipalities Fund. In other words,, instead of making the Municipalities Fund merely 1/16 of the total, it is made 1/8 less whatever is paid into the Mine Cave Fund. The Mine Cave Fund is to be 1/16, and so that would leave 1/16 in the Municipalities Fund. But in case the Mine Cave Fund is invalidated so that nothing is paid into it, then the municipalities Fund will retain the entire 2/16 or 1/8.

When the Mine Cave Act of 1921 was before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania the only Judge who found against it was Justice Kephart, who wrote a dissenting opinion. The Supreme Court of the United States overruled the Pennsylvania Court and knocked out the bill, and affirmed JudgeKephart.

These bills now before you are drawn to carry out the suggestion made by his Honor, Judge Kephart, in his opinion. This is the solution to the mine cave question which he offers us:

From Justice Kephart's opinion Mahon vs. Penna. Coal Co., 274 Pa. 570:

"While there are many cases of property damage due to subsidences, and people located thereabouts have been permitted to suffer because of what was then, and is now declared to be, a mistaken idea as to the power of an individual to sell property without surface support, yet that was the Commonwealth's blunder, and the Commonwealth should pay for its mistakes from general funds or use for this purpose the money now to be received from taxes on this very coal. No great hardship would follow that action; this indeed was the solution of this problem reached by the Constitutional Revision Commission of 1920."

ESTIMATE OF REVENUE.

During the year 1920, the last year for which we have been able to get the figures, the total tonnage of anthracite coal shipped to market amounted to 68,866,599 tons

Assuming that during the present year the tonnage is approximately 70,000,000 tons, of a market value of approximately $6.00 per ton at the mines, the total value of the year's output would amount to $420,000,000, and the tax of 1½% imposed thereon would yield, if collected in full, $6,300,000. Allowing a ten per cent. loss on collections, the total revenue would amount to $5,670,000, of which ⅛ or $708,750 would be allotted to the two funds under Senate Bills 390 and 391, divided ½ or $354,375 to each fund.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 391, as follows:

An Act creating the "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" appropriating pro rata according to population a portion of the tax on anthracite coal to the use of the Cities Boroughs and Townships from which the anthracite coal taxed was removed in course of mining and imposing duties upon the State Treasurer and Auditor General

Whereas the mining and removal of large quantities of anthracite coal has a tendency to permanently impoverish the municipalities from which it is removed and to impair the sources of municipal revenue by depreciating the value of real estate subject to taxation and at the same time imposing heavy financial burdens upon such municipalities in the protection of public highways and public buildings against dangers resulting from the removal of subjacent and adjacent support and from the damaged condition of abutting properties caused by surface subsidies commonly called mine caves Now Therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assemly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That a sum equal during the years one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four to six and one-quarter per centum and during each year thereafter equal to an additional six and one-quarter per centum until the total shall reach annually a sum equal to twenty-five per centum of the moneys to be hereafter derived from the tax on anthracite coal under and by virtue of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one entitled 'An act imposing a State Tax on anthracite coal providing for the assessment and collection thereof and providing penalties for the violation of this act" is hereby permanently dedicated and apportioned to the use of the Pennsylvania State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission

Section 2 All moneys remaining unexpended at the end of the calendar year in the said "Anthracite Mine Cave Fund" if the same shall be established shall be transferred by the State Treasurer to the said "Anthracite Municipalities Fund"

Section 3 The State Treasurer shall from time to time make such transfers and deposits of funds as may be necessary to carry this act into effect

Section 4 All moneys paid into the said "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" shall be paid yearly by the State Treasurer upon warrant of the Auditor General to the cities boroughs and townships from which any anthracite coal taxed under the aforesaid act of May eleven one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one was removed in course of mining said fund to be distributed pro rata according to population by the last preceding United States Census All moneys hereafter transferred or paid into said "Anthracite Municipalities Fund" are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinbefore mentioned

Section 5 Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to effect the aforesaid act of May eleventh one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one Pamphlet Laws page four hundred and seventy-nine or change the amount of tax levied thereunder and in case this act shall be judicially determined to be unconstitutional the moneys hereby appropriated shall revert to the general revenues of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as this resolution carries with it an appropriation, I move you that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, our legislative proceedure and rules do not require that a concurrent resolution shall be submitted, or committed to the Appropriations Committee. It is my opinion that the sole purpose of this motion is to pickle this particular resolution. We have had resolutions before carrying appropriations and they have not necessarily been committed to the Appropriations Committee. This is one of those resolutions, which, in my mind, should not be committed to the Appropriations Committee. It is an important proposition, which involves not only the majority but the minority in this Commonwealth. You are all familiar with the facts in this case; you know why this resolution was introduced. It was introduced so that the facts might be brought out, which were not brought out, relative to the case of Mr. Kephart. You likewise know that this case was started over a year ago..

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. GOLDER. The gentleman is not speaking upon the motion.

The motion before the House is whether or not this resolution shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations. Speaking on the merits of the resolution..if it has any..is not in order at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken, and the gentleman will confine himself to the question before the House.

Mr. RHODES. Under the circumstances, I have nothing further to say than this: I have heard it stated that the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has said that if this resolution ever gets into his committee, he will see that it goes in the sewer. Under these circumstances, I feel that this bill should not go to the Appropriations Committee, which is already prejudiced.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, I take exception to the remarks of the gentleman, when he says that our worthy chairman of the Appropriations Committee made any such statement. I know Mr. Harer well; I have served with him for the last three sessions, and I do not believe he is a man of that character. If a bill is referred to his committee, he will give it due consideration, and will play fair with any and every members of this House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion.

The SPEAKER announced the ayes appeared to have it,

Whereupon a division was called for, and 122 members having voted in the affirmative, the same being more than a Constitutional majority, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I move you that House Bill No. 81, file folio 5713, on page 10 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executives judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker declared the "Ayes" appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 87 members having voted in the affirmative and 56 in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HARER. I would like to serve notice upon every member of the Appropriation Committee that there will be a hearing tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock to consider the amendments to House Bill No. 81.

MEETING OF APPROPRIATION COMMITTEE.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the House, the Chair states that there will be a meeting of the Appropriations Committee tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, and the presence of all members is requested, and that a hearing will be held on the question of amending House Bill No. 81.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the Mother's Assistance Act. This bill makes one amendment to the present act, it provides for the term of office of the trustees to be six years. Last week we amended the bill taking out a clause which met with some objection in the House, that clause was that the local investigator should have the approval of the Department of Welfare at Harrisburg. That has been taken out of the bill. The present bill simply makes one amendment to the present act, that the Governor shall appoint the trustees for a term of six years.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman, permit himself to be interrogattd?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, what the purpose of this bill is.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this bill, No. 936, was prepared by the Department of Health of the State of Pennsylvania. They drafted this bill, and I understand that it has the approval of the Governor of the State. There has been a general desire for many years for a bill of this kind. Other bills have come here, but they haven't got upon the floor or on the calendar. I am not familiar with the details of this bill; this circular you have on your desks explains the bill in detail, and it is signed by the Commissioner of Health, Dr. Miner. I think it explains fully the provisions of this bill.

Mr. MANGAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MANGAN. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the question asked by my friend from Philadelphia, was not answered.

Mr. VICKERMAN. I think if the gentleman will read this letter he will find the answer there.

Mr. MANGAN. I have read the letter, and I can find nothing in the letter than answers the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. SPEAKER. I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if the law now does not cover exactly what this law that he is endeavoring to pass covers.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I might say not in my opinion and the Department of Health has told me that this act is absolutely necessary if they hope to accomplish the things they desire in Pennsylvania, and that our present law does not cover the situation as they desire. Therefore I ask you to vote for this bill.

Mr. MANGAN. Who asked those questions?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Who asked those questions? I asked the department of health myself, Dr. Miner.

Mr. MANGAN. Does not the present law cover it just as it is now?

Mr. VICKERMAN. They say it does not.

Mr. MANGAN. I desire to say to the members of this House that in the county of Allegheny they do cover this question. In the case of a female or a male who is questionable as to health, that is covered now in Allegheny county. I cannot answer for other counties, but in Allegheny county, if they are taken, they are sent to places to be taken care of, and there is no appropriation for it other than what the county appropriates. I don't know why this bill should be presented at the present time, therefore, I cannot myself vote for the act as it is presented today. I think the members of this House ought to vote this bill down. I feel that it is a question of an appropriation to be made by the State to the various counties. I feel that the various counties take care of cases of that kind, I know that the one county of Allegheny does. I don't know what they do in other counties, but in the county of Allegheny they do take care of these cases. I feel that this bill ought to be voted down.

Mr. DAVID FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, if this bill carried with it the question of health I would not voice my sentiment against it. This bill goes further than that. I feel, from the work that has been done, especially in my county and from the threatening attitude of telegrams and letters and from lobbyists who have come here to intimidate the members of our county, that for that reason I shall also be against it. A lady from our section, who has created a great deal of notoriety in the past, Mrs. Fraser, came here just recently, in the presence of my colleague and said, "If you are not for this bill, four thousand women are going to be against you." Well, the four thousand women are not going to be against me. I feel that in this measure there is a blackmailing proposition. I feel that under this bill a man or woman can be blackmailed, and I want to say to you that it was very evident that this lady who happens to be connected with the state constabulary, had that in mind when she threatened me. She answers the argument directly. I believe that the welfare workers and the women, especially the women, should go out and do something in the interest of girls. Let them do something for the uplift of girls, not run them into jails or throw them into our institutions for a year and then expect them to come out as angels. I say to you that once a girl has disgraced the name of "girl" it is mighty hard for that girl to come back. May I read to you an argument that is far stronger, my friends, then I can present here this evening, far stronger than the words of any man or woman in this House, the words of a dying girl in Pittsburgh on the 19th of this month, who took her own life in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

"Girl in death note stresses need for love and education. The note was written by a girl who took her life at the Fort Pitt Hotel last night." This was on April 19th of this year. "Please don't cause notoriety on my part, but do publish this: 'My last wish is to have the world know that every day it is the cause of a girl's steadfast inclination to do worse and worse. Just because a girl has gone wrong, often through force, so-called human beings throw them aside and don't give them a chance. What a girl needs is love, education and someone to consider their faults as a mere mistake. Please give the unfortunate girl a chance. Don't throw her open to public opinion; don't shut her in reformatories, and after a couple of years expect her to be a good angel.'

This note was signed by Ruth A. Hardy, 126 Elizabeth Street, Denver, Colorado, who committed suicide in Pittsburgh.

I want to say to you and I say it honestly as the father of a girl, that I shall try my best to protect that girl and never see that the door of my house is shut against her; and I shall say to you, if she drops to the depths of hell, I would never shut my heart or my door against that child. And I am going to do everything I can to stop fanatics who are looking for positions in this state to become notorious. This is a bill that some notoriety seeker is behind. Nothing else. We have sufficient laws to do the very thing that this bill says. It only provides a weapon whereby a man or woman can be blackmailed. Only recently, and I do not need to mention the names of prominent men, but it is only recently that that same game was played in New York City. I feel, my friends, the same as the warden at Sing Sing says, that, "our penal institutions only teach them vice and do not do the desired thing." Let us, if we are men, let us pass laws in this House and Assembly that will make it possible for a working girl to make a decent wage and give her proper living conditions. Those are the things, if we want to do something for the working girl or woman, to do something whereby we can uplift them, and let's keep their names from being spread by the newspapers, where everybody can assassinate their characters. For those foregoing reasons, I ask each and every one of you to vote against this bill.

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. MANGAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 936 be dropped from the calender.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House: I sincerely hope that this motion will not prevail. I am not seeking notoriety. I tried my best not to make a speech upon this bill. I had no desire even to do so. There has been put on your desks a plain statement of the fact by the Department of Health of Pennsylvania, and my good friend from Lackawanna stands up here and tells us he knows more about this bill than the State Department of Health of Pennsylvania does. Who wants the notoriety? Who is seeking it? Who is getting it? I am here tonight, members of this Legislature, to try to make Pennsylvania a better state for the boys and girls of the next generation to live in, and I am willing to take the advice of the Department of Health of this State when they tell me over their own signature in this House, on your desks tonight, that this bill is necessary for them to do certain things in Pennsylvania. I can stand here for twelve hours and recite to you the vice in Pennsylvania. You know the story of the war. You know the things that have happened. These men here know all these things. I am not going to take your time, but I am going to say to you that the members of this House will live long enough to realize that this bill will pass in this House before many years if we don't pass it tonight. There is a demand for this bill. The State Grange of Pennsylvania, in their last session in Pennsylvania, appointed a committee to draft this act and bring it here and suggest it in this House. The Women's Congress of Clubs at Reading, Pennsylvania last October passed a resolution in favor of this bill, and I have the honor Mr. Speaker to———

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. LAFFERTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LAFFERTY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is speaking on the bill, not on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken, and the gentleman will confine himself to the motion to drop the bill from the calendar.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I am very sorry, indeed, that through the rules I am hampered by this motion. This, I believe, is the first motion of this kind that has been made during this session. I know of no bill yet that has been stricken from this calendar, and I ask the men and women in this House, in all fairness, that we don't vote for this motion.

Miss MacKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, may I say, for the women of Pennsylvania, that they would like very much to have this House go on record on this bill that is before you today. It is not one woman's organization, but almost every woman's organization in the State. The State Federation of churches and the State W. C. T. U. are on record in favor of this bill, and we desire you to go on record in favor of or against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe that there is quite a bit of merit in the bill, and yet as drawn it is open to objection, as voiced on the floor of the House, and in one or two particulars as can be pointed out easily, the bill ought to be amended. In section 3 it provides, that "Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and to undergo imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year." That provision makes it mandatory not only to a fine of one hundred dollars, but to imprisonment for a period not to exceed one year. Under the present law, the punishment has been a flat fine of $100.00. Under this law, it would be the hundred dollar fine and amandatory prison sentence. I believe that if that section were amended so that it would be discretionary with the judge in sentencing the offender to fine or imprisonment in his discretion, that a great deal of objection to this bill would be removed.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, for the reasons I have just given I move that this bill be recommitted to the committee on Law and Order for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. NOLTE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to decide and calls for a division.

Whereupon a division was had and forty-three members voting in the affirmative, and ninety-four in the negative, and the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentlemen from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VICKERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I desire to call the gentleman's attention to paragraph "b": "The definition of the word, 'Assignation', as used in this act, shall mean the making of an appointment or engagement for prostitution." Is it your idea that if a man or women, or perhaps, a boy or girl, should make such an engagement and not keep that engagement, that they would still be guilty under this act?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that I am not an expert on this matter, therefore, I cannot answer that question.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. VICKERMAN. I will Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. It is not my intention to embarrass the gentleman; I thought he was too old for that. Can you put any other construction on that paragraph than that?

Mr. VICKERMAN. I would say to the gentleman, Mr. Alexander, this evening I submitted this bill to the attorney for the Department, and he tells me that this is exactly how he wanted the bill. Therefore, I have no authority to change it or put anything else in it but what you find in the bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to still further interrogate the gentleman on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. VICKERMAN. I will Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. On line 10, page 2, I noticed there a bracket.

Mr. VICKERMAN. I have some amendments that will cover that in the Senate.

Mr. ALEXANDER. What are the amendments?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Why, the amendments have been looked over and provide for some corrections.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Won't you tell us what they are, so that we might know?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Well, now, on page 2, section 2, line 10, by inserting a "brarcket" after the word "be" In section 2, page 2, line 10, by inserting a bracket after the word "occupy,"—a bracket after "be" and a bracket after "occupy." It is simply my desire not to take the time of the House. I want to avoid that at this time.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: It is my opinion that the laws at the present time in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania cover offenses that are set out in this bill. I had read the letter that has been referred to by Mr. Vickerman and the object of the bill as it is in that letter, and I have no hesitancy in saying that I agree with him. But there are things in this bill that I think should be amended. There are matters in this bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia called attention to one, which takes away entirely the discretion of the court as to whether or not he shall fine the defendant or whether he shall imprison him. It makes it compulsory on the part of the judge to imprison and fine. Now, on the other hand, I want to call your attention to that paragraph which I asked the gentleman about, and that is paragraph "B" on page 1. The word "assignation," as used in this act, shall mean the making of an appointment or an engagement for prostitution. You will notice, also, in this bill that there is absolutely nothing in this bill that refers to any age whatever. It is true that there are pranks, many a time, of children, of younger boys and girls, to do things that are not proper in this line, and notwithstanding that, they might make some foolish engagement and not carry that out. This bill makes him or her guilty of a misdemeanor, no matter how young they may be or how foolishly is was entered into for the purpose or anything else. Now, on the other hand, just as my friend from Lackawanna has said, this act, the way it is drawn, might well be used by a person endeavoring to blackmail somebody. The meaning of the bill as it is is too wide open and may result in blackmailing. Very easily that could be perpetrated by this bill, not only, as I referred to, in the case of boys and girls under the age of twenty-one, but carrying that further, persons over the age of twenty-one,—the fact that all it requires is an appointment. Now, I want to call your attention to the fact that a designing woman, who is endeavoring to perpetrate blaickmail on some man, need only show that a man made an appointment with her for that purpose, and this bill covers it exactly. In otherwords, if the act must be committed, if it provided that the act, in furtherance of that appointment must be committed, then she must go further and prove the act, which is much harder for her to prove than to prove, just by her word, that somebody had made an appointment with her for this purpose. I say, the way the act reads at the present time, it is too open for just such criticism that I am making on it at the present time, and while the purpose, as I say, in general, is good and as I say, after reading this letter, we cant help but agree with the purposes, yet the Act of Assembly as we have it at the present time, prohibits just what this bill prohibits. It prohibits the keeping of such houses; it prohibits the acts as set out in this bill, with the exception of the appointment, which hasn't been made a crime, and also, I may say the fine is left to the discretion of the court, who hears all the evidence. It seems to me, therefore, that before this bill should pass, it should be amended to cut out of it these objectionable features.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of this House: I did not intend to make any remarks on this bill, but it seems to me it would be unfair and unjust if I wouln't call to your attention a few points. So far as the legal points are concerned in this bill, it has been explained to use by various members here, but it appears to me that a bill of this kind should never have reached this House for this reason: In the first place, we have at the present time enough laws on our statute books to cover those conditions. It appears to me, members of this House, that there are always some people ready to punish, and punish, and punish. And I believe that it would be better to try to uplift human beings instead of punishing and punishing and punishing; and while the sponsor of this bill has positively refused to amend those points which were called to our attention by Mr. Alexander and Mr. Blumberg, I believe, ladies and gentlemen of this House, that it is our duty then to vote this bill down. I believe in fairness; I believe in law; but I don't believe in punishing and punishing and punishing! I believe in uplifting, and don't forget, ladies and gentlemen, the majority of you here in the House are raising familes of your own. Consider your own flesh and blood. Suppose there is blackmail charge made against you, what is to become of you under this bill? There is no alternative for the judge than to punish you, and I say the bill is wrong entirely and I ask you, in fairness to yourselves and in fairness to the public at large, to vote this bill down.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Golder, Lafferty, Haws, Lucas, Dunn, Edmonds, Fratt, Orr, Burd P. Evans, Glasgow, Heyburn, Aston, Armstrong and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members have joined in moving the previous quesiton.

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO EXAMINATION OF STATE BANKS.

Mr. BRENNEMAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, April 30, 1293.

Whereas, The failure of the City Bank of York and a number of other State banks throughout the Commonwealth has injuriously reflected upon the banking business of this Commonwealth and greatly disturbed business in the respective communities, and has caused great financial loss and sore distress to a large number of persons, and

Whereas, Under the laws of this Commonwealth it is the duty of the Commissioner of Banking at least twice in each year to examine thoroughly every State bank, trust company, and the business of private bankers in this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, It appears that the banks which have failed were not examined as frequently as is required by law, and that the said City Bank of York was not examined by the State department for a period of over two years, and

Whereas, It appears that these bank failures by embezzlements and thefts committed over long periods of years, which thorough and efficient examinations should have revealed before said embezzlements and thefts had become so great as to seriously affect said banks, and

Whereas, It is possible that these large embezzlements and thefts could have been averted by a vigilent and efficient inspection and supervision by the Banking Department of this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That a commission of eight citizens is hereby created which shall be composed of three members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and five members of the House, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, which commission is directed to investigate the cause, of the delinquency of the Department of Banking in its failurs to examine the State banks of this Commonwealth as directed by law, and the failure of the said Banking Department to discover upon inspection the embezzlements and thefts which were the cause of the failure of said banks.

Resolved, That the commission shall organize by the selection of a chairman and a secretary. It shall have power to hold hearings as may be deemed necessary to carry out the intent of this resolution. It shall have power to take testimony, to subpoena witnesses, and to require the production of books, papers, records and documents. If any person shall refuse to obey any subpoena issued by the commission, or fails or refuses to appear and testify, or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, the commission shall lay the facts before the General Assembly for action.

Resolved, That said Commission shall make its first report on the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three to the General Assembly, and thereafter from time to time to the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, who shall act as he deems advisable and said Commission shall make its final report to the General Assembly one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five. Such final report shall be accompanied by such legislation as the Committee shall deem necessary in the premises.

Resolved, That five thousand dollars, or as much thereof as is necessary, is appropriated from funds in the State Treasury, for the necessary expenses of the Commission.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 926, entitled:

An Act to amend section twenty-three of an act approved the first day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WONER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Butler what changes have been made to the law of 1889, what particular changes have been made by this act?

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, bill 926 was prepared very carefully by the efficient and thorough-going Auditor General of the State of Pennsylvania, after he had considered the many companies which had been organized since the act of 1889 was placed on the statute books, which act is an act to provide revenue by taxation, imposing a tax of 8 mills on each dollar of the gross receipts of certain companies. To these companies, which included every railroad company, pipe line company, conduit company, steamboat company, canal company, slack water navigation company, transportation company, street passenger railway company, and in addition to them telephone and telegraph companies, electric light companies, palace cars and sleeping car companies, the Auditor General has added to this list of joint stock companies and limited partnership, taxicab companies, autobus lines, truck transportation companies, every individual partnership, firm or unincorporated association engaged in or hereafter engaged in the transportation of freight or passenger or oil within the state; water power companies, hydro-electric companies, steam heating companies, natural or artificial gas companies incorporated or unincorporated, without regard to how such companies were originally formed or incorporated. That is the answer to your question. I want to say with regard to this bill that it was unanimously voted out by the Ways and Means Committee as a part of the plan of that Committee to raise the sum of eighteen or twenty millions of dollars, whatever it is that it is decided is necessary under the program which this legislature has already approved. Now these truck lines and taxicab lines are competing lines with the companies already paying the 8 mills on the dollar on their gross receipts. We feel that they ought to be included in this bill, and I would ask that you support it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WONER. Yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it is not a fact that this bill takes in and includes the utilities companies that were not in existence in 1889 when the original act was passed?

Mr. WONER. Absolutely, that is the purpose of the bill. It simply takes in those companies which were not in existence at the time the original act was passed.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 859, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirty-five of the act approved the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L 678), entitled "An Act relating to and regulating the use and operation of motor vehicles and vehicles propelled by, or trailing after, motor vehicles; requiring the registration of the same, and the licensing of all operators thereof; providing the fees therefor, and the disposition of such fees; prohibiting the unauthorized use of, and tampering with, motor vehicles, and the taxing, registration, or licensing thereof; imposing certain duties on the State Highway Commissioner, and on proprietors of public garages; providing procedure and penalties for violations thereof, and the disposition of fines collected, and regulating the service of process and proceedings in actions for damages arising from the use of any motor vehicle.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Little, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LITTLE. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the sponsor how much revenue does this take away from the State?

Mr. LITTLE. All the automobile fees received by the State in 1922 amounted to $87,219.79.

Mr. EDMONDS. May I ask the gentleman further, what is the object of taking that revenue away from the state, where it is used for highway purposes?

Mr. LITTLE. In the first place the cities and towns have all the expenses connected with this. Take the city of Pittsburgh, for instance, every officer carries two tags, a yellow tag which is for state offenses and for which the state receives the fines and penalties from this source. It includes no registration, failure to have registration certified, using license tags on motor vehicle other than for which issued, license tag illegible, failure to display weight limit, driving while intoxicated, operating with one tag, no license, operator under age, operating when license is revoked or suspended, speeding, parking without lights, improper registration, reckless driving, no lights, signal or mirror, racing—failure to stop after accident, glaring headlights, using cutouts, excess weight, passing car, or other road laws, failure to stop on signal by officer. All the penalties for the violation of this automobile act go to the state. Now the police officer also carries a red tag and that is for parking. That is where the complication comes in, the officer can give one tag or both tags. The case goes before the police magistrate or justice of the peace and the defendant is fined, but on account of two tags used, the magistrate is compelled to keep two separate accounts. We have had a case in Pittsburgh in the last year of some erroneously paid into the state treasury. We had one where the state highway received a check for $11,170.25, covering fines imposed by the Pittsburgh police magistrates, erroneously deposited in the state treasury. The Department a few weeks ago received a check from the city of Pittsburgh for $41,702, covering the years 1918, 1920 and 1921. I venture to say that of the smaller boroughs and townships not 50% of them make any return to the state on account of the complications in keeping the two different accounts, and I think, especially in the large districts, where every cent of the expense to provide for the machinery of law enforcement is placed upon the tax payers, that in all fairness and justice they are entitled to some return for their outlay. I would, therefore, ask the memebers of this House to support this bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand one hundred sixteen), entitled, "An act appropriating to the Department of Health any moneys to be received from the United States Government in the promotion of sanitation, public health, and health education, the protection and care of maternity infancy and old age, and the prevention, treatment, and cure of disease."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Miss THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, in order to allay any fear in regard to this bill, I should like to say that it is simply a re-wording of the Act of 1921, under which we accepted the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner federal law. There was some slight mistake as to the wording of the Act of 1921 and this is an amendment to it, which brings it into conformity with the federal act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as folows, viz:

Legislative Journal.

Session 1923 125th of the General Assembly

Vol. 7. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 1, 1923. No. 49.

SENATE

TUESDAY, May 1, 1923.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God: As we come together this morning, we are reminded how swiftly the days are passing. One month is gone and another has begun. We cannot recall the past. Whether for good or for ill it has left us forever. Nor are we certain of the future on earth. We have no mortgage on a single day. Only the present is ours. Help us to accept it thankfully and to spend it well. May we always live so that whenever the end may come and Thou shalt call us hence, we may have the blessed consciousness that we have tried to do our duty.

We ask it in the name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when on motion of Mr. LESLIE the further heading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I move the Senate do now resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 225, (House Bill No. 372), on final passage, postponed for present, entitled:

An Act to amend section forty-five of an act approved the fifteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four (P. L. 509), entitled "An act relating to county rates and levies and township rates and levies." by removing the exemption of females from arrest and imprisonment for non-payment of taxes.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 225 (House Bill No. 372) entitled:

An Act to amend section forty-five of an act approved the fifteenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and nine) entitled "An act relating to county rates and levies and township rates and levies" by removing the exemption of females from arrest and imprisonment for non-payment of taxes

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHRISTLEY. Mr. President, when this bill was before the Senate I voted against it, fearing that some industrious tax collector might work a hardship against the women by arresting them. After further consideration it seems to me that while there may be some objection to it, there are objections on the other side. As I take it every American citizen should be one hundred per cent American under our form of government and pay taxes, if they are going to participate in the functions of our government. That being true it seems to me that the tendency would be against women participating in the government of this country if this bill were passed. I have discovered that the commissioners all over the State are in favor of the passage of this bill, and I have great regard for the opinion of the county commissioners of the state. I have discovered that the school directors of the state are in favor of this bill, as well as the great majority of the women. I say this, that my vote, as I propose to cast it at this time, in favor of the bill, will not be misinterpreted by the Senate.

Mr. VARE. President, I, like the distinguished Senator who has just taken his seat, voted against this bill when it was first brought up in the Senate. Since that time I have been waited upon by numerous delegations of women from the different parts of the state and they have assured me, speaking for the women, that they do not desire any special privilege, that they want to be classed as citizens in accordance with the Constitution of the United States and having received that additional information I am prepared to vote for the bill.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I did vote for the bill the other time and I am going to vote for it again. Nevertheless, I just want to say this: Of course in many cases, unless in cases where women have separate estate, the husbands must, as they should, pay their taxes; they must provide for them and take care of them in all other respects, but at the same time it will afford an opportunity for some fellows who would like to get rid of their women by refusing to pay their taxes and having the tax collector send them to jail.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 916, (House Bill No. 358), entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and eighteen of the act approved May 16, 1921, (P. L. 559), entitled "An Act for the better protection of fish, requiring citizens of the United States residing within this Commonwealth to procure a license from the county treasurer to fish or angle in the waters of this Commonwealth, or in the waters bounding or adjacent thereto, and regulating the issuance of such license providing penalties for the violation of this act, and the manner of proceeding to enforce compliance therewith; and providing for the disposition of the penalties recovered and license fees received"; changing the age limit of persons required to procure licenses; and providing for the purchase with surplus moneys of land and water and the impounding of waters.

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and fifty-nine) entitled "An act for the better protection of fish requiring citizens of the United States residing within this Commonwealth to procure a license from the county treasurer to fish or angle in the waters of this Commonwealth or in the waters bounding or adjacent thereto and regulating the issuance of such license providing penalties for the violation of this act and the manner of proceeding to enforce compliance therewith and providing for the disposition of the penalties recovered and license fees received" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted et cetera That the word "persons" as used in this act except where the context otherwise indicates means citizens of the State of Pennsylvania over (twenty-one) eighteen years of age

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 1, page 2, line 20 by striking out the word "sixteen" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "eighteen"; also by underscoring the word "sixteen"; also by removing the underscoring from under the words "of age".

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, it does not seem to me that these amendments should prevail. The Committee made a very careful consideration as to changing the age from 21 to 18. As the members of this Senate know, two years ago the bill that was introduced provided that the age should be 16, but in order to get the bill through the Senate and House the age was agreed upon at 21, but it now happens that the revenues that are received from fishermen's licenses are inadequate to properly carry on that Department, and the object of changing the age was to produce more revenue for the purpose of propogating the fish. I do not believe that any Senator for a minute would think that any young man or young woman would object to paying a license fee if they knew the fishing was going to be as much better as it should be if this money is spent for the propogation of fish. We know that men, boys and girls, between ages of 18 and 21, are probably our best fishermen. They probably spend more time fishing than men and women past 21, and it seems to me that the amendments ought to be opposed by this Senate.

I may say to you that in the section of the State which I represent all the sportsmen practically are in favor of lowering the age from 21 to 18, as is provided in this bill, in fact they are in favor of lowering the age to 16 years, but we have again compromised in committee, and instead of insisting upon the age being 16 we have compromised on 18, and I sincerely hope that the members of the Senate will sustain the committee in its action and oppose these amendments.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, while I am not a member of the Committee I take myself back to my youth and while it would not apply but to a very small portion of the youths of the cities adjacent to Allegheny county, because we have very little fishing, I am thinking a great deal more about the young men that come from Potter county, Indiana county and the interior counties, who are going to be deprived of the opportunity of fishing unless they contribute to the State Government the sum of one dollar. Many of these boys will take advantage of their position and ofttimes boys that have no knowledge of this law will be out fishing in violation of the law and a great number of them will deliberately violate the law. My purpose is to deprive them of fishing unless they pay for it. The great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which has been propagating and cultivating fish of all character and description in accordance with the streams that they could be supplied with, come now and say to this State that the youths of this State will have to contribute this money for the purpose of fishing. Any young man that lives in the interior, on the farm, has but little opportunity other than in the evening and possibly on the Sabbath. They get a bite of fresh fish and then you tell them that we have to tax them for that privilege.

Now that is the only objection that I have to the bill. I had the same objection four years ago and two years ago and I think it is cultivating a sense of law violation among the young boys in the country. I do not think that there will be twenty-five percent of them who will have to make an effort to pay this tax but the seventy-five percent that does not pay are violating the law. I care not for myself because I do not have the opportunity to go fishing but I am looking upon the youth and that is my position in offering the amendment, of taking these young men who have to pay this tax up to their majority. I put them in as violators of the law, which they will be, and I doubt if there is a man in the Senate who knows where there is trout fishing or bass fishing that does not appreciate that fact, and, therefore, I am not going to be a party to vote for a bill that will restrict the youth of eighteen years of age from fishing without paying a tax. On the other side of the bill, in discussing it with the Secretary of the Senate and the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Clark, we found that there were errors in the title. I appeal to the members of the Senate to not first tax the youth to get a few thousand dollars to help the fishermen. My second proposition is, I may cut it down, fifty per cent. of the youth of this State violate this law and know they violate it. Therefore you are encouraging the future generation not to pay any respect to your laws that you put upon the statute books.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I have great respect for the judgment of my distinguished colleague from Allegheny county, who said that he did not hear the discussion on this proposed bill. I did hear the discussion and I was convinced that this bill was right by the judgment of men of the type of the distinguished Senator from Potter and others who expressed themselves in favor of reducing the age limit to 18. I do not share in the belief of my distinguished Senator from Allegheny so far as law breaking on the part of the boys in the country districts is concerned. I know nothing about the qualifications of the boys between 18 and 21 in the cities of the state from which he comes, but I do know that the boys of the country districts that I represent are law abiding citizens, and I do not believe that it would place any undue hardship upon the boy who is fond of fishing as a sport to pay the one dollar here which would go to greatly increase the facilities of enjoying the sport of fishing, because without this money the fish cannot be propagated and cannot be sent to the various localities to stock the streams, as has been done in the past and as is being done at the present time.

I was one of the members of this Senate who had to be converted originally to the idea of paying any license for fishing. I believed originally that everybody should be allowed to enjoy the sport of fishing without any tax being placed on them, but I was converted to this bill, not by the Senators from the cities, but by the Senators from the country districts that want the streams stocked with fish when they talk about the necessity of stocking streams in order to make the sport worth anything to anybody, and, therefore, based upon that proposition, based upon what I believe to be the sense and the judgment of the people representing the districts in the State that are favored with streams that are being fished, I think that the amendments should not prevail, but that the bill should be allowed to stand after the long hearing given to it by the Game and Fish Commission and the honest effort of the Game and Fish Commission to get the best thought that was obtainable on the subject.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I just want to add a word with respect to the boys in the country districts not being law abiding. If there is anything in the argument at all why does it not apply to the license for hunting. The hunting act provides that boys of the age of 14 and upwards must have a license. Now we have no difficulty about the boys in the country violating the hunting law because of that requirement and certainly if they do not violate the law so far as hunting is concerned they will not violate the law so far as fishing is concerned. This provision of the age is intended not to deprive the boys of fishing but to increase their opportunities for fishing by making provision by the propogation and the enlargement of the fishing facilities.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

We have the assurance of Thy word that if we bring to our task a whole-hearted service as unto Thee, humanity shall be blessed and we shall not go without reward. BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Gibbon.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1394 (Senate Bill No. 296), entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and forty-four) entitled "An Act authorizing the establishment by counties of hospitals for the treatment of persons afflicted qwith tuberculosis providing for the management and maintenance thereof and authorizing the incurring of indebtedness and the levy of taxes therefor" by empowering the county commissioners and county controller where such office exists to take by eminent domain proceedings land necessary for the establishment of such hospitals giving the board of trustees powers concurrent with the county commissioners and county controller in reference to the planning and construction of such hospitals

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Gibbon, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBBON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I would like to ask the gentleman from Luzerne to explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purpose of this bill is simply to permit the trustees and the authorities of hospitals for the tuberculous to condemn lands surrounding their institutions, or proposed institutions, In Luzerne county we have a lot of waste land, wild land that cannot be used for any other purpose; it cannot be farmed—perhaps it could, but only with a lot of effort—and the citizens of Luzerne have voted to establish a tuberculosis hospital as per the law passed two years ago. They want to place themselves in a position where they can get additional ground if they want it. They do not want to place themselves in a position where they are obliged to be held up by people who have land that is not worth anything, but simply want to hold them up because the land is to be used for an institution of this kind.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBBON. Yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In other words, this is an extension of the right of eminent domain?

Mr. GIBBON. I do not know anything about the law; I am not an attorney and I am not entirely familiar with the law as governing eminent domain.

Mr. ALEXANDER. It is true then that there is nothing to prevent commissioners of any county if they see fit from condemning a homestead in order to build a tuberculosis hospital on it?

Mr. GIBBON. Yes.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the bill to which I called your attention when it was put on the postponed calendar some time ago. You will remember that at that time I called your atatention to the fact that this is an extension of the right of eminent domain. Now, if there ever was a weapon put in the hands of any person that was obnoxious, it was the right of eminent domain. True it is that in many instances for the public good it is necessary that we have such a right of eminent domain, but that is when, as I said before, a public improvement starts at a certain place, like a railroad for the benefit of the public, which must start at a certain point and end at a certain point and may be used to prevent somebody in the line of that railroad from interfering with that public convenience or railroad. It was only for that that the right of eminent domain was given. It was never intended that the right of eminent domain be taken for such a purpose as this.

Now, sometime ago, under the Act of Assembly, Delaware County voted to spend $50,000 for a tuberculosis hospital and they are now endeavoring to buy land in Delaware County right among homesteads upon which to erect a tuberculosis hospital, right on some of the most important ground there is in Delaware county, and when you take it that the counties like Delaware and Montgomery in the eastern part of this state are almost solidly built up, the idea of giving the County Commissioners the right to condemn land whereby they may build a tuberculosis hospital right under your nose, and especially in districts like Delaware and Montgomery in which we all know the climate is not suitable for tuberculosis hospitals, I say it is not right to extend the right of eminent domain to questions where it should not be extended.

Under the former act, the county commissioners have the right to go out and purchase lands. In many counties they may not be able to purchase the lands because of the fact that people do not want these hospitals right under their noses and right on their homesteads where they have lived and where they have built their homesteads for the future. How would you like to have a country site and have the commissioners come out and say "This is a very pretty place for a tuberculosis hospital" and they would condemn that by the right of eminent domain and there erect a tuberculosis hospital right under your nose and compel you and your neighbors to move out of there. Of course, if you go up in the mountains, go up where the climate is suitable for tuberculosis patients, go up perhaps in Luzerne county where it is a good place to cure tubercular patients, it is all right to pass a bill of this kind, but counties of that kind are only one among a hundred, I should say one among many in the state, and in many in the state where they are built up like Delaware, Montgomery and Bucks counties are, these counties surrounding large cities, this bill extends the right of eminent domain where it should not be extended. It places a burden on municipalities where it should not be placed, and I ask you to vote against it.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentlman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. What was the object of the legislation that allowed counties to build tuberculosis hospitals within each county, when it was so self evident that there were certain section of the State wherein such hospitals should not be located from the standpoint of health?

Mr. ALEXANDER. I cannot tell what the idea of the legislation was. From my idea, I thought that it was wrong at the time and I voted against it.

Mr. EDMONDS. How old was the act?

Mr. ALEXANDER. The act was in 1921.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, in reading the bill I see that the authority for condemnation of land for the purpose indicated in the bill is limited to the laws under which land is now condemned by school districts for school purposes. I would like the gentleman from Delaware to explain that a little more fully. That thought has not been brought out

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is simply extending the right of eminent domain. The law under existing procedure, permits land to be acquired by school districts for school purposes and that is an extension of the right of eminent domain, the condemnation of private property for public use. That is all that means. I do not know whether it was put in there to confuse or not; I don't think so. It is simply the old right of eminent domain under which, at the present time, the school districts have the right to condemn land for building school houses thereon. That simply is the right of eminent domain with the exception that the old right of eminent domain was only for the purpose of building railroads. As I said before, these rights have usually been restricted to the purpose of railroads and buildings such as that

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBBON. May I ask the gentleman from Delaware whether or not the county is very hilly, or very mountainous?

Mr. ALEXANDER. We have a few hills, but nothing that you might call mountains.

Mr. GIBBON. Is there any place in Deleware county where authorities might suggest the erection of a tuberculosis hospital?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, there is no place in Delaware county, to my mind, and to the mind of many others, suitable for tuberculosis hospitals, although the county a year ago voted on the subject and there was no open opposition to the movement, and it was carried to erect a tuberculosis hospital in that county, if the vote was taken today, it would be defeated five to one because the people have seen the error they made at that time, especially the fact that many of the people who voted for it, at the present time have been threatened with having a tuberculosis hospital built right under their noses. They see the trouble of it, and if this bill goes through, within a month or two right in the best section of Delaware county the property will be condemned for the purpose of building a hospital that will kill people rather than cure them.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he will not make an effort to so amend this law that it might be possible for the counties of Delaware and other counties that do not have flat land, to buy land in other sections to take care of the people suffering from tuberculosis in their county?

Mr. ALEXANDER. The reason I did not do that is because there is no danger of buying land in Delaware county for that purpose. I am opposed to the extension of the right of eminent domain on the general principle that it is wrong to take a man's property or a woman's property either for the purpose set forth in this bill. It was never intended that the right of eminent domain, in other words, the power of the Commonwealth, should extend to purposes of this kind and that is what is meant by the right of eminent domain, the power of the Commonwealth to take private property for public improvements.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he is more interested in this question of eminent domain than he is in the health and up-building of the citizens of his community?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I am more interested in the people of this Commonwealth than I am in any particular question. I am more interested in the people in general of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania than I am in certain individual fads here and there throughout the counties. I am not here to help pull the chestnuts out of the fire for any particular district. I am here to legislate for the whole commonwealth and not for one part, or any county.

Mr. KOHLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I remember about two weeks ago the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, on the floor of this House eulogized the honesty of the public officials of Delaware county, and he is here today questioning their discretion. Now whether the county of Deleware wants the right of eminent domain or not, some of the more progressive counties do. I speak very particularly concerning Lackawanna county. Two years ago the pepole of Lackawanna county voted to erect and maintain a tuberculosis hospital and we believe that they did not make a mistake in doing that. On account of conditions in the anthracite region where miners' asthma frequently turns into tuberculosis it became necessary to extend the grounds, and we found that some designing farmers had purchased the surrounding land and in some cases they asked as high as 2000 per cent profit. Now in a case like that, in fairness to the sick, and in fairness to the institution already established we believe we should have the right of eminent domain. It is the only way in which we can take care of the sick. I believe it is very un-Christian to oppose any measure which makes for the welfare of our sick and I ask the members of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, further?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes, sir.

Mr. GIBBON. May I ask the gentleman if there is anything in the law now which prevents an individual from selling his property for this purpose?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Absolutely nothing.

Mr. GIBBON. There is not?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Absolutely none.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, under this law there is nothing which is not going to be fair to the persons who own the ground. Where the health of the community is involved, it seems to me the county commissioners or the authorities in charge of the erection of such institutions should have the right to appeal to the courts to condemn this land. The people will be paid a fair price and there will be no real injury involving anyone and I cannot see any reason in the world why anyone should oppose a measure of this kind.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In further answer to the gentleman from Luzerne, there is nothing in this bill that prohibits a person from selling his property, of course not. If this bill is going to be so fair to the people who own property, what is the use of having the bill?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. The gentleman from Delaware has spoken more than twice on the same subject matter.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

Mr. ALEXANDER. On the question of the point of order, the question was asked of me, and now I have a right to answer that question as I see fit. I simply said, no sir, in my answer but I have a right to add to that answer, and that is all I have been doing.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman is speaking in answer to an interrogation he is perfectly right, but the Chair did not so understand it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I started in in my first remarks, and I said, "In further answer to the gentleman's question", and it is entirely in answer to his question, absolutely. I said in further answer to that question, because I simply said in answer to that question, "no sir."

The SPEAKER. The Chair is firmly of the opinion that if the gentleman had been interrogated by the gentlman from Luzerne, Mr. Gibbon, he would be within his right, but no such interrogation is made.

Mr. ALEXANDER. The interrogation was made.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is now speaking on an argument. His argument is in answer to argument made upon the floor of this House.

Mr. ALEXANDER. All right, sir.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION

TO INVESTIGATE THE DEPARTMENT OF BANKING.

Mr. BRENNEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1923.

Whereas, The failure of the City Bank of York and a number of other State banks throughout the Commonwealth has injuriously reflected upon the banking business of this Commonwealth and greatly disturbed business in the respective communities, and has caused great financial loss and sore distress to a large number of persons, and

Whereas, Under the laws of this Commonwealth it is the duty of the Commissioner of Banking at least twice in each year to examine thoroughly every State bank, trust company, and the business of private bankers in this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, It appears that the banks which have failed were not examined as frequently as is required by law, and that the said City Bank of York was not examined by the State department for a period of over two years, and

Whereas, It appears that these bank failures were caused by embezzlements and thefts committed over long periods of years, which thorough and efficient examinations should have revealed before said embezzlements and thefts had become so great as to seriously affect said banks, and

Whereas, It is possible that these large embezzlements and thefts could have been averted by a vigilant and efficient inspection and supervision by the Banking Department of this Commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That a commission of eight citizens is hereby created which shall be composed of three members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and five members of the House, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, which commission is directed to investigate the cause of the delinquency of the Department of Banking in its failure to examine the State banks of this Commonwealth as directed by law, and the failure of the said Banking Department to discover upon inspection the embezzlements and thefts which were the cause of the failure of said banks.

Resolved, That the commission shall organize by the selection of a chairman and a secretary. It shall have power to hold such hearings as may be deemed necessary to carry out the intent of this resolution. It shall have power to take testimony, to subpoena witnesses, and to require the production of books, papers, records and documents. If any person shall refuse to obey any subpoena issued by the commission, or fails or refuses to appear and testify, or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, the commission shall lay the facts before the General Assembly for action.

Resolved, That said commission shall complete its duties by the fourteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and shall on said day make a report to the General Assembly, and in said report shall include such recommendations as it may deem necessary for the correction of the evils now existing. Such report shall be accompanied by such drafts of legislation as the commission may deem necessary in the premises.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. George W. Williams.

The House resumed the consideration on final pasage of House Bill No. 1235, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Forestry to grant on terms, conditions and stipulations rights to occupy and use any portion of the State Forests for dams, reservoirs, canals, pipe lines and other water conduits for water supply purposes; and providing for forfeiture and other remedies for breach of such terms, conditions and stipulations.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Forest, Mr. Wheeler.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in view of the apparent misunderstanding which was present on the occasion of the previous appearance of these bills before this House, I feel that a word of explanation would be in place. I should like to say that I have had some experience with the doings of working power companies, and that I was on that occasion, and am now, in full sympathy with the popular feeling against water trusts, which seek to create a monopoly and which forget to safeguard the rights of life and property and to look out for the local things in the community. There is nothing of that sort contained in this bill, 1235, nor in its companion measure, 1238. The idea of these two bills is simply this: A year or so ago the deputy attorney general rendered an opinion that the Forestry Department had not the right to make grants for water power development involving the submergence of various lands, or trees; in other words the State Forestry Department has not as much right as a private owner at the present time to enter into an agreement to grant lands for water power developments. The object of this bill 1235, and its companion measure, is simply to give the state Forestry Department the same right which any private owner has to make a grant for water power development. It is further safeguarded by a clause in the bill protecting the popular interest. That clause reads: "Every such grant shall be on such terms conditions and stipulations as the Department shall deem necessary for the protection of the present and future interests of the Commonwealth and its people."

Now, that does not mean, should this bill pass, as it should, that does not mean that the Water Supply Commission is infringed upon in any way. In the case of any dam involving an important area a permit is still necessary from the Water Supply Commission. In other words, the passage of this bill has nothing to do with any future legislation; for instance, the reorganization code. It simply gives the State Department of Forestry the same right to use its land and administer its land that any private owner has at the present time, and so far as I can see, members of the House, there can be absolutely no valid objection to the passage of these two bills.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Forest, Mr. Wheeler.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Forest, Mr. Wheeler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHEELER. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Did I understand the gentleman correctly to say that this does not take any powers out of the Water Supply Commission?

Mr. WHEELER. Yes sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. That it is intended by this bill that the Water Supply Commission shall still control the water supply of the State, so far as that is concerned?

Mr. WHEELER. It shall still control the water supply of the state as at present in regard to the question of safety and the public interest.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Did I understand the gentleman correctly to say that this simply gives the power to the Forestry Commissioner to lease land for dams to water companies.

Mr. WHEELER. 1235 refers to water supply, chiefly reservoirs. Its companion measure refers to other parts of the water supply which come under the head of power.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I asked the gentleman does this only give the Forestry Department the right to lease land for water supply purposes?

Mr. WHEELER. Just as a private individual has now that right.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Just as an individual has at the present time?

Mr. WHEELER. Yes sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, upon examining this bill it would appear that what the gentleman says is correct, and the other day when I read it, while I did not read this bill it was the bill next to it, I thought it was carrying out what was intended in the administration code, but it appears from what the gentleman from Forest has said here and as I look at it, that this only gives the Forestry Department the right to lease part of their forest reservation for the purposes set out in here, and the Water Supply Commission still has control of its duties.

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. I yield to the gentleman from Forest, Mr. Wheeler.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will not go into a lengthy discussion on this bill, because it is simply a companion bill to the other bill, 1235. The same points are involved in this bill, only it covers the question of power as distinguished from supply, The other bill was primarily for reservoir projects, and this covers other forms of water power such as steam condensation and hydroelectric projects but the bill is exactly as the other except that it was thought two bills were necessary instead of one.

NAYS—4.

Blumberg,
Brenneman,
Johnson,
Rhodes,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1234, entitled:

An Act authorizing the creation of a commission to negotiate with the duly constituted agents of the states of New York and New Jersey for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River, the conservation, apportionment, and utilization of the water resources thereof; providing the method for ratification of such compact by this Commonwealth; and prescribing the conditions of its being in full force and effect.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ogle.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, this bill, House Bill No. 1234, and House Bill 1236, are companion bills with the two bills which we have just passed and go to make up a harmonious whole for what might be called the development of the water and natural resources of our Commonwealth. There has come into existence a new great thought called the giant power idea. This means the utilization of coal at the mine mouth in such a way that all the by-products will be saved and the coke only used without the cost of transportation for developing great quantities of electric energy to be used in conjunction with hydro-electric development in a never-failing reservoir of electric energy. Pennsylvania has numberless mines—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman is not talking on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine himself to a discussion of House Bill 1234.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that I regard the objection of the gentleman from Delaware as absolutely frivolous. This is a large and comprehensive measure and it requires amplification. I have noticed, Mr. Speaker, that when gentlemen get up here and file exceptions to the arguments that are being made by the members of this House when they undertake to amplify and to lucidate questions by reciting facts from profane and sacred history, that same gentleman calls them to order. Now I want to say if it will gratify the gentleman from Delaware, that this measure, House Bill No. 1234, is a very brief act of Assembly that authorizes the Governor of the Comonwealth to designate three officers of the Commonwealth as commissioners with power to negotiate with the duly authorized agent of the State of New York and New Jersey, a compact in accordance with the constitution of the United States for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River, the conservation of the resources of the Delaware Basin, and the apportionment thereof among the states for domestic and municipal supplies, and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses. Section 2 is as follows:

"The compact negotiated by the said commissioners shall be submitted by the Governor to the General Assembly, and the Congress of the United States having consented thereto, shall be in full force and effect upon its ratfication by a duly enacted law of this Commonwealth and by the states of New York and New Jersey as their laws may respectively prescribe." Under the act 1236 it is contemplated that the waters of the Delaware, together with the waters of the Niagara and the great river, St. Lawrence, shall be bridled and that they shall be brought to the Comonwealth of Pennsylvania to be used in generating power that will be delivered to the cities and towns and villages and homes in the Commonwealth. It will be a realization of a dream that could not have been entertained some years ago because science had not yet then developed this thing in harmony with the development of the great water powers that they have since developed in the western part of the United States, where the waters of the Rocky Mountain are conserved and carried down to the inhabitants of the Pacific Slope in California, where they have generated cheap electricity and water power. Now this looks forward to the making of such an agreement with the states that are foreign to us, and which will have to be approved by the Congress of the United States to finally make this effective and enable us to carry that out. What a grand thing it will be for us when we can sit in our homes and have our houses lighted by electricity and heated by electricity generated from power brought from the river St. Lawrence or the Niagara or from the River Delaware. This is a great project, and you gentlemen are fortunate to be members of this Assembly of 1923 when this was brought upon the floor of this Legislature to be enacted into law, because you will have the honor, and your posterity will have the honor, of saying that you helped to put forward this great movement for the conservation of the natural resources of this and other states for the use of our State. I cannot see why there should be one vote cast aganst so worthy and helpful an object as this is, which is for the betterment of every man, woman and child within the State.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I am not opposing this bill because of the good purposes that are in it, but I am opposing it because of the fact that we have at the present time a Water Supply Commission which has been properly functioning. If it has not been properly functioning the Governor has the power to appoint members on that Water Supply Commission who will properly function, and I am opposed to any other department, I care not whether it is the Governor or who it is, intermeddling and taking away from these different departments those things upon which they are properly functioning at the present time. Why what will it mean? If the Governor, and this is with no disrespect to the Governor whatever, whether it is this Governor or past governors or future governors, if he is going to be permitted to take out of departments which have been organized for certain purposes by this Legislature, if he is going to take out of that department the power to function on these very things the time will soon be here when we will have no one working here but the Governor. He will be the only one for us to elect. We are nearing the stage when they will be doing away with the Legislature, both the House and the Senate, and the only one that will be up here will be the Governor who will do all these things and will be acting for us. If we are going to have a proper government we must let each department function in the proper way in which they are supposed to function, and I am opposed to any other department meddling or interfering with the functions of this department as this department is now in existence. That is my objection to this bill. The Water Suppley Commission at the present time has full power to act as the Governor proposes to act himself. This bill, and I am only taking the bill, 1234, this bill and 1236 are not companion bills to the other two that we just passed. What has the Delaware River directly to do with the forests of Pennsylvania? This bill provides that the Governor shall appoint three commissioners to act with him. Why doesn't he allow the Water Supply Commission to act for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? This bill provides that the commission shall act with the properly authorized agent of the states of New Jersey and New York, and that is what I want to do. I want the properly authorized agents of the Commonwealth, for whom I so far have respect, I want them to act with the authorized agent of the states of New York and New Jersey. The members of this legislature some years ago inaugurated and instituted the Water Supply Commission and under the Constitution it is properly defined what they shall do. We, as members of the legislature, said further than that by our acts of assembly what their duties should be, and now we have the Governor coming along, notwithstanding the fact that the members of the legislature have been elected the same as I have been elected, and saying, "You are not fit to say what these different departments shall do". I want to say that every step like this is an insult to you and to me and to your intelligence and my intelligence. I am getting tired of it. I feel that the people have as much confidence in you and me as they have in the Governor of this Commonwealth, and I say that every time he takes these functions out of our hands and hands a bill like this to us, it is a slap in my face and your face, a slap at your intelligence, and my intelligence and I do not propose to stand here and stand for it without resenting it. If I am not going to have anything to say, if I am not able to vote without being dictated to, either by promise or threat, then I want to stay at home where I can think for myself on the things I am doing. But since I have a seat in this Body I am going to have my say without going around the corner and asking him for advice. That is the position I take on this matter. I say to you that you and I have designated the power to act on these subjects to a certain department and I do not propose at this time to hand them over to any man, whether the Governor of the Commonwealth or one of the other agents which he has desinated.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker House Bill No. 1234, as I take it, simply is designed to establish an orderly and systematic method of procedure for the development and utilization of the waters of the Delaware river. This utilization of the waters of the Delaware River is to be accomplished through a commission, it is an interstate project. The Governor, under this bill, is empowered to appoint three commissioners to represent the state of Pennsylvania in this project, and to meet with the authorities of the states of New Jersey and New York. As I take it, there is no thought here of taking out of our hunds any function. The work of these commissioners will be safeguarded and will be hedged by this bill because what they do shall not be effective until it is ratified by this assembly and by the Congress of the United States. There is no attempt here to take out of the hands of our Water Supply Commission any of its functions, and this is a project for the utilization of water, not only within the state but the waters without the state, and, I take it, it is entirely proper for the Governor to appoint a commission representing the state of Pennsylvania in this interstate project.

Mr. KOHLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state that I believe my friend from Delaware is unduly agitated about this bill, House Bill No. 1234. So far from its being an attack on or insult to the Water Supply Commission, my understanding is that the Water Supply Commission would welcome the passage of this bill. In other words, it is a step in the right direction. At the present time there are various obstacles in the way of the Water Supply Commission's dealing with water power projects on the Delaware. These obstacles run back to the eighteenth century,—an old treaty between Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Now, what in the world is the use of our going on under these old hindrances without any effort to remove them. The Water Supply Commission is not attacked, its authority is not extended explicitely, but there is nothing to prevent the Water Supply Commission from being represented among these officers by the Governor, in fact I believe it would be represented. There is nothing to prevent all three officers from being members of the Water Supply Commission, and I am sure that as far as our Water Supply Commission goes, they would be very glad to see this bill pass, making things easier for them. Furthermore, it would mean a vast deal to the people of Pennsylvania. It is an act which concerns the people of this Commonwealth, and I feel that any of us who should venture to oppose this bill, whether erroneously or not, would be playing the part of obstructionists.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1236, entitled:

An Act providing for a giant power survey: creating a Giant Power Survey Board; defining the powers and duties thereof; requiring officers, Departments, Commissions, and other agencies of the Commonwealth to give information thereto; and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ogle, that he may complete his remarks on this bill.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, this is the last of a series of bills, completing this series of bills, and it simply provides for a giant power survey board composed of the Governor, the Attorney-General, the Commissioner of Forestry, the Secretary of the Water Supply Commission, the Chairman of the Public Service Commission, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, the State Geologist, a deputy attorney-general to be designated from time to time by the Governor, and a competent engineer to be designated from time to time by the Governor. Now the bill goes on to authorize this survey to be made, and they are to report their survey to this Legislature for its adoption and approval. It authorizes them to gather all statistics in connection with this subject and to the best method of utilizing the water and electric power, that shall be generated. This report is to be made at the opening of the regular session in 1925. The sum of $35,000 or so much thereof as necessary is appropriated to pay the expenses of the engineer, who will be a highly educated and technical man, and of course he will have to be paid. The other members of the commission serve without compensation except for necessary travelling expenses and for necessary printing, and that is all there is to the bill. It is absolutely essential in order that the other members that we have adopted may be worked out, that this measure shall also pass, and I hope that every member of the House will vote for this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, the remarks I made on the former bill might also apply to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

JOINT SESSION.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR DAVID J. DAVIS PRESIDING.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVID J. DAVIS. The Assembly will be in order.

The Joint Session of the General Assembly is being held at this time to commemorate and in honor of the late Senator Penrose. We will be led in prayer by the chaplain of the Senate.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain of the Senate, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

"O God our help in ages past,
Our hope in years to come;
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal home."

We are met here today to honor the memory of one who for many years was a distinguished representative of this Commonwealth in our National Senate. He is no longer with us, but has passed into that bourne from which no traveler has ever returned. And yet, though absent, he is not forgotten. And at this memorial hour, we pause, O God, to thank Thee for his many services to this State, as well as to the Country at large.

He is missed, not only in the legislative groups where his voice was often heard, but still more in the familiar circles of his intimate friends.

In an hour like this, may every heart be subdued and every thought solemnized. May we remember that it is not all of life to live nor all of death to die. There is a never-ending hereafter. Help us to live well, day by day seeking to do our duty to God and our fellow men. Then can we face the future with untroubled assurance, cheered and strengthened by the words of Him who said: "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die."

All this we ask in the name of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. DAIX offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

As the shadows of the night of December thirty-first, nineteen hundred twenty-one, had gathered and the dawn of a new day and the arrival of a new year approached, the spirit of the Honorable Boies Penrose, Senior Senator from Pennsylvania departed this life; And

In view of the distinguished and useful career of the Honorable Boies Penrose in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, service as a member of the House of Representatives. then as a State Senator and President pro tempore of the Senate, and later as a United States Senator from Pennsylvania, it is but fitting that this General Assembly make expression of the loss sustained by the State and Nation in the death of the Honorable Bois Penrose; And

In noting our profound regret upon his death we feel impelled to refer to the fact that he, perhaps, was the most picturesque figure in the politics of Pennsylvania throughout the generations of all men now living; that he possessed personal magnetism which draw to him an endless column of passionately devoted followers; That

Though for over thirty years he engaged actively as a leader in politics, meeting with keen opposition, ill will and prejudices that such contests always engender, he never bore malice nor sought revenge; That

He abhorred cant and hypocrisy and always was ready to denounce them courageously; That

Though a partisan he always was one of conviction and once convinced he was right he never wavered in his advocacy of the principles of the party or of the cause he espoused; That

His wide mental vision and comprehensiveness of affairs place him among the great statesmen of the nation, and that Pennsylvania may for years look in vain for the counterpart of so able, useful and brilliant servant; Therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania in joint meeting take official note of the loss mutually sustained by State and Nation in the death of Honorable Boies Penrose whose sterling qualities as a statesman and leader of men proved of inestimable benefit to the people of the country; And be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be duly engrossed and sent to the family of the deceased.

On the question,

Will the Joint Session adopt the resolution?

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. We are gathered as you know to pay our tribute and respect and admiration to one who sat for many years in the Pennsylvania State Senate, and was afterwards elevated to the United States Senate, which office he occupied at the time of his death. It was not my privilege to be intimately acquainted with him, but we have men who were closely associated with him, both in his private and his official life,

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Chair recognizes at this time the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler.

Mr. SPANGLER. Senators, representatives, and ladies and gentlemen, we have gathered here today to do honor to one of the greatest men that Pennsylvania has produced. I feel that there are many friends and neighbors of Senator Penrose who knew him personally and more intimately than I, and I, therefore, feel that it is more or less of a presumption for me to assume to discuss a subject of such import as this great subject under discussion today. Senator Penrose has had an illustious career. He has filled a large niche in the history of his time, and it was an epoch-making time. He was not only a great senator, but at the same time he was the leader of the Republican Party of the nation and the leader of the Republican Party of the state of Pennsylvania. How one man could have filled all of these important positions at one time has always been a marvel to me, but Senator Penrose was devoted to his work. All of his time and all of his thoughts was concentrated on the measure of political questions that affected the state and the nation, and he not only performed all of these duties with great credit to himself and in a manner that redounded to the credit of the nation and the state, but he even had time among all his multifarious duties to devote his attention to the affairs of the city of Philadelphia. In the United States Senate he achieved in a manner that was truly marvelous. Having been elected to the United States Senate in 1897, he sat continuously until the time of his death, and during that time he was the chief counsellor of the national party and was the ranking member of the great committee of finance during the great World War. And when the financial history of the country shall have been written, touching that period, it will interweave the history and the biography of the great senator from Pennsylvania. I am told it was during the period from 1918 to 1921 that his work was so stupenduous, that it was so exacting as to undermine his health, which finally resulted in his death. I recall having visited the Senator in Washington during the year 1919, when he was engaged in the reconstruction of the tariff bill, and he said that his work then was so exacting, so momentous that he could scarcily leave it day or night. He was constantly engaged in the performance of the reconstruction work of the Government during that important period.

Pennsylvania has produced two great congressional figures. One was Thaddeus Stevens, who during the Civil War and immediately after the Civil War occupied the great position of chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and the other was Boies Penrose, who, during momentous period, but later, occupied the chairmanship of the most important committee in the Senate and was regarded as the dominant figure, not only of that committee, but in the Senate of the United States. There is a striking similarity between these two great men. Neither strove for popular applause, yet both wrought great accomplishment for their people. Both had gigantic intellects and an infinite capacity for hard work. Both were brief when they spoke, grasping immediately the pith of the subject to which they addressed themselves and both had a remarkable clarity of diction and a fine vein of satire, which thely could handle with the sting of the scorpion. Both were zealous, Stevens in the cause of anti-slavery, and Penrose in the cause of the great principles represented by the Republican Party, in which he believed and to which he adhered with striking fidelity; and it was that zeal, it was that honesty of purpose, it was that clear-sightedness, it was that truthfulness that made Senator Penrose the great figure that he became in national life. Nobody ever accused him of being afraid. Nobody ever accused him of going back on his word, and the greatest tribute, I think that Senator Penrose ever received was from the attitude of the newspaper men who loved, trusted and respected him. And of all classes of men, there are no men who are better judges of human character then the newspaper men. Senator Penrose had his faults. Every great man has, but as time goes on, he will be remembered for the great services that he has performed and the great achievements he has wrought for the people of a great state and a great nation.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Chair recognizes at this time the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President and members of the General Assembly. Honorable Boies Penrose, the Senior United States Senator of Pennsylvania, answered the call of death at the very zenith of his senatorial career when the country most needed his ripe and extended experience and when the new national administration could ill afford to be deprived of his wise counsel. His long experience in handling the financial problems incident to the chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee enabled him to perform invaluable services to the nation at large, while the great industries of his home state ever confidently relied upon his influence and his untiring advocacy of protective tariff legislation as the fundamental guarantees of successful enterprise. Senator Penrose brought to the political life of our state the sagacity of a politician, the acumen of a trained lawyer and learning acquired in earnest pursuit of higher education. While our political paths often led in different directions, still my two brothers, the late Senator George A. Vare and the late Senator Edwin H. Vare and myself, each in our own ways aided in his elevation to that great post of honor which he so long held and in which he performed such notable accomplishments for Pennsylvania that in the last days caused him to have outlived political rivalry and real opposition, and finally crowned his life by the return to the United States unopposed at the primaries of his party which evidenced a devotion and confidence that rarely comes to any man after over a quarter of a century in public life. Of magnificent stature and striking personality, Senator Penrose was distinguished at all times and marked as a most unusual and extraordinary man. He was equally at home in political conferences, assemblies of men of letters, or in the association of the leaders of the nation.

Born of distinguished parents he early evidenced a capacity for the acquisition of education that eventuated in his graduating as an honor man in Harvard University, as a young lawyer both by pen and speech he enriched the Bar of the great city of Philadelphia. The ambition that was in the man and the great activities of which he was capable soon prompted him to leap over the restrictions of the practice of law and he sought the laurels of political battles. From that time to the date of his death his career became an important part of the political and industrial life of Pennsylvania as well as the nation at large.

His struggle against the inroads of that disease that eventually conquered the mortal part of the man in one of written heroism. His spirit was apparently indomitable. He refused to yield to inevitable dissolution. His work is the United States Senate during the last few weeks of his life was performed when death had placed her finger upon his forehead and marked him as no more. When the sad intelligence was flashed over the country that the Honorable Boies Penrose had crossed to the great beyond, all political differences were forever forgotten, all disappointments vanished, criticisms became commendations, and a large percentage of the citizenry of this great Republic mourned the loss of the patriotic American and earnest statesman.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Chair recognizes at this time Honorable Charles L. Brown, President of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, a life-long and close personal friend of the late Senator, Boies Penrose.

HON. CHARLES L. BROWN. Mr. President and members of this Joint Assembly, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and citizens of this great State, here this afternoon, it is a great privilege for me to be permitted, although an ex-senator of this State, to come here and say a word in behalf of a man whom I always admired and with whom I was priviledged to associate in political circles until the day of his death. I recognized the tribute that you gave to me as a tribute to Penrose. He was a great man, and I do not come here like Mark Anthony at the bier of Caesar to say what he said, but to say differently, "I do not come to bury, but to praise Penrose." He comes from a distinguished family with long years of service in this State. His grandfather was a Senator of the State of Pennsylvania and a president of that body in troublous times, and helped to guide it into proper control.

His father was an eminent and a great physician and for many years a dean of the University of Pennsylvania's Medical School, and he left five children, every one of whom sought, in their different capacities, and attained the highest mark in medicine, mentallurgy, mining, engineering and in statecraft. Penrose was a man that didn't have to seek public life. He could have enjoyed luxury and traveled the world. Once, he told me that when he left Harvard, the call of the wilds was upon him and he went and spent months in the wilds of Canada. The call was strong, but, he said, "I was summoned home by my father on a matter affecting the estate of my mother, and as I was walking up the steps—" I will have to tell you this— "and put the latch key in the door, and a good friend of mine, Buck Devlin, came to me and said, 'Where have you been? We have nominated you for the Legislature.' And then," he says, "that was the call of the wild for me again, interesting myself in public affairs." And, oh, what a career his was! Starting in here in this House of Representatives and then in the State Senate. The battles that were fought there! And then I had the great privilege of voting for him for the Senate in 1897. It was a great privilege, and ever afterwards it was a great privilege for me to be present and assist, wherever it was possible, in the undying effort that he was making to properly guide the people of this great country. He was a master mind, wonderfully witty, great in sarcasm, great in learning, and he helped to guide the functions of this great country to the well-being of the country, and when he passed, I had no regrets, I had no sorrow, because it was a great privilege to me to have lived in the age of Penrose, and when he passed, he passed as the greatest man in this country of ours, far greater, because of the extent of this country, than was Pericles, who ruled Athens in Greece, in his day. I thank you for this great privilege.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Chair recognizes at this time, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Daix.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, Governor, and members of the Joint Assembly and friends, it would take too long, as chairman of this committee for me to read to you the numerous communications that I have received from various men through all walks of life throughout this nation. The reason that a number of the United States Senators are not with us today is on account of the sudden death of United States Senator Nelson, and on that committee quite unfortunately for us, were placed men who had very much desire to be present with us on this occasion. But above all, there is one man in the cabinet of the President of the United States who made a personal request over the telephone, a request by telegram, a request by letter, and then followed the communication itself, and I would do him the honor of reading his letter at the services today. This communication is from an old friend of mine, a friend of most every man in political life, the Secretary of Labor, Jim Davis. The letter is dated April 30th, 1923, and reads as follows:

"Hon. Augustus F. Daix, Jr., Capitol, Harrisburg, Pa.

My dear Mr. Daix. I regret that I am unable to be with you personally to bear a small part in your tribute to the memory of Pennsylvania's great son, Boies Penrose. He was one of those who rose to rank in our republic through his loyalty to those essentially human principles which are the foundation of our representative form of government. In his personal relations he was lovable, in his public life he was honorable. He was Pennsylvania's contribution to American leadership in days when leadership meant much to the nation. He was an intensely loyal partisan, but his partisanship was founded deep in patriotism.

I knew him as friend and leader. No man knew a more devoted attachment to his friends, a greater loyalty to those who were loyal to him, than Boies Penrose. He was always ready to extend the helping hand to those in need, to give his best efforts for those who looked to him for aid. In all things he was a human soul, with a deep appreciation of the trials, the troubles, the aims and the hopes of those around him. Our tribute to him might well be summed up in the words of the great poet, "Nature might stand up and say to all the world, this was a man."

Sincerely yours,

(James J. Davis), Secretary of Labor."

I feel that I could do nothing less than read that letter, and with no reflection and no desire not to read the others, but after the three requests I felt that it was my duty to do so. It was within the confines of the old city of Philadelphia proper, and on the eve of the great national conflict, that there was born, on November 1st, 1860, to that distinguished Philadelphia physician, Dr. Penrose, a son, who was destined to play a part on the national stage of life. This son was born of an ancestry that dated back to the colonial days, many of whom were among Pennsylvania's and New England's early settlers. In the days of the Revolution, when freedom was at stake, and the question of liberty hung in the balance among those who fought and took their place in the ranks of the soldiers was this man's great grandfather. He was only a stripling, but he helped to throw up the breastworks at Bunker Hill and helped to keep the British back. Young Penrose, from such a fighting as well as an intellectual ancestry, inherited those qualities which helped to make him a leader among men, not only in the political world, but likewise in the educational also. He entered Harvard when only eighteen years of age, ranking among the very few that matriculated at such an early age, and graduated in 1881. Within a very short period, he was admitted to the practice of law in the Philadelphia Courts in 1883. They tell us that law is a very jealous mistress, and those who desire to follow in her footsteps must guard very carefully; and this young man or this young practioner found himself longing for a wider and a larger field, and the doors of politics opened up to him, and from then on he was shown to be a leader. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1884, and to the Senate in 1886, in which body he served with distinction and was elected president pro tempore of that body in 1889. He was elected by the Legislature to the United States Senate, and took his seat March 4th, 1897, the time McKinley was inaugurated president.

It was, ladies and gentlemen, New Year's Eve in that great city of Washington. There were only thoughts of gaiety and mirth in the hearts of everyone. They tell us the scintillating rays of the light were throwing their glow all around and their were no thoughts of sleep for anyone, and then one great national figure seemed to go hand in hand with the dying year beyond and across the Great Divide. The bells were tolling their requiem for the dying year and for him. The silver chimes of the New Year were welcoming on the frosty air of night, and then the wires flashed throughout the nation that Penrose is dead, and men stood aghast. Dead? Yes, as far as this mortal life is concerned, but in the memory of every Pennsylvanian, he lives as a great statesman, a great scholar and a great gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the joint session adopt the resolution?

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIS On this question, the yeas and nays will be taken. The Clerk will proceed to call the roll, calling that of the Senate first.
